Bank Chairman Sees Steps To Socialism In Canada

TORONTO (CP)—The chairman of the Bank of Montreal said Monday the federal government has taken a pronounced step in the direction of state socialism with its pension plan and the proposed Canada Development Corp.

G. Arnold Hart told the 94th annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association that the two measures represent a "massive shift" in control of savings into the hands of the government.

Speaking with Industry Minister Drury sitting on the same panel eiscussion "the critical path of progress," Mr. Hart said both the pension plan and the proposed CDC could interfere with the working of Canada's present financial system.

He said the system now provides a market place "in which borrowers have to compete with one another for the funds they require and lenders can obtain a return on their funds which correspondents to the value placed on them in a free market."

"The market process, moreover, provides the community with a means of determining which forms of investment it will support with its savings"

EXPRESSES ALARM

He expressed "considerable alarm" about the potential effects of both the pension plan and the development corporation.

Mr. Drury, speaking on the role of technology in economic growth, said Canadian industry should triple its research and development spending "if our manufactured goods are going to compete successfully in world markets."

Describing technological tnment as the great force in economic growth, the minister said this spending is just as important to competitive survival as capital investment in new plants or equipment.

"New discoveries afford wider opportunities for investment and generate greater productivity and thus provide the real seeds for the long-term expansion of firms, industries and nations."

Mr. Hart told the delegates there are two issues about the way the pension plan funds will be employed.

First was how they would be allocated between the public and private sectors of the economy and how they would be used. Secondly, the competition for the savings and the investment decisions to be made about using them would not be subject to the normal market tests.

"This is not to suggest that the needs of the public sector are necessarily any less urgent than those of the private sector.
