DENMARK.—The result of the elections in Denmark is now fully known. The Chamber of Deputies contains 69 ministerialists out of a total of 109. Only two members who voted against the Government have been re-elected.

Mr. C. P. Roney, secretary to the Dublin Exhibition, sailed for America by the Asia on Saturday, in order to assume his duties as managing director of the Canadian Grand Trunk Railway. He intends returning again in October or November, in order to receive the honour of knighthood, on the occasion of the formal closing of the Dublin Exhibition.

The Western papers complain of the ravages of the fly on the wheat. The destruction seems to have been very great in Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Mayor of Montreal has been arrested and held to bail, at the instance of the late Mr. Peter Gillespie's friends.

TRUTH WILL PREVAIL.—AN ASSERTION OF MR. COLES REFUTED.—In our paper of the 30th April, we simply contradicted an assertion of Hon. Mr. Coles "that the proprietor of this paper had been paid for work which J. D. Haszard, the late proprietor had also been paid for," and, we requested the Editors of the Papers who printed the Debates if they were actuated by a spirit of fairness to publish the contradiction also. It was worded in the mildest terms, so as to give offence to no one, but merely to put us in a correct position. None of the papers took any notice of the contradiction. In order therefore, to place it beyond the precinct of a doubt, we obtained, a certificate from two of the workmen engaged in J. D. Haszard's Office at the time, testifying to the contrary of Mr. Coles' assertion. The Government party are so extremely tender of their reputution, that they often cry out before they are attacked and the organs are always taxing the other side with falsehood and misrepresentation. Now with respect to the assertion of the Premier quoted above, we do not hesitate to say that it is a gratuitous falsehood made at haszard upon the spur of the moment, merely because the thing was possible. The following certificates, will, however, shew that the Messrs. Haszard, were not twice paid for work which was only performed once.

I John Walsh, do declare that I was employed in the office of J. D. Haszard, Esq., as printer, and that I was engaged to compose the Session Laws of this Island for the years 1850 and 1851, and I do further declare that the matter for the said Session Laws was not used for the volume of revised Laws, but that I was employed to reset the Type to print the same.

JOHN WALSH.

I John C. Traverse, being employ in the office at the time the Revised Statutes were being printed, do certify that the above is a correct statement. JOHN C. TRAVERSE.

Had Mr. Coles showed any disposition to put us right in the eyes of the public, as any gentleman of fair dealing would have done,—and for which he has had ample opportunity—we would not have been required thus to confront him.

Further comment would be superfluous, a man calling himself and requiring others to consider him a gentleman, convicted of a lie made for the purpose of injuring another, is so thoroughly degraded, that any attempt to plunge him lower, would be but labour in vain. The reason why the imputation among men of honor can only be attoned for by an appeal to arms, is, because, the term liar includes every other possible species of guilt.

CAPT. SLEIGH'S NEW BOOK.—"Pine Forests, and Hacmatack Clearings; or, Life, Travel and Adventure in the British North American Provinces." The above work has just been placed in the Prince Edward Island Library, and can now be had to read. As all connot be supplied, persons will get it in rotation as they leave their names.

We think it very unseemly in the Government, and very derogatory of the respect in which our rulers should be held, to find them banding themselves together to hold meetings in order to decry the pretentions of any persons who may oppose the late members, who were so particularly devoted to their interests. When the Government interest and patronage are made use of to induce the people to vote for a certain Candidate high in their favor it shews that that Government does not rest on the free expression of the people. If the Candidates are not of themselves able to explain the policy of the government, would they be able to vindicate the rights of their constituents when on the floor of the House? We answer no. And those persons that call in the aid of the most blustering, arrogant, and imperious of the dictators in the Government, will of course be ruled by these same persons in the House of Assembly if they should succeed in getting a constituency; not for the good of the country, but to suit their own ends and purposes.

☞ We understand that John Longworth Esq. has resigned his situation as solicitor General and now comes before the public a free and unfettered candidate.

We have received a communication from Mr. Neil M'Neil, late member for the second District of Queen's County, wishing us to correct a statement contained in the Advertiser, which, he says "is calculated to mislead the public mind," and wishes us, as far as he is concerned only, to give the facts of the case.

We do not think any respectable person will be led astray by any thing stated in the Advertiser. That paper and the persons who are connected with it have been so often convicted of uttering false and garbled statements, that no person of any character puts any faith in them, and the whole circulation of the paper is so paltry that it is not worth heeding.

So late only as the present week Eight respectable members of society have addressed a letter to the Islander, refuting statements made by Mr. Pippy in reference to the Order of the Sons of Temperance, of which body he seems to be, certainly, an unworthy member. With such a person it would be derogatory to hold any intercourse, and we therefore apprize our readers, that we will not, in future, try their patience with so unworthy a subject, and we would not have done so now, but that we feel bound to take notice of Mr. M'Neill's letter.

TO THE EDITOR OF HASZARD'S GAZETTE.

Sir,—In looking over the Advertiser of the 23d inst., I observed a report of a Meeting which was held at Crapaud, on Tuesday last. As that report is calculated—though perhaps undesignedly—to mislead the public mind, I beg to state briefly so far as they concern myself—the real facts of the case. It is stated in the Advertiser that I withdrew from the contest. This is not strictly true—except an expression of willingness on my part to do so, if the people preferred Mr. M'Gill,—can be construed to mean that I would not run the Election. I did say that if the constituency would rather support Mr. M'Gill, I was ready to resign, and walked away; but, before I had gone a dozen yards, the people who attended the meeting insisted that I should stand the poll, which I intend to do. Hoping that you will give insertion to these few remarks, to prevent any erroneous impression, I beg leave to subscibe myself, yours very obediently,

NEILL M'NEILL.

Crapaud, June 25th, 1853.

[From the false gloss given to the report in question, in the case of his own "friends" the public can form a pretty fair estimate of the veracity of the Advertizer with respect to other Candidates alluded to at the same time and place, avowed "opponents" to his line of politics—if he have any.]

TO THE EDITOR OF HASZARD'S GAZETTE.

Mr. Editor,

John Arbucle Esq. on Wednesday last delivered a very able and appropriate lecture on the subject of temperance to a numerous and respectable audience at Cavendish, for which the thanks of the meeting were voted by acclamation to that Gentleman.

Mr. A. then gave an interesting statement of the beneficial operation of the Maine Liquor Law in the United States where he had lately travelled, which was exceedingly gratfying to his auditors, who earnestly indulge the hope soon to participate in similar blessings.

The following Resolutions were then severally proposed and adopted almost unanimously—one solitary individual responding in the negative.

1st. Moved by JEREMIAH SIMPSON Esq.—Resolved, that immorality prevails to an alarming extent in this Colony by means of the use of intoxicating spirits as a beverage, and crimes of the most appalling character are perpetrated under its influence.

2d. Moved by Mr. ALEXANDER SIMPSON—Resolved, that it is the imperative duty of every friend to religion and social order, strenuously to exert every constitutional influence to obtain the abolition of the traffic in ardent spirits as has been done in Main and other States of the American Union and attended by the most salutary effects in the prevention of crime, disease and premature death, and the countless train of evils that have always resulted from that pernicious traffic.

3d. Moved by WILLIAM M'NEILL Esq.—Resolved, that at the ensuing Election for members to serve in General Assembly this community will give a decided preference to Candidates who pledge themselves to advocate the suppression of this baneful branch of commerce at the earliest possible period, and having no sympathy with those who hold to adverse principles, will accord to them no support.

THE GIANT; a Poem in six Cantos, by the author of "The Island adrift." &c., &c. J. S. Bremner, Charlottetown—price 9d.

THIS is the title—and a formidable title it is—of a racy work just issued from the press, and which, on the principle, we suppose, that "brevity is the soul of wit," is comprised in Fifteen pages. Its brevity, however, we deem its chief fault; a compliment, we would, that we could pay to many Newspaper correspondents of our acquaintance. The Giant here described is an embodiment of the veritable demon of Intemperance, whose character and ravages are pourtrayed with pathos alternating with humour in strains of much power, both of thought and expression. Such talents we are glad to see enlisted in the cause of Temperance; and trust to find them appreciated in a ready and remunerating sale of this effusion of a native Bard.

THE CAPTIVE IN PATAGONIA; or, life among the Giants, a personal narrative, by Benjamin Franklin Bourne, with illustrations. Boston: Gould & Lincoln, 59 Washington Street, 1853. pp. 233.

THIS is the title of a little volume which only requires to be read to be duly appreciated. So little has been hitherto known of the habits, manners, and dispositions of the people of Terra del Fuego, that the fact of their being at all above the ordinary size of men has been put down among those tales of travellers, who might have claimed acquaintanceship with Sinbad the sailor, if they were not blood relations. This interesting narrative puts it beyond doubt, that they exceed most other savage nations equally in the size of their person, as they do in the ignorance and depravity of their minds. It is humiliating to contemplate men in a position so closely allied to the most ferocious of the brute creation—filthy, cowardly, faithless—devoid of all principles of honor, and without any fiexd principles of religion or morality. The perusal of this little work will serve to convince those who may happen to be sceptical on that head, that man in the state of nature, is not necessarily the high minded, noble, upright creature, that the simplicity of his life, and his few natural wants would indicate him to be; but that, on the contrary, the same vices that disfigure polished and civilized life, flourish there in rank luxuriance, without the contrast of the various virtues, graces and anxieties, that serve as a counterpoise in the other.

The tale is simply but pleasingly told, and as the author is well known, and boldly refers to some of the most distinguished characters of the United States, in making grateful acknowledgments for the sympathy shewn to his misfortunes, its veracity is placed above suspicion.

Died,

At Beech Point, on Monday the 20th instant, in the 85th year of her age, Mrs. Helen Ramsay, relict of the late Archibald Ramsay, Esq., of the above place. The deceased was a native of Argyleshire, Scotland, and emigrated to this Island in the year 1771, being then three years of age, along with a number of others all of whom, with one exception, are now numbered with the dead. She was a person of religious understanding and strong memory, which she spirituously cultivated, and thus attained to clear and correct views of the doctrines of our holy religion, which became a source of comfort to her through life, and at the hour of death. She early made a profession of religion, in connection with the Presbyterian Church, which she maintained with steadiness and consistency through a long life. She lived highly respected by her numerous friends and acquaintances, and beloved by large circle of relatives, and died trusting in a once crucified but now glorified Redeemer, in whose arms she now reposes. "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord." Scarcely a year previous to her death, she, in a great measure, lost her sight, which was to her a source of no small regret, as much of her time had been previously spent in reading the Scriptures and books on religious subjects; and from the perusal of which she derived great comfort; and as her hearing had also much failed, it was with difficulty that she could profit by what was read to her, in these circumstances she was accustomed to say "Imust live upon what I have laid up;" and indeed few had a mind so richly stored with the precious treasure of divine truth. Death did not take her by surprise. She was fully aware and expressed herself to this effect, that her earthly pilgrimage was drawing to a close, and that she would soon be an inhabitant of that land where the eye never grows dim, and infirmities no more assail.

To the Electors of the First District of Queen's County.

GENTLMEN;

SINCE accepting your invitation to come forward as a Candidate for your suffrages, I have visited a considerable part of the District, and I feel thankful for the kind manner in which I have been received, and for the very general promises of support tendered me. At the time I commenced my canvass, I knew not what New London intended doing, whether they would nominate a Candidate for that end of the District or not, so that I had to canvass for myself alone. They have now a man in the field—Mr. John McLeod—the New London people having engaged to support me, with the understanding that my friends would support Mr. McLeod. I am aware that a few of my friends have promised to vote for Mr. Coles, as well as myself; to those I would say keep your promises, and vote as you have engaged; but believing, as I do, that a large number of my supporters at this end of the District have not as yet promised their second vote, but have expressed their determination not to support Mr. Coles, I now solicit them to give it to the New London Candidate, and on no account to give me a plumper, but divide with Mr. McLeod. Our prospects are good; and as no one blames Mr. Coles for trying to get Mr. Laird supported, let no one blame me for doing what I can for Mr. McLeod. It is nothing but right that the other end of the District should have its Representative. We pledge ourselves to take no public Office, and to keep the Assembly as free from Office-holders as possible, and so purify Responsible Government. If eight or ten members of the Assembly get offices, it will be as great a compact as that of which we have lately got clear of. Let us stand by each other, and the victory is ours.

Your Obedt. Servt.
GEORGE BEER, jnr.

Charlottetown, June 25, 1853.

To the Electors of the Second Electoral District of Prince County.

GENTLEMEN;

I AM induced, from the repeated solicitations of many of the most respectable influential Electors amongst you, to offer myself as a Candidate for your Suffrages at the approaching Election.

My object in thus making my intentions public through this medium is, because I have hitherto declined, when requested by many of you, to offer myself.

I may be permitted to say, that I believe I am individually acquainted with you all, and am satisfied that you are aware that it is not from any selfish or pecuniary motive that induces me to come forward.

As a native of the Colony, and one whose interests are inseparably connected with your own, it would be my highest aim to advance its best interest and prosperity. And, be assured Gentlemen, should you honor me with your confidence, nothing I trust on my part shall be wanting to advance the true interest of the Colony, and this my native district particularly.

I am, Gentlemen, truly yours,
JAMES CAMPBELL.
