IN MEMORIAM

O'HANLEY — In loving memory of my dear brother John O'Hanley who passed away December 31st., 1965.
May he rest in peace.
Fondly remembered by by his sister Mrs. Angus Beaton, East Point.

SPENCER — In loving memory of my dear mother Mrs. Fanny Spencer who passed way Dec 31, 1949.
When evening shades are falling
And I sit in quiet alone
To my heart comes a longing
If you only could come home.
Inserted by Son William Spencer.

MacLEAN — In loving memory of my son and our brother Garfield MacLean who passed away Dec 31, 1965.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain
We who loved him sadly miss him.
But trust in God to meet again.
Always remembered by Pop, sisters and brothers.

MacINTYRE — In loving memory of our dear son and brother Allan MacIntyre who was called home to be with the Lord December 31st. 1937.
Wonderful words of comfort.
Christ is coming soon to reign
Let everyone exault his name
And pray thy kingdom come
Let everyone that mourns rejoice
For he'll restore to us our loss
In that great Kingdom reign
Oh precious promise he has given
To those who mourn what comfort given
He will wipe all tears away
For the former things are passed away
Then we'll all united be in our dear Savour
And loved ones we shall see
Let Heaven and Earth rejoice
You are sleeping in Gods keeping
Only for a little while
We shall see you, we shall know you
For you'll have that same sweet smile
Ever remembered by his mother and sisters.

MacLEAN — In loving memory of my dear husband Garfield MacLean, who passed away at Scarboro General Hospital, Dec 31st. 1965. The day prior to returning home from our holiday's. December will always bring sad memories
While on this earth I stay
One year ago knocked on my door
God declared that we must part
Those who have lost him know the pain in my heart
Alone I return to a sad home with my heart torn apart
Your lips were sealed from the stroke
And you could not speak my name.
But the true love in your eyes and the smile on your face
As you clasp my hand in farewell
When your eyes were closed from your bedside I could not leave
For you sensed my every move
Once in front of you I failed to hold back a few tears
Your radiant smile and your eyes turned to sadness.
A sadness I will never forget
So I quickly wiped away my tears
And forced a smile again
My lips need not speak when my heart mourns sincerely
For grief dwells where it seldom is seen
You were the kindest husband your equal would be hard to find
The gate just opened a little bit wider to-day
Someday it will open forever
And I'll hold your hands dear Garfield and say
Here are the arms that held me
Here is the face that I love
I knew I would find you in heaven
I recall with sadness the day I sat in a car
And watched them lower a casket with my loved one
And part of my heart into an open grave
Death cannot severe the love ties
For with God the mystery lies.
Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten by wife Annie.

CARD OF THANKS

OBITUARY

MAJOR W. LAWSON JENKINS
(Inserted by a war comrade)

What can one life mean? There are few of us who do not number among those with whom we have shared life's high points, one or more persons who have held a special place, whose friendship has made life more worth while.

To many, such a one was Lawson Jenkins, as a teacher, as a wartime comrade and leader, as a businessman, as a Department of Veterans Affairs official, but most of all as a husband and father, as a neighbour and as a friend.

Major W. Lawson Jenkins passed away on September 13, 1966 following some weeks of confinement from a stroke.

The country homes of Prince Edward Island have contributed more than their share of men and women of ability and character, dedicated to the idea of service. Such a one was Lawson Jenkins.

Born at Alberry Plains, the son of J. Franklin and Mrs. Jenkins he attended the local country school and, following teacher training at Prince of Wales College, taught for a short time. In 1914-15 he again attended Prince of Wales.

By this time the impact of World War I was being felt and P.E.I. was raising its first overseas unit, The Second Canadian Siege Battery Lawson enlisted on July 26, 1915 and was almost immediately promoted to corporal.

During the training period in England he received his sergeant stripes with particular responsibility for the Observer Section.

In action in France his duties, in common with those of the officers, other observers and battery signallers involved much forward observation work.

Recognition of his knowledge of his work, his qualities of leadership, his sound judgement and his cool steadiness under fire, came in the spring in 1917 when he was commissioned on the field as a Lieutenant in his own unit.

This was followed by the award of a Military Cross for his outstanding work at the Battle of Hill 70, which began August 15. 1917. He was in charge of the 2nd Siege forward party, the only group from Corps Heavy Artillery to establish and maintain communication during that vital engagement.

The official history says of this engagement: "Through the good work of our forward artillery observers at the crest each attempt (counter-attack) was broken up before it was well started." Lawson Jenkins and his group were the key to Heavy Artillery response to the twenty-one SOS calls during these days.

He was one of the few officers who later received the high honor of being awarded a bar to the military cross.

He was also chosen by the Italian Government to receive an Italian decoration.

On his return to Prince Edward Island, he and his brother Milton carried on for some years a general business at Millview. This was followed by his opening a similar business in Vernon.

Soon after the outbreak of World War II he joined the Second Medium Battery of Artillery as a Captain and served till war end when he was demobilized with the rank of Major.

After the war he became a member of the staff of the Department of Veterans Affairs. This position kept him in close contact with those with whom he served during two world wars. He retired from D.V.A. about four years ago.

Besides his official duties he was active in many community enterprises. He was an elder of his church, the United Church of Canada, a Mason, a Kiwanian, and for several years was Honorary President of the 2nd Canadian Siege Battery Association.

Important as outside contacts were to him, to Lawson his home was the center of his life. Here over the years he and his wife Bessie, Elizabeth Weatherbie of Alberry Plains, welcomed all who came.

Two sons and two daughters made up their family. Stanton, the elder son, now lives in Truro, the younger lad, Russell, a Flight Lieutenant with the R.C.A.F. was killed in an air accident in England on May 3, 1966. The daughters are Elizabeth (Beth), Mrs. Bryon Cudmore, Charlottetown and Olga, Mrs. Bloyce Carter, Hudson, New York. There are seventeen grandchildren and one great grand child.

One final word. The writer of this tribute was a classmate of Lawson Jenkins in Prince of Wales, a tent mate during early army days, a participant in most of his World War I activities and a close personal friend during the years since.

Under these varying circumstances he has seen the qualities of character which endeared Lawson Jenkins to so many, his humility, his warm friendliness, his competence. One can do no better than quote a World War I comrade:

"It was a privilege to know him and to have him as a friend. He will be greatly missed — but not forgotten."

Lawson Jenkins has held high the torch. One life can mean much to many.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late W. Lawson Jenkins wish to express sincere thanks to everyone who showed sympathy and kindness at the time of our sad bereavement.

PRIVILEGED BABIES

Three brothers: Ronald of Amherst, N.S.; John, Toronto, Ontario and Louis, California, U.S.A.

His remains were forwarded to the Davison Funeral Home Kensington from where the funeral services were held at the Church of Christ, Fredericton, P.E.I. Pallbearers were Everett Reeves, Joseph Blanchard, Leonard Clark, Al Hickox, Jack Hickox and Eldon Hickox.

Interment in Bradalbane cemetery. The Canadian Legion were in attendance.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late William Henry Hickox wish to express their sincere thanks to Dr. Zelinski, Kensington; nurses and staff of the Prince County Anex, Summerside; the Canadian Legion, Kensington; the Davison Funeral Home, Kensington; Rev. and Mrs. Merle Zimmerman, all who sent flowers, cards and messages of sympathy and helped in so many ways during their recent sad bereavement.

BRADALBANE

Two parties were recently held in the Breadalbane Library, one for the junior pupils of Bradalbane school, the other for the senior pupils. The program consisted of songs, duets, a story-reading period, a "book title" contest, and a "bean" race. Mr. Pomroy Murray, the librarian, reading and the extensive variety of books available for readers reading and extensive variety of books available for readers through the regional library. Refreshments and candy were served. Each party closed with the national anthem.

On the Sunday preceeding Christmas the choirs of the United and the Presbyterian churches, Breadalbane, combined, and a service was held at the Presbyterian church at 11 a.m. with Rev. William Hare the speaker, and in the United Church at 3 p.m. with Rev. George Tannahill. Mrs. James Snowie was the organist.

The Breadalbane United Church held a Christmas Service recently at which the superintendent of the Sunday School Lorne Seaman presided, and Mrs. James Snowie was the organist. A program of scripture reading, recitations, a drill, Christmas readings and carols were enjoyed. The children were presented with gifts and an offering was taken for "The White Gift" fund.

The old Breadalbane post office has been sold to Frank B. Ryan and moved to Cascumpec. The adjoining shed has been razed and the former site of the buildings levelled off thus improving that area of the village.

TYNE VALLEY

Friends are pleased to know that Ray Strongman, Port Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Strongman has returned to his home after spending some time in the Prince County Hospital, following a shooting accident.

Daniel MacLean has returned home after visiting in Toronto, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Maxwell, Oromocto, N.B., were holiday visitors of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maynard.
