

What a—(Story):

For Neuralgia, a novel cure—which we can hardly believe to be true, will ever become popular—is vouchsafed, it is said by the New York Sun. An Irish girl in Paterson, N. J., had suffered with Neuralgia of the head and face until almost frantic with pain; actually beating the wall with her head to cause insensibility.

Her employer having heard that a Dr. Terch had cured rheumatism by the sting of a wasp, asked the girl if she would try it. With courage born of despair, she exclaimed "Any other torture would be pleasure beside this."

A yellow wasp was obtained, and vexed into stinging her face. Within a few moments the pain ceased, the girl fell asleep, and strange to say, never again had an attack of neuralgia. Well, we don't blame her. The remedy was probably too heroic for a second dose. A learned specialist when told this yarn remarked, "The pain may have stopped temporarily, but it could only have been temporary."

Continued he, "It is a fact that a sudden shock to inflamed and painful nerves will disperse, as many unthinking people in after years find out, who apply fiery and dangerous compounds externally to stop neuralgia and rheumatism. They only continue to shock their nervous system, ignorant of the fact that, as in the morphine or alcohol habit their mental and moral nature is thus gradually being destroyed."

"Make haste slowly if you expect to cure any nerve disease" was the advice to a lady by a friend who had been cured of chronic neuralgia by using for some time Johnson's Anodyne Liniment inhaled, taken internally, and applied externally, as advised in the wrapper around every bottle.

Neuralgia is a fever or inflammation of the nerves, and only by degrees can any inflammation be cured; and then only by an anodyne treatment. Old Dr. Johnson had this in mind when he devised his Anodyne Liniment; a remedy now known to everyone, as it deserves to be. Surely a medicine without real merit could not have survived for eighty years, as this one has done.

MANY prominent men are now being carried off by the ravages of la grippe. When we consider that by using Campbell's Quinine Wine as a preventative we can ward off the attacks of la grippe, we would advise you to purchase a bottle from your druggist.

THE FISH STORY.—A Quebec despatch of the 11th says: A gentleman fishing in Lake St. Charles yesterday succeeded in killing a grey trout (salmonid) weighing seventeen and a half pounds. The monster rose to a small trout fly and was only killed after a struggle of an hour and a half. The fish was 35 inches long.
