Sir Alexander Gait on his English Mission.

Sir Alexander Gait has given a reporter of the Montreal Star his opinions concerning the results of his mission to England as Canadian Commissioner, and of the prospects of an influx of desirable immigrants into Canada. We publish some of the remarks made by Sir Alexander. He said I think Canada stands in a better position in the mother country to-day than ever she did before. We have the greatest facilities given us by the press there, for spreading information regarding the Dominion. The interest in this country is very general, especially with regard to what is going on in the Northwest. I may say with reference to emigration that our service in England is thoroughly organized. Information respecting Canada is given in a great variety of ways, and facilities are afforded to everybody who wishes to come here. One of the most effective channels through which influence is exercised to induce emigration is two great religious societies—that is, the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, through whose instrumentality, with the sanction of the Archbishop of Canterbury, information respecting Canada is now supplied to every clergyman in the United Kingdom. The immigration the present year will largely exceed in numbers, and be better in character, than any we have ever had previously.

Militia Orders.

The following Militia General Orders were issued at Ottawa a few days ago:— Corps ordered to perform the days of annual drill in a district camp of exercises will, unless otherwise directed by the Deputy Adjutant-General, assemble at the place and on the date specified hereunder opposite the number of their respective districts, viz: District No. 9 at Pictou, N. S., on the 3rd July. At the close of each camp of exercise the principal medical officer will make a report, through the deputy adjutant-general commanding the camp, for headquarters, showing the nature and extent of disease in camp which required medical treatment, and as to the description of medicines found most suitable for use.

It is notified for general information that officers commanding field batteries may be promoted to the substantive rank of major, and the senior subalterns in each field battery to the substantive rank of captain.
The above officers must be duly qualified for promotion in accordance with regulations, it being understood that the possession of a second class gunnery school certificate will be considered as qualifying for promotion to the rank of captain. All recommendations for promotion, to be on the printed form, are to be sent through the proper channel of communication.

A Distinction.

The law in New York makes suicide a felony, and anyone attempting it is subject to fine and imprisonment. Some time ago an unfortunate woman, a pariah of society, tried to escape a life of wretchedness by plunging into the great unknown. Having failed, she was promptly punished for her conduct. More recently Lieutenant Bettini fell in love with the rich and beautiful Miss Ayre, and failing in having his passion reciprocated he tried to kill himself in front of the lady's residence. As soon as he recovered from his self-inflicted wounds he was set free. Of course the difference between the two cases is very apparent. One was a wretched girl, steeped to the lips in sin and suffering, driven to desperation by remorse, hunger, and want. The other was a duke, and a lieutenant in an Italian cavalry regiment, wore good clothes, and his heroics were romantic—and the law recognized the distinction.

Sporting Notes.

The Yale crew will go to New London to occupy their boat houses on the Thames River, and practice on the course previous to their race with Harvard on June 28.
Hosmer and McKay are to leave Philadelphia for Puleman next, 22nd inst.
Hosmer says he intends to gain a reputation this year that will be worth having, and will represent Boston creditably at Pulman and wherever else he may row.
Edward Hanlan telegraphs from Toronto that he does not think it advisable to give an exhibition of rowing at Silver Lake for a charitable object until after his race with Ross at Ogdensburg on the 18th of July, as he will need at least two weeks of uninterrupted training and practice for that event.
Capt. Webb, the famous English swimmer, proposes to swim the whirlpool rapids at Niagara Falls. He is now in Buffalo for the purpose of making arrangements for excursions. He has spent a couple of days at the Falls, and expresses confidence in being able to survive the trip which rendered the Maid of the Mist famous.

John Largin, who recently returned to England from Australia, is endeavoring to make a sculler's match with George Babear.
Largin is backed by North countrymen, and insists that the race shall take place on the Tyne, if at all, and offers Babear $125 for ex. cases. The proposed match is for $1,000 a side and the English championship.
Still another man who is anxious to fight John L. Sullivan has made his appearance.
This time it is Patrick O'Donnell, of Ottawa, Canada, who wishes to meet the champion with or without gloves, believing that Sullivan cannot knock him out in four rounds. O'Donnell measures forty-seven and a half inches round the chest and his biceps measure eighteen inches. O'Donnell is a wrestler.
John L. Sullivan, assisted by Pete Mc-Coy, Bob Farrell, Steve Taylor, Jerry Murphy, and Jimmy Kelly, will go through the Far Western States and Territories, where there are a number of men who have expressed a wish to try Sullivan's powers.

They will have an opportunity to do so, for $500 will be offered to the man who stands up four rounds before Sullivan, with soft gloves, and $2,000 to the man who beats him. They will start about the 1st of July.

CURRENT NOTES.

China has advised her merchants to recall their ships from Cochin China waters.

A steamer has arrived at New York from Havre with one hundred horses and a large number of men to work on the Panama canal.

The screw corvette "Canada," on which Prince George of Wales is a midshipman, is expected to arrive at Halifax the first week in July.

It is reported that Albert Weber, the New York piano manufacturer, sunk $40,000 in publishing dramatic newspapers and in purchasing operas.

The post-mortem examination held at Belleville, Ont., on Mr. Dickson's little boy showed that death was caused by inflammation of the brain caused by poison and frigit.

Hon. R. W. Scott has written to the promoters of a dairy implement making company to say that the industry will be a "national benefit." There is not a free trade politician who does not believe in his heart that every new industry is a benefit.

Pictou seems to have the knack of getting up curiosities for exhibitions. This time it is a spinning wheel, made in 1819, which is to be sent next autumn to the Dominion Exhibition at St. John. It was sold by Messrs. James & Alexander Mc-Intosh to a gentleman for this purpose.

"See here," said a fault-finding husband "we must have things arranged in this house so that we shall know where everything is kept." "With all my heart," sweetly answered his wife, "and let us begin with your late hours, my love; I should dearly love to know where they are kept." He lets things run as usual.

The London Echo of May 29th, referring to the contemplated special recognition by Her Majesty of Lord Dufferin's services in Egypt, remarks:—"But surely to bestow another decoration on Lord Dufferin is to gold refine gold. The three sets of initials which he is already privileged to add to his name, 'K. P., K. C. B., G. M. G.' are to the ordinary mind too imposing to need any addition. Indeed, there are few men living whom the Sovereign has so greatly delighted to honor."

There is to be a gathering of distinguished men at Calgary on the 15th of August.
The track of the Canada Pacific railway is expected to be laid there by that date, and the general manager of the road has extended an invitation to the Canada Pacific directors and a number of other distinguished Canadian and British capitalists to take a trip over the line on that occasion. It is understood that Sir John Macdonald and other Ministers, and possibly the Governor-General and several Lieutenant-Governors, will also be present. This will be an important epoch in the history of the Canada Pacific.

Statistics give a remarkable illustration of the extent to which the cotton manufacturing industry of Scotland has fallen into decay. In 1787, there were nineteen cotton mills in all Scotland; in 1812 the number had increased to fifty-two, and in 1834 there were 134 mills, all running at a profit. At that date, in the immediate vicinity of Glasgow alone, 17,907 hands found regular employment in the cotton mills. This increase in the number of mills operated and in the general prosperity of the industry continued until about 1861, when the tide seems to have turned. At this moment there are only twenty-two cotton spinning mills in full operation in all Scotland.

Captain Heeney, of the schooner "Gil-darsleeve," has on exhibition at pier 22, East River, New York, a strange fish which he claims is a "genuine Chinese mermaid." Unfortunately the mermaid is dead, and must be kept on ice. As soon as it shows signs of decomposition the captain says he will send it to a taxidermist to be fixed up for Barnum. He says that the fish was given him by the master of the ship "Callao," from China, which he met in distress off Cape Cod and assisted. The so-called mermaid is four feet long, and weighs forty-five pounds. It has a face somewhat resembling that of a human being; the nose is of the Roman type, and the eyes large and staring. Heavy scales, resembling a coat of mail, cover the body of the condescendant. A fish of a similar description was found on the beach at Lewes a year or so ago.

The Brandon mosquito is altogether a different kind of bird from his P. E. Island namesake. In appearance he is a cross between the common mosquito and a sand-hill crane. Besides being coarsely built he has a voice like the biggest kind of house fly, a deep, expiring bass. You feel disappointed in him; you miss that soft, delicate, and insinuating hum of the eastern mosquito. And he is stupid, too. He flies around, singing his coarse song, in an aimless kind of way, lighting on the wall, on the table, on the ceiling, and a dozen other different places before he finally makes up his mind to attack you. And when he does it, it is done in such a clumsy way that you have no difficulty at all in putting your finger on him and sending him to meet his ancestors. He is an awkward, hesitating, boorish kind of a fellow when compared with his cousin in this part of the world. He has all the wickedness, but none of that dash and cunning which have made the other such a general favorite.
The latter would sail in and feast himself twice over while the Brandon clown was making up his mind whether he would try your hand or the back of your neck.
