P.E.I. Caught Unawares As Winter Whips In

Hardly anyone had rubbers, few were with snow tires and most nearly froze at the start as Prince Edward Island was damped with its first major snowstorm of the winter Monday night and Tuesday morning.

No relief is in sight either as a storm approaching the area forecasts some four inches of snow with high winds.

A total of seven inches of snow fell in the Charlottetown area, the radio range reported last night and winds of 16 miles an hour and a temperature of 31 degrees accompanied the white stuff.

A bit more than seven inches fell on some parts of the Island while the eastern area received only three or four inches.

Roads were treacherous for the most part but all were open to traffic. The snow on the pavement had partly melted during the day.

The outlook for today is cloudy with snow beginning in the evening and ending in the evening. Winds are forecast to be from the west.

RCMP reported no major accidents during the snow but there were several minor "feeder" accidents, and a fair number of cars in ditches in Charlottetown city police reported one minor bump.

Mr. Andrews said that the Premier will likely be a shortage for the next few days.

Transportation officials said that potato loading on ships in this morning that while three Summerside now will ease the area are a few refrigerated cars situation somewhat.

He said arrangements will have to be made for Premier Shaw to fly from Montreal with Mr. MacEachern on that day in order to be here for the evening ceremony.

The Premier has a number of conferences to attend in Ottawa but expects to return to the province like Nov. 27 will be the day.

ANIMALS JUDGED AT ANNUAL LIVE FOX SHOW

Deputy minister of Agriculture Stewart Wright, top left, looks on at a judging of a trial of foxes at the third annual live fox show which opened at the Provincial Exhibition Grounds yesterday and will continue today. Some 101 animals were entered in the show by breeders from all over the Island and by 40 exhibitors from New Brunswick.

100th Birthday Of Patriot Marked By Cutting Cake

The 100th anniversary of the founding of The Evening Patriot in Charlottetown was celebrated at the Patriot office yesterday morning with the cutting of a huge birthday cake.

Speaking on behalf of The Evening Patriot at the ceremony was Publisher W. J. Hancock. Following the official speeches the giant cake was divided into servings for the dignitaries and public.

Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet of Charlottetown made the first cut in the cake and said "foremost to influence over the past century has been the Press in Canada and The Patriot has exerted much of it here."

Noting the parallel between the paper's birthday and the Island's Centennial celebrations, Dr. Frank MacKinnon, chairman of the P.E.I. Centennial Committee added "The Patriot contributed one of the first Liberal cabinet ministers and gave the Northwest Territories its first lieutenant governor."

Dr. MacKinnon noted the manner in which the founder of The Patriot, David Laird, thundered against joining confederation but went on to great things in Canadian life. Dr. MacKinnon said he had read every issue of the Patriot ever printed in the Dominion Archives.

GREAT SERVICE He also remarked on the Patriot's tremendous service to the community over the past century and said he brought with DRAGGER FLEET Has Problems SOURS — Dragger fleets operating out of Souris are having difficulties on two counts in the past month. Poor weather conditions have forced draggers to shorten their trips this month. They have not been able to leave the port for almost a week because of weather hazards.

Another complaint fishermen have is the scarcity of fish when the draggers do get out. The fleet ordinarily begins to tie up around the end of November and most of the draggers are expected to be tied up by Christmas.
