Funeral Yesterday Of Lieut. Annear

FREDERICTON, N. B. Full military honors were accorded Lieut. A. E. Annear, formerly of Lower Fredericton, Thursday. An impressive service was held at McAdam's Funeral Home with Major G. S. Fraser and Rev. W. Close officiating. Lieut. Annear of "Z" Lt Bty (Para) ROHA, was killed when the plane which he was operating crashed during a routine operation on training flight on April 13. His body was escorted by Lt. T. E. Roberts of the RCHA from Rivers, Manitoba, by rail on Wednesday, and was taken to McAdams Funeral Home for the funeral.

Lieut. Annear's body was escorted from McAdams' Funeral Home by two platoons of an active force company under the command of Capt. D. E. Jones. The platoon commanders were Lieut. B. T. L. McFarlane and Lieut. C. R. Arseneau. The firing party under the command of Sgt. W. H. Eddy consisted of a sergeant, a corporal and twelve other ranks. The bugler was Sgt. L. D. Crawford of the 12th Fld Regt RCA. Lieut. F. C. Allen, Lieut. E. M. Knorr, Lieut. H. J. LeBlanc, Lieut. L. P. Bayne, Lieut. M. E. Bernard, 2nd Lieut. F. W. Cooper and 2nd Lieut. E. W. Thomas were the pall bearers. WO1 S. J. Statham was in command of the bearers who were WO1 C. P. O'Shea, WO2 L. B. Fletcher, WO2 J. A. Hughson, WO2 M. A. Mon, WO2 C. C. Walker, WO2 M. C. The flag draped casket was carried from the funeral home on the shoulders of the bearers while the pall bearers lined the passage from the funeral home to the gun carriage. With the remains placed on the gun carriage the procession moved off in slow time up King Street and out the Woodstock Road to the rural cemetery extension where a grave-side service was conducted by Major G. S. Fraser. The firing party fired a three round salute after which the body was lowered into the ground with the sounding of Retreat and Reveille. Lt. Annear is survived by his wife and two children.

CALL BEDELL SMITH The army side also called Walter Bedell Smith, acting secretary of state, who said Cohn once approached him in quest of a commission for Schine. He said Cohn asked, among other things, about the possibility of getting Schine commissioned through the central intelligence agency. Smith said he suggested Cohn might telephone the head of the CIA, Allen Dulles. Cohn's reply, he said, was that the CIA was "too juicy a subject" for future investigations—that it wouldn't be right to place Schine in the CIA and then investigate it. McCarthy's sub-committee planned to investigate the CIA for alleged subversives last year—before the Schine controversy arose—but held off when Dulles and other administration officials argued the agency is too sensitive to have its affairs made public. Jenkins asked Smith if he had the impression Cohn was trying to high pressure anybody. "Not me, sir," Smith replied. He said at another point he did not regard Cohn's approach to him as improper. Stevens briefly interrupted his testimony so Smith, who expects to go overseas today, could tell about his contact with Cohn. Then Stevens detailed what he called the McCarthy office's "persistent, tireless effort to get special consideration for this man (Schine)."

U. S. Army Secretary

In 10 years of dealing with Congress he couldn't recall any "greater pressure" than McCarthy's office turned on to get a quick commission for the about-to-be-drafted Schine. McCarthy swiftly tried to show Reber as a biased witness. He demanded to know whether it wasn't true that Reber's brother, Sam, had been ousted from the state department as a security risk. Reber, former army liaison man with Congress and now commander of U.S. forces in western Europe, replied that his brother retired at the age of 50. The general said he didn't know anything about any security case involving his brother. McCarthy also contended Sam Reber made "vicious attacks" on Cohn and Schine when he was acting U.S. high commissioner for Germany and the sub-committee aides made a quick inspection trip there in 1953. Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the sub-committee, first ruled out this line of questioning as not pertinent. McCarthy fired back: "If I can't show bias and prejudice, it is a violation of every rule of law."

Blames Cohn

Mostly, Stevens said, it was Cohn who did the questioning and the alleged threatening. He listed more than 65 phone calls and 19 personal meetings between McCarthy or staff members and officials of the armed forces on the Schine case. He told, too, of an incident at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., last fall. Stevens said he took a group of Congress members to a secret radar laboratory there, that Cohn went along but was not allowed in the laboratory. Cohn, the army secretary said, was "extremely angry." He quoted Cohn as telling an army colonel: "This means war. . . . Don't think I am cleared for classified information? I have access to FBI files when I want them. . . . They did this on purpose just to embarrass me. We will really investigate the army now."

NOT ELIGIBLE

Both Stevens and Reber said every effort was made to get a commission for Schine but that all branches of the service reported the young New Yorker to be not eligible. Stevens repeated a charge Cohn had denied—that Cohn once told army counsel Adams it would "wreck the army" and Stevens "would be through" as secretary if Schine—like many draftees—was sent overseas. At the end of his statement, Stevens took up McCarthy's frequent

Rebels Keep Up Pressure, Seek Weak Point For Mass Assault On Fortress

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Thousands of Red-led Vietnamese surged against Dien Bien Phu's dwindling defenses Thursday. They probed for a weak spot which could pave the way for a mass breakthrough to the heart of the French bastion. Waves of rebel shock troops pressed in relentlessly as the embattled huddle of French defenders clung to an area not more than a mile-and-a-quarter across. On all sides the Vietnam positions had edged to within 300 yards of the garrison's last-ditch defenses. Heaviest rebel pressure was exerted on the shrunken bastion's north-west defenses, where the Vietnamese hold two vital outposts seized from the French. There the rebels laid down a murderous barrage of mortar and machine-gun fire apparently aimed at blasting a hole through to the bastion's vital nerve centre. A French spokesman said that at some points in the northwest, the rebels had managed to shove their mortars through the barbed wire entanglements. AWAIT NEW ASSAULT In their next mass assault—expected at any time—the rebels are expected to try to smash through from the northwest. Striving to stem a breakthrough assertion that some officials are "protecting" or "coddling" Communists in the army. "The army," declared Stevens, "does not coddle communism."

Grass Fire Runs Three-quarters Mile, Destroys Barn, Contents near Cardigan

"A grass fire yesterday caused the loss of a barn and contents of hay, oats and straw belonging to Mr. Walter Byrne, whose farm is located about a mile from Cardigan. Mr. Byrne was away from his home, where he lives alone. At some time prior a grass fire had started about three-quarters of a mile away near the shore. It got out of control and raced through the dry grass to a small woodlot and before long the barn caught and soon became a mass of flames. A carriage barn, hen house and other out buildings were also burned. The large crowd which gathered was able to save the horses which were in the barn, and also the danger of catching fire also. The asphalt shingles on the roof protected the house but in so doing have suffered considerable damage from the heat of the fire. The barn was constructed only a few years ago, and the total loss represents a substantial one to the owner. There is a small amount of insurance on the barn."

Montague Votes For Daylight Saving Time

"The question of daylight saving time for the town of Montague received effective discussion at a special meeting of the town council held Monday night. The decision was officially announced last night. Mayor B. H. Yeo presided and Councillors Hessian, Nicholson, Reynolds, McGowan, Greene and Fraser were present. After considerable discussion, a motion that the town of Montague favor the establishing of daylight saving time in the town was moved. Mayor Yeo relinquished the chair so that he might have an opportunity to vote. Deputy Mayor, Doug McGowan, took the chair and presented the motion which passed with five votes in favor and one objecting. Mayor Yeo stated that he was not in favor of the towns and villages alone going on daylight time as it caused hardship to the rural population who wished to shop in the town. He had no objection, he said, to the establishing of daylight time on a province-wide basis, but felt that with only the towns and villages on "fast" time and the rural population on standard time, it would give rise to considerable confusion and present difficulties to people whose businesses took them to the towns. The councillors all spoke in favor of the motion to establish daylight saving time in Montague."

Young Skaters Given Treat

"The young skaters from the Montague area who participated in the Provincial ice sports were treated to icecream and cake at the Bison Restaurant last night. A large number was present including Mayor B. H. Yeo, who congratulated the school children on their fine showing, and expressed the hope that future years would bring them even greater success. Other speakers were L. H. Poole, A. F. Campbell, who coached the skaters, Lorne Wigginton, Doug McGowan, Jack Annear, Art Sullivan and Stanford Peardon. A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Clay for the use of the dining room, and the excellent lunch served to the honored guests. Also a vote of thanks was extended to the Montague Legion who sponsored the children in the present season's activities."
