INDIAN SUMMER ROSE Mrs. Arthur Wood of Rollo Bay West, sent The Guardian a beautiful pink rose which she found growing near her home. The rose, which Mrs. Wood picked November 28, has three other well-matured buds on the stem ready to burst into bloom. Roses blooming in this Province so late in the season, are indeed a rarity.

Reviews Canadian

whatever adjustments take place in the U.S., they are not likely to lead to any serious curtailment in sales of Canada's major export items to that country.

Referring to overseas markets, he said prospects of wheat sales "are reasonably good even though increased world supply is likely to bring reduction from the record export levels of the past two years."

Sales of other commodities overseas underwent some adjustment this year and the trade volume now appears "to be firmly based."

Stabilizing Influence

He said government defence expenditures and for other purposes should continue as a stabilizing influence.

To sum up, continuation of generally stable market conditions in the period ahead is indicated. It must be taken into account, of course, that capacities are expanding and larger outlets are necessary to absorb the increasing volume of production.

With the emergencies of increasingly competitive conditions on an international scale, marketing problems will be encountered in some industries. Mr. Howe notes that difficulties were experienced by the electric appliance, textile, farm implement and other industries. These illustrated the type of adjustment that cannot be avoided even during general prosperity.

Problems Unavoidable

He said there is no way of avoiding marketing problems "so long as we wish to enjoy the broader benefits to be derived from the free international exchange of goods."

Referring to international trade, he recalled that the member countries of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade have accepted Canada's suggestion for an extension of the life of the pact for 18 months.

The agreement then would be reviewed. Canada was particularly anxious for a review of provision that permits dollar-short countries to apply restrictions and "in certain circumstances to discriminate in such restrictions."

Mr. Howe's statement led off for the government as the throne speech debates entered its third week.

Reserves Shortage

The Opposition's military critic, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes (PC-Esqui-malt-Saanich) followed with the charge that army and RCAF forces are so weak they could not be relied on in an emergency. Reserve units were short of primary squadrons did not have the latest planes to train pilots for defence in modern warfare.

Thomas Barnett (CCF-Cornwall-Alberta) urged changes in the Election Act to make it easier for certain groups of workers such as fishermen and lumbermen to vote. The act stressed residence requirements rather than citizenship and some workers who moved from place to place were unable to vote.

Referring to the present British Columbia lumber strike, Mr. Barnett said some employers are "still living in the 19th century" in labor-management relations. Union demands had been criticized as unrealistic, but the unions were barred from factual information on which they could make reasonable requests.

Souris Blood Donor Clinic Very Successful

Under the energetic chairmanship of Mr. Bruce Stewart, 129 residents of Souris and the surrounding districts chucked up another admirable record for Blood Donor Clinics in the eastern Kings County centre last night. With the 84 donors secured in the afternoon at Morell, the day's objective of 200 was exceeded by 18 which is an encouraging beginning for the four days of Clinics to be held in the Province this week.

Much of the credit for the success of this Clinic goes to the Junior Ladies Aid of the Souris Hospital who did an outstanding piece of work in canvassing the town for donors and by those who did the canvassing in the adjoining districts. Almost 100% of the membership of this Ladies' Aid was on hand last night to help with the many tasks at the Clinic and made its operations very smooth in spite of the large number attending. Several boys who are members of the Junior Red Cross at Souris High School rendered outstanding assistance and special mention should be made of the work done by Mr. George Steele who has just recently returned from army service in Germany and who has not missed helping with Souris Blood Donor Clinics for a number of years.

If the Clinics to be held in the province during the next three days can keep pace with the record established at Souris the Island's objective will be assured by Thursday evening which will insure a sufficient supply of blood for patient requirements in our own hospitals and for the new gamma globulin project to help in fighting polio.

Morell Residents Make Good Showing

79 of the 84 donors who registered at the first of the four days of Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics held at Morell yesterday afternoon were from Morell itself with West St. Peter's, Bangor and Morell Rear providing the balance. 21 of these were new donors who reported for the first time while many of the 83 old donors received their third donation buttons.

Many willing volunteers were on hand to help the Mobile Team with the loading and unloading of the equipment. Members of the Women's Institute and the Catholic Women's League at Morell, assisted by several Junior Red Cross Volunteers from the school, made the Clinic a very pleasant one for all concerned by their efficient handling of the many jobs entailed in an undertaking of this kind. The Clinic was arranged and carried out under the capable chairmanship of Rev. Phelan McKenna, P.P. of Morell.

An increase of about 10 per cent compared with 1952. Up to Oct. 31, 2,329,534 tourists came to Canada, compared with 2,278,165 for 1952.

Tourists in 1952 spent $275,000,000 as against the 1949 record of $285,000,000. There is no estimate for this year.

However, Mr. Lesage and Mr. Dolan said competition for the American tourist dollar will be tougher in 1954.

Several provinces complained about lack of tourist accommodation in national parks, and Mr. Lesage said the problem will be investigated. Ralph B. Moore, deputy minister of economic affairs in Alberta, urged a greater number of resorts in national parks.

Then he ducked out and resumed working on papers for today's first cabinet meeting before the departure for the Bermuda conference to meet President Eisenhower and Premier Laniel. He will leave aboard the Stratocruiser Canopus at 11:15 p.m. (6:15 p.m. BST) and the plane will make a brief refuelling stop at Gander, Nfld., early Wednesday morning.

Monday night Churchill gathered with members of his family at the tables were Lady Churchill, daughter Diana and her husband, Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, daughter Mary and her husband, Christopher Soames, Churchill's private secretary.

A 50-pound "Nobel Prize" birthday cake with a 16-inch candle on top was brought in. The cake, which caterer Christopher Floris spent a year designing, is in the form of a circular bookshelf displaying candy models of the 35 books which won Churchill the Nobel Prize for literature earlier this year.

At the bottom of the candle was a small chocolate model of Rufus, Churchill's poodle, barking at a black cat atop the candle.

After dinner Churchill and the family joined other relatives and friends for a reception at which he cut the cake. Then he retired for more work.

Mr. Lesage suggested the conference be called by the tourist association.

Mr. Lesage said that tourists entering Canada this year will show

St. Andrew's Day

Shaw who then introduced the chief speaker. Major MacLeod made his opening remarks in Gaelic and expressed his thanks to the Club for the invitation to speak on the occasion of Saint Andrew's Day. Major MacLeod made a departure from the usual trend of speaking on Saint Andrew's Day, that is, of lauding Scotland and Scotsmen. Rather he took his listeners through a period of "stock-taking" and pertinent questioning. "Are we accommodating ourselves, and our culture to the modernistic needs of the present day, but still retaining our traditional authenticity and mingled progressive thought with action?" asked the speaker.

"It is abundantly clear that the only way to maintain Gaelic as a living language is to keep the people out of the towns, and the only way to do that is to give them some work to do in the country, in other words, if the economic pattern disintegrates in the Highlands so will the Gaelic," said Major MacLeod. Major MacLeod went on to explain the purpose of the Mod which is fourfold. 1. To encourage and promote the teaching and use of the Gaelic language; 2. The study and cultivation of Gaelic literature and art; 3. The preservation of the old industries of the Highlands of Scotland and the wearing of the Highland dress. He dwelt at some length describing the National Mod which he attended this summer in Oban, Scotland and at which he was one of the sincerity catalysts. He observed that the competitors engaged in the various competitions and went on to explain that each evening ended up with a Ceilidh in which neighborly discussions went on until far into the night.

The speaker saw a definite connection between the survival of the Gaelic language and the economic conditions as they exist in the Highlands today. The lack of industries in these parts has caused an exodus of young people to the City where their traditions and native tongue are soon forgotten.

Hon. A. W. Matheson, in tendering a vote of thanks, congratulated the executive of the Caledonian Club upon their being able to secure a speaker of such high calibre as Mr. MacLeod. He told the Mod that he hoped that he would see it to return to the Island in the not too distant future.

During the course of the evening congratulatory messages were received from various Scotch organizations which included the Montreal, N.B.; Halifax, N.S.; Blacks Harbor, N.B.; The Caledonian Society of Cape Breton; Dartmouth, N.S.; Antigonish, N.S.; Buenos Aires, Montreal, Charlottetown, South Carolina; Restigouche, N.B.; Regina, Sask.; Vancouver, Hamilton and Toronto. In addition to these personal messages were received from Clansman W. R. MacKenzie of Saint Anne's Mod, Cape Breton and from Clansman Angus MacLean, M.P., of Ottawa.

Heather for the occasion was supplied by Miss Harriet Donaldson of Paisley, Scotland.

Clansman Malcolm MacKinnon made the address to the Haggis and a most enjoyable programme was carried out during the dinner. Pipe selections by the Lads' and Lasses' Band were warmly applauded and two numbers by the Brooklyn Trio were enthusiastically encored.

The Misses Duvar, Ross, Henry and Haywood, pupils of Mrs. Evelyn MacKinnon were seen in a broad sword dance and a four hand reel. These two numbers were heartily encored.

Mr. Bruce MacLaren was the accompanist. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save The Queen.

Married 50 Years Ago

Photographed above cutting their anniversary cake are Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy, Murray Harbour North, on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary, October 28. The celebration was attended by all members of their family including their grandchildren. The celebration took place in their gaily decorated home, where Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were presented with lovely gifts from their family and also tokens of esteem from the residents of their community in which they reside. An evening of happy reunion with their family and friends will long be remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

Official Opening Of New Montague School Today

3:30 p.m. today will mark the official opening of the new High School at Montague which was erected during the last year to accommodate the growing student enrolment. Taking part in the official opening ceremony will be Premier A. W. Matheson, Hon. Keir Clark, Minister of Education, and Dr. L. W. Shaw, deputy minister and director of education. Mr. S. S. Hessian, Q.C., will preside as chairman.

Since 1942 there has been a steady increase in student enrolment at Montague, eventually resulting in the opening of three rooms in the basement of the old school, but before long these, too, were no longer sufficient so that accommodations for two classrooms had to be found elsewhere. In view of this acute situation, the board of trustees and interested citizens of the school district determined on the erection of a new school to provide classroom space. Occupying the new building will be grades seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, and twelve, which, it is expected, will begin next year. The elementary six grades will continue to occupy the old school which was built about 1925, at which time only five rooms were in use, the sixth being used as the Women's Institute meeting room. The Institute relinquished this room to provide space for the new grade eleven which commenced in 1936, and since that time there has been such a steady increase in the number of students that the need for another school has been apparent for some time.

Following the decision to erect a new school at the last annual meeting, several trips were made by members of the trustees to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to view the new modern schools which are being built there. Eventually the type required was determined, plans were acquired, and Mr. William Whiteaway of Murray River was engaged to construct the building.

Located at the north end of the Community Welfare League ground, the school presents a fine picture in harmony with the general landscape. It is graceful, commodious, well-lighted, well-heated and comfortable. The main street adjacent to it was paved this year, and it is understood that next year the surrounding area will be landscaped.

Aviation Industry Having Big Year

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's aviation industry is expected to gross more than $400,000,000 this year, only $45,000,000 less than the war-time peak attained in 1944.

This was disclosed Monday in the Air Industry and Transport Association's official publication. At
