Popular Relish Salad Is Easy To Prepare

"The right relish or garniture salad can make a cold meat or fish platter look sumptuous," the Chef observed, "served separately, they can add color and flavor contrast to any luncheon or dinner menu. They are also easy to make and within even small budgets limits."

MONDAY DINNER

Mustard Relish Molds Sliced Hot Smoked Tongue or Ham on Spinach Sour Cream Sauce Whipped Potatoes Buttered Beets Compote of Stewed Fruits Coffee, Tea, Milk Measurements are level; recipes for 4 to 6.

SPRING SAILOR

A SAILOR and spring just go together—and a sailor hat, we mean. Amy does a crisply pert skimmer in tweed straw and gives it the season's tall crown.

A wide faulle band in the same coffee color encircles the crown and ends in fringed streamers for a softening accent. Ideal for a pretty young girl and geared for a slim budget.

New Canadian Stamp Honours Rural Women

By Les Holroyd Canadian Press Staff Writer. TORONTO — Approximately, a woman is the designer of a new Canadian five-cent postal stamp which will commemorate the development of a world-wide rural women's organization.

Mrs. Helen Bacon, 26, Toronto, designed the stamp which will be issued May 15 to honour the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, Cercles Des Fermieres of Quebec and similar groups belonging to the Associated Country Women of the World.

It is the first stamp which Mrs. Bacon—known in art circles by her maiden name of Fitzgerald—has had accepted by the post office.

It depicts a female figure kneeling beside a tree over which a globe is poised. The words "Associated Country Women of the World" and "Union Mondiale Des Femmes Rurales" border the stamp on three sides.

The female figure, the tree and the globe are in black and the tree is green. J.A. MacDonald, director of financial services in the post office department, asked Mrs. Bacon to design the new commemorative with the specific thought that it should be done by a woman.

Springtide Season Offers New Charm And Delight

"You may keep your ear attuned now for a robin!" we commented to Mack this morning. So enchanting these mornings are, they bid us rise in good time lest we should lose the white quiet and sparkle of the frosty winter days.

At Alderlea, one has but to stop a moment on a verandah to be aware of it. The air, so empty since Fall is filling: crows forage, bluejays are vocal, wild ducks and geese excursion.

A box was packed and sent to the port worker at the Immigration office at Halifax. Thirteen members answered roll call with a scripture verse pertaining to Easter.

Roll call word for next meeting will be "Forgive". Devotional leaders will be Mrs. Earle Carter and Mrs. Ira Auld, place of meeting left open.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge. SUFFOLK W.I. The April meeting of the Suffolk W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Reid.

The meeting opened by singing "Roamin' in the Gloamin'", and repeating the creed in unison. Roll call was answered by naming your first school teacher. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

A card party was held at Mrs. Temple's on March 17th, and a sale of small articles took place after game, along with a draw for a cushion. The lucky person being Mr. Fenton Court, Bedford.

Correspondence was then read and discussed, sick committee reported no calls made. Mrs. A. Van Ekris kindly invited the members to her home for next meeting.

GEORGETOWN The many friends of Mrs. Mary Yorston, are sorry to hear that she entered the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Friday, April 3rd and all wish her an early return to good health.

MARY HAYWORTH Frustrated In Love Teen-Ager Is Problem

Dear Mary Haworth: I have a daughter, 17, who at the moment is about to drive the family to distraction over a love problem. She had gone steady with Joe in high school. She made a weekend visit to his college, for a special dance. Apparently they had a quarrel, and on her return home, correspondence stopped.

During the mid-year holidays, Joe returned here but didn't date Judy, although she telephoned him on every pretext she could devise—against our wishes.

I consider that these are growing pains and feel sure that she will survive. But possibly we, her parents, need help in understanding her better. By temperament she is happy-go-lucky and cheerful, but a little on the bitter side now.

COMING ALONG A friend of Joe's has been dating her, fortunately, we tell her, otherwise she'd just sit and mope—but she treats him terribly. She feels she knows Joe better than anyone does; and that there is some reason (perhaps his parents or something else) that keeps him out of touch with her.

LOOK FACTS IN FACE Dear S.D.: Parents can't stand between their children and growing pains. But they can, if perceptive, help them to face reality honestly, with courage and self-esteem unimpaired, when the bad breaks come.

The probability is that Joe is a found a new girl friend at college, who shares his on-the-spot campus interests. Propinquity is the ace promoter of romance, usually—especially in the case of a man who isn't ready for marriage. It has been said, by the proverb writers, that "Absence makes the heart grow fonder."

MALE BRAND When a man wants to break with a girl who has been his sweetheart, and yet feels guilty about it, knowing that she still cares for him, he tends to pitch for an argument, to make her mad, so that she will slam the door on him, figuratively. This is diplomatic and face-saving, he hopes, it puts her in the position of seeming to take the initiative in calling quits, thus saving her pride a bit.

Judy's estimate of Joe—that he was trustworthy and truly likes her—amounts to reading a page from the past. She is overlooking the fact that people we once knew
