

P. E. I. Department of Agriculture

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has been very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Winston Smith, B.Sc. in Agriculture, as Horticulturist. Mr. Smith began his duties on June 1st, and up to the present time he has been familiarizing himself with departmental policies. It is the intention of the Department to provide a vigorous horticultural policy as it is felt that this important branch of agriculture is deserving of more attention than it has been possible to give to it in the past. Mr. Smith will have associated with him Mr. D. C. Schurman, who, for many years, was on the staff of the Experimental Station, Charlottetown, and whose valuable experience and wide guidance will be of great value in this important work.

Grass Silage

The production of grass silage is a matter of great interest to the farmer because it provides a very wide economy of animal nutrition. The Department of Agriculture has a large amount of information regarding this project and the officers of the Provincial Department of Agriculture have had considerable technical and practical training in this development. Your inquiries are cordially invited in this respect.

A number of silos of various forms are now under process of construction. We would be glad to advise you regarding the silage to not delay provisions for storage until too late a date. Grass is developing this year very rapidly, and if the saving of the grass is delayed until too late the value of the silage will be correspondingly deteriorated. Get your facilities established as soon as possible, and be prepared to harvest the grass when it is of greatest food value.

Pasture For Swine

Pasture crops are valuable for breeding and growing swine. In addition to providing green succulent feeds they supply proteins, minerals and vitamins readily available to the pig. Moreover, the hog, while foraging, takes exercise, an important routine in the life of breeding boars, brood sows and young pigs.

Pasture crops play an important role in the control of parasitic infestation. If pastures are changed, worm infestation can be brought under control to a considerable extent. Young pigs that have been treated for worms after weaning and put on clean pastures have reasonable chance of escaping further infestation. Most clovers and grasses grown on Prince Edward Island farms provide suitable pasture, but none is better than alfalfa or red clover. Fall wheat can be pastured in the late fall or early spring when other forage crops are not available.

Prevent Mastitis

Mastitis or Garget is a disease which causes great economic losses among dairy cattle. Approximately one third of all milking cows have infected quarters during some or all of their milking period. The nature of Mastitis is an inflammation of two or more quarters of the udder, and is caused by many different organisms. The acute accounts for about 2-5 percent of all Mastitis. There are many predisposing causes. The most common is injury. Improper milking practices such as too much vacuum on milking machines, leaving machines on too long, comparing the udder for quick let-down, predispose to Mastitis. In sanitary stables and milking practices are also important predisposing factors. Chilling or heavy protein feeding seems to lower resistance to udder infection. In acute Mastitis the symptoms are generally a hot, swollen or caked udder which is very painful to the touch. There is usually

FATHER'S FAVORITE - Fried Chicken and Ocean Spray CRANBERRY SAUCE

THE JENKINS PHARMACY has today's Kodak cameras

SUN'S POWER The heat and light of the sun is believed caused by nuclear reactions among the atoms in its interior.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Baby Richard Campbell, who passed away June 7th, 1952. Calm and peaceful he is sleeping sweetest rest that follows pain. We who loved him sadly miss him But trust in God to meet again.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. James Blackmore, who passed away June 9th, 1953. The month of June again is here The saddest month of all the year. For it took our Mother from us. And left us here to grieve alone.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all neighbours and friends for their many acts of kindness, their gifts, cards, letters and many other contributions to our comfort and welfare while we were ill.

KING COLE COFFEE Best because it's always fresh!

CITY AND DISTRICT

COOK'S for Perfect Pictures. YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE - at the HUGHES DRUG STORE. JUST ARRIVED - Cotton maternity dresses. Kennedy's Ladies Wear. VISIT HI-STYLE MILLINERY 163 1/2 Great George Street. Every style Hi-style. COATS AND SUITS at 1/3 off. Norma's Ladies' Wear, 160A Kent Street.

OUTSIDE PAINT SPECIAL - White, $3.75 a gal. Grey, Green and Red, $2.95 gal. Douglas Bros. & Jones, 155 Kent Street, Charlotteville.

THE 115TH ANNUAL MEETING of the Prince Edward Island Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society will be held in the Parlor of the Trinity United Church, Summerside, Thursday evening, June 10th, at 7:30 p. m. Plan to attend.

PRESENTATION AT HIGHFIELD - At the evening services in Highfield United Church on Sunday, June 6, a beautiful Communion table, presented by Mrs. J. W. Campbell, in loving memory of her husband was dedicated to the Glory of God. During his lifetime, the late Major Otto W. Campbell was a faithful member and staunch supporter of Highfield church. In the regrettable absence, through illness, of Mrs. Campbell, the presentation was made by W. B. Leard. Mr. Hardy conducted the Dedication Service, and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Stillman Frizell, was heard in special selections appropriate to the occasion.

Zion W.M.S. Hold Annual Meeting The members of Zion Women's Missionary Society gathered for their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. W. Patterson on June 3.

PERSONALS Mr. Stanley MacNeill of Lake Verde leaves this morning for Toronto, Ont. Miss Jean Jeffery of Charlottetown left this morning for Toronto, Ont., to take up nursing duties. Mr. Arnold Ford left Saturday morning on return to Toronto after spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elby Ford, Eden Street, Charlottetown.

Breadalbane and Vicinity Mr. Reggie Robertson of the Canadian navy stationed at Kentville N. S., spent the week-end of May 2 at his home in Breadalbane. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Kenderison, Aulic, N. B., visited the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kennedy, Breadalbane on May 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln MacRae, Glasgow Road, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dixon, during the week-end of May 23. Congratulations to Gordon Matheson, Rose Valley, who won a prize in the course on Electricity at the Vocational School, Charlottetown.

Mr. Randolph Nicholson, student minister, Cape Breton, and Mr. Gordon Stevenson, Fredericton, P. E. I., visited friends in Breadalbane, on May 23. Friends will regret to learn that Mr. John Ewyk, Breadalbane, accidentally cut his foot on May 27, necessitating a visit to the doctor and an enforced holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Matheson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Wood, Hunter River, motored to Breadalbane, on May 20. While the men enjoyed an afternoon of fishing, the ladies visited friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Willis, Miss Diane Willis and Miss Eleanor Murray, Charlottetown, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Murray, Breadalbane, May 24, en route from a week-end motor trip to Saint John and Moncton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ackland, Cornwall, were the recipients of many congratulatory messages on the occasion of their 53rd wedding anniversary, May 29. In the evening they were visited by all the members of their family, most of their grandchildren and a few intimate friends. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. Cuyler Matheson was chairman of a well attended school meeting which was held in Breadalbane Village School on June, Mr. Archie Hutchinson was appointed to succeed the retiring trustee, Mr. Elmer Wigmore. Five hundred dollars supplement was voted.

Prayer meetings have been re-organized in the Breadalbane Christian Church, and are being held each Tuesday evening under the leadership of Mr. Bryer Jones, student pastor. In addition to the devotional period, there are an instructive Bible study period, and a sing song. Both attendance and interest are increasing.

The following students from this vicinity have successfully completed another college year, and are enjoying well-earned vacations, or change of "employment": Miss Alberta Todd, Stanchel, Mr. Jackie White, Stanchel, and Mr. Wellington Murray, Breadalbane Village.

A Teacher's Study Group met in Breadalbane Village School on June 2. Mr. C. B. Jelley and Mr. Ross, supervisors, led in discussions, the chief topic was the Achievement Tests for grade eight. The following teachers attended: Mrs. Albert Todd, Stanchel; Miss Jurretta Murray, Rose Valley; Miss Shirley MacLennan, Springton; Miss Mary Deighan, Breadalbane Rural; Mrs. Even Todd, Breadal-

Strange But True

Not long ago on a dark night a friend and I were driving down that steep grade at Bonshaw when our car lights suddenly blinked out. We pulled off the side of the road dismayed, as it began to rain heavily and the nearest gas station was all too far away on such a night. But before we even had time to investigate the trouble, a truck pulled up beside us and stopped. A friendly voice called a greeting and the driver stepped down from his seat to lend a helping hand. In no time at all he had discovered and replaced the loose battery connection that had held us up. Gratefully we thanked him and offered to pay him for his trouble. This, the obliging truck driver refused, but he called back to us as he drove away. "Just pay me by helping somebody else, when the opportunity arrives."

As we started our motor and drove off we thanked the good Lord for this friend indeed. And we meditated upon the fellowship and good will that would be forged if no one ever let a favor die. Why do some folk go through life holding an ill feeling for some fellow mortal and clinging to memories of hate? Haven't you seen it many times? They do it because they continually live in an outer plane of existence and really seem to enjoy it. They haven't found that by the right use of their own minds and just a bit of sincere faith they can knock on that door of that something the human breast, and release a fountain of everlasting Good just waiting to be tapped. That very Good will turn hate to love and all malevolent thoughts will be nonexistent.

It is a custom in India for the people to sit in the flower-scented gardens surrounding the Taj Mahal, one of the world's most beautiful buildings and just drink in its beauty. They come from all over the land, rich and poor alike, and sometimes sit all day. Then they go back to their palaces or their poverty and life is renewed. For they can close their eyes in the dark of the night and see it and say "This is my Taj Mahal." Something of the same feeling is carried away by persons revisiting the Garden of the Gulf. It is something words cannot express, something more than a memory of their native isle cradled on the waves, more than a mental image of a lovely scene. We try to find names for it but it can hardly be named for it is of the indefinable essence of the heart.

When Edgar Guest said, "It takes a heap of livin' in a house to make a home" I fancy what he had in mind was "It takes a heap of lovin'." There would be no Taj Mahal, no Anne of Green Gables Shrine, no home or hospitality to warm the visitors heart if there were no beauty, no love, no memories. Indeed there would be no good thing anywhere for love is the source and foundation of all.

In 1409, 28-year-old Lorenzo Ghiberti, carved two famous pairs of doors for the Baptistery of his church. On the first pair of doors Jesus and on the others of the fathers of the church. It took him over 20 years to complete this task. On the second doors are found stories of the Old Testament. In some of the ten panels

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Other panel pictures tell the story of Noah, Abraham, Jacob, Moses, David and Solomon. This world renowned sculptor died at the end of 77 full and happy years. Many honors were paid him. But he cared nothing for money or honors. He was satisfied with the beauty and art which his hands wrought.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

Very few towns in the world have been named after ghosts. But the village of Wizard's Clip, Va., commemorates poltergeist phenomena - or works of the Devil. Wizard's Clip was originally known as Smithfield and is between Harper's Ferry on what is now West Virginia Route No. 51. But to get back to our tale. At the close of the American Revolution, Adam Livingstone came to live at Smithfield, and with him came ghosts. After that the tiny village was constantly in the news. Livingstone's livestock died of some strange disease. Then the malevolent entity killed off the poultry. This was followed by the destruction of the Livingstone home and the flight of its owner. Thus it came about that Smithfield changed its name to Wizard's Clip all on account of the doing of a ghost.

REDWATER, Alta. (CP) - The plant of the Redwater News, a weekly newspaper published in this oil town 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, was destroyed by fire Monday. Damage was estimated at $90,000. No one was injured. The fire destroyed the office and plant, including records, machinery and other equipment. Cause of the blaze was not known. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

KELLY'S CROSS W. I. The members of this institute held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Gurley on June 4, with a fair attendance of members. The president occupied the chair and conducted the business of the meeting. A delegate was appointed to attend the annual convention which is being held in Charlottetown in July. It was decided to treat the school children with ice-cream at the close of the school term. Plans were made for the holding of a dance in the school during the holidays. The sick committee are Mrs. Joseph Kelly and Mrs. Maurice McDonald.

The next meeting will be held on July 2 at the home of Miss Elaine McQuaid. The lunch committee will be the hostess and Mrs. John Molyneux. Before the close of the meeting the members enjoyed a game of bingo from which a pleasing sum was realized. Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

SMOOTH ROCK FALLS, Ont. (CP) - Pleading guilty to a charge of arson laid after police said he made two attempts to burn down his house, Leon Murphy of nearby Unionville Friday was given a one year suspended sentence. Police said neighbors put out the first fire without too much damage being caused, but the second required fire department attention.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University, said this was a period of "national confusion when actually too many men have failed to distinguish between treason and loyal dissent." He emphasized that universities had tried to lead the way back to reason and to the search for truth. He reminded graduates and audience that "there could be no greater travesty of true patriotism than the assumption that all persons who disagree with an individual or group, ipso facto, be traitors to their country."

Dr. L. I. Esaki, Nobel Prize physicist, was the chief speaker. He said, "Scientists' value is greatest where no avenue is closed to questioning." Among the 38 leading national and international people who received honorary degrees was a near neighbour of the Islanders, Vincent Christopher MacDonald, Justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. There were a number of notable Englishmen: Lionel Charles Robbins, Professor of Economics at London School of Economics and Political Science, University of London, England; Sir Dennis Holme Robertson - Professor of Economics at Cambridge University, England; and William Arthur Lewis-Jevons Professor of Manchester, England and a woman, Barbara Wootan - Nuffield Research Fellow, Bedford College, University of London.

All college graduation exercises inspire solemn thoughts, but they are happy occasions first of all. Parents feel that they have done their best often at great sacrifice, to prepare the children for adult life. And the young people are glad of the chance to get into the real world. So much of this feeling was reflected in the hundreds of little family groups I watched for days around the campus. Re-

He was commanding officer of the destroyer Fraser, which aided in the rescue of Sir Ronald Campbell, British ambassador to France and Maj.-Gen. G. P. Vanier, then Canadian minister to Holland and Belgium, from a small fishing vessel in the Bay of Biscay when they escaped during the fall of France. Successful appointments on the Atlantic coast brought him to the position of director of operations at RCN headquarters. He held this post until June 1, 1943, when he became assistant chief of the naval staff. Later he commanded the auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert, the RCN college, Royal Roads, near Victoria, moving then to headquarters as chief of naval personnel. He was appointed flag officer, Pacific coast in 1950 and in January, 1953, became vice-chief of the naval staff and a member of the naval board.

ATLANTA, Ga. (CP) - Santa Monica, Calif. (CP) - Actress Gail Russell, 29, Thursday filed suit for divorce against her actor husband, Guy Madison, after nearly five years of marriage. She charged Madison with mental cruelty.

Most impressive of events in New York, was the 200th Commemoration Day Celebration at Columbia University. The campus was green with foliage and gay with its light blue colors, and everywhere the British Crown was part of the decorative scheme. Canadians and Americans may differ about some educational theories but Columbia University was established as King's College on land ceded in 1754 by King George III, and both countries share the same tradition of freedom of thought and press. "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof" was the theme of all the events that have taken place this year on the campus, and whether or not the graduates numbering over 6000 will all strive to live up to this ideal, their Alma Mater has done her best to hold it before them. I was one of the 18 thousand who sat in the hot sun and forgot physical discomfort in the sight of the row on row of men and women who streamed from all sides of the campus and converged in front of the great Low Memorial Library. These graduates were people who had had special opportunity to think and learn. How would they use their knowledge in these perilous times?

OTTAWA, (CP) - The navy announced Monday that Rear-Admiral Wallace Bouchier Creevy, CBE, CD, of Ottawa and Vancouver, vice-chief of the naval staff, will go on retirement leave Aug. 3. The 53-year-old officer, who began his career in 1914, will have served 40 years—longer than any other officer or man now serving in the RCN. It was Aug. 3, 1914, that Creevy entered the Royal Naval College of Canada at Halifax. On graduation as a midshipman, he saw service during the First World War in cruisers on the North Atlantic and in the North sea. After that war he saw service on destroyers and took a two-year torpedo course in the United Kingdom, later becoming torpedo officer of the RCN barracks at Esquimaut, B. C. September, 1928, saw him as a lieutenant-commander, in command of the minesweeper, Armentiers. Later he served for a time with the Royal Navy. In 1934 he commanded the destroyer Champlain and two years after that became director of naval services. He took command of HMCS Stadacona, the RCN barracks at Halifax, in 1937.

COMMANDER FRASER He was commanding officer of the destroyer Fraser, which aided in the rescue of Sir Ronald Campbell, British ambassador to France and Maj.-Gen. G. P. Vanier, then Canadian minister to Holland and Belgium, from a small fishing vessel in the Bay of Biscay when they escaped during the fall of France. Successful appointments on the Atlantic coast brought him to the position of director of operations at RCN headquarters. He held this post until June 1, 1943, when he became assistant chief of the naval staff. Later he commanded the auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert, the RCN college, Royal Roads, near Victoria, moving then to headquarters as chief of naval personnel. He was appointed flag officer, Pacific coast in 1950 and in January, 1953, became vice-chief of the naval staff and a member of the naval board.

ATLANTA, Ga. (CP) - Santa Monica, Calif. (CP) - Actress Gail Russell, 29, Thursday filed suit for divorce against her actor husband, Guy Madison, after nearly five years of marriage. She charged Madison with mental cruelty.

Most impressive of events in New York, was the 200th Commemoration Day Celebration at Columbia University. The campus was green with foliage and gay with its light blue colors, and everywhere the British Crown was part of the decorative scheme. Canadians and Americans may differ about some educational theories but Columbia University was established as King's College on land ceded in 1754 by King George III, and both countries share the same tradition of freedom of thought and press. "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof" was the theme of all the events that have taken place this year on the campus, and whether or not the graduates numbering over 6000 will all strive to live up to this ideal, their Alma Mater has done her best to hold it before them. I was one of the 18 thousand who sat in the hot sun and forgot physical discomfort in the sight of the row on row of men and women who streamed from all sides of the campus and converged in front of the great Low Memorial Library. These graduates were people who had had special opportunity to think and learn. How would they use their knowledge in these perilous times?

Perfection ICE CREAM IN BULK 1 GALLON 1/2 GALLON

FLATTERING HOSIERY AT NEW FLATTERING PRICES BY "ORIENT" JUNE 9 to 19 ONLY 20% DISCOUNT ON A BROAD RANGE OF "ORIENT" Regular First Quality Hosiery Formal Sheer - Evening Sheer - Daytime Sheer - Semi-Service Rayon and Fine Lises. Reg. Now 45 Gauge 30 Denier 1.35 $1.08 51 Gauge 15 Denier 1.50 $1.20 60 Gauge 15 Denier 1.75 $1.40 Semi-Service Rayon 1.35 $1.08 Fine Lisle 1.50 $1.20 Sale Begins Today Wednesday MOORE & McLEOD Limited

