

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ALFRED J. CAIRNS

The death occurred at the home of her brother Martin J. McCarthy, St. Mary's Road, of Mrs. Alfred J. Cairns, of Greenfield, in her 44th year.

The deceased had been in apparently good health until November 25th when she suddenly took ill. Her condition was not at first thought to be serious and it was hoped that she would soon recover, but other symptoms developed which indicated she was seriously ill.

She was then rushed to the Neurological Institute, Montreal, where an operation was performed. This operation at first seemed successful and she then returned to the King's County Memorial Hospital where she remained, convalescing.

After returning to the home of her brother in St. Mary's Road she again suffered a relapse of the illness and despite the best medical skill and kind nursing she became weaker and on March 19th finally passed to her eternal reward.

The deceased was a woman of fine christian character, always willing and anxious to help those in distress and in time of sorrow. Hers was a life of sacrifice for others, especially in caring for the sick members of her own family and other neighbours as well.

She was a faithful member of the Catholic Church and was attended in her spiritual needs frequently by Rev. J. W. McCordie who administered the last rites to her a few days before she died.

She leaves to mourn her passing besides her husband, the following brothers and sisters: Martin J. at St. Mary's Road; Daniel in Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. J. Ernest McTague, Charlottetown; Mrs. John Rogers, Cambridge, Mass.; Mrs. Norman Christian, Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. John Stewart, Caledonia; Mrs. Archie McKearney, Attleboro, Mass. An infant daughter predeceased her eight years ago.

The funeral which was largely attended despite the bad condition of the roads, was held from the home of her brother Martin to St. Mary's Church, Montague, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. W. McCordie. The interment was in the church cemetery. The pall bearers were: John McCarthy, Louis Cairns, Raymond Murphy, Raymond Gormley, Brian McCarron, and James Daley.

The following is the list of wreaths, Mass cards, messages of sympathy, and spiritual bouquets.

Wreaths: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kappel, Hamden, Conn.; Mr. Peter Cairns and Mary Cairns, Montreal.

Strange But True

By F. H. MacArthur

In the Philippine Islands a certain part of the dower is paid to the intended wife after the liberty of conversing with her; and the balance upon consummation.

George Watson, who lived in England in 1785, had such a remarkable memory that he could tell the kind of weather for each day, going back twenty years. He could name every town in England, the number of churches, public-houses, etc. in each. Yet this remarkable person could neither read nor write.

I know a chap who went courting his gal the distance of three miles every evening for fourteen years, besides taking her home after church. Sunday afternoons, walking in all, some 16,000 miles. For seven years he never entered the girl's home but did his lovey-dovey stuff on the back-porch. Finally, he got up enough courage to hang his hat on a peg in the hall and sit in the kitchen. The pair—Robert and Sunie, were married in their "sear and yellow leaf." They had no family to disturb their slumber; and, in spite of their long, cool, and delicate courtship, they were not happy.

There is a custom still observed in rural England called "Divination by flowers." Two flowers that have not blossomed are paired and put by themselves—as many pairs as there are sweet-hearts in the party. The initials of their names are attached to the stems, and they placed in a room.

If, after ten days, any flower twines the other, it is settled as a match. If any flower twines a contrary, it indicates a want of affection. If any flower blossoms it donates early offspring. If any dies suddenly, it is a token of the party's death; if any flower droops its head, sickness is indicated. The very nature of flowers is to do all these things already mentioned, yet their influence on rural folk is considerable.

The life span of bees ranges from three weeks to eight months. "The average length of life of industrial workers increased from 65.6 years in 1946 to 68.3 years in 1951. And since 1930 the gain has been more than ten years, and since 1911 more than 21 years.

From 1946 to 1951 the death rate from T.B. dropped forty per cent, reaching an all time low of 18.8 per 100,000 at ages one to seventy-four. For the same period deaths from the flu and pneumonia was cut in two, and the principal communicable diseases of childhood dropped three-quarters.

This longer life is credited to new medical and surgical advances; extension of public health service; and a marked rise in the

South Rustico and Vicinity

Charlottetown only a few months ago. A prosperous farmer, Mr. Bulman was respected by all.

Mr. Ernest Gallant and Mr. Stephen Gallant left recently for Labrador where they will be employed.

Miss Theresa Paquet, Moncton, N. B., spent the Easter holidays visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Paquet, and her uncle, Rev. J. C. Peters.

Despite the very bad condition of the roads, the parishioners of St. Augustin's Church faithfully attended the morning and evening services during Holy Week.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Camille Gallant which occurred in Chelsea, Mass., recently. Mr. Gallant was formerly a popular merchant of Oyster Bed Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dolron, formerly of Moncton, N. B., and Toronto, Ontario, have been spending the winter months with Mr. Dolron's father, Jeremiah Dolron and his brother, Urban.

Mr. Edward Blanchard, Charlottetown, spent his Easter holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus Blanchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gallant, who spent the winter in Saint John, N. B., have returned to their home at Oyster Bed Bridge.

Mr. John I. Gallant who was in the Charlottetown Hospital suffering from pneumonia, has returned home somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar DeRoche, Summerside, are spending a holiday in Rustico with relatives. Mr. DeRoche is with the R.C.A.F.

Miss Helen Gallant, teacher at Stella Maris School, North Rustico, is spending the Easter holidays at her home at Oyster Bed Bridge.

Mr. Cyril Gallant, well known carpenter of Oyster Bed Bridge, is going to Halifax where it is expected he will undergo an operation in one of the hospitals.

The Misses Marie and Margaret Hagen spent the Easter holidays at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hagen. Marie and Margaret are students at Notre Dame Academy, Charlottetown.

Young folks of South Rustico and surrounding districts enjoyed a dance in the parish hall on Easter Monday night. A perfect floor and the music of the Charlottetownians assures those who like to trip the light fantastic, a very pleasant evening at the weekly dances.

The sympathy of the community is being extended to the widow and family of Mr. Ernest Bulman who died in Charlottetown on April 12th. Mr. Bulman was a lifelong resident of Rustico, having moved with Mrs. Bulman to

Judge Says Adults Set Bad Examples

Winnipeg, April 17—(CP)—A Winnipeg Judge says there are too many homes in which parents, while "preaching little sermons on what is right and wrong," nevertheless set examples which tend to make liars and thieves out of the children.

Judge Emerson J. Heaney says boys and girls always watch the example set by adults. "How many parents have crossed the international border and not declared everything to the customs?" He asked. "How many have filed income tax returns and cut corners?" or used old street-car transfers instead of putting a dime in the box?

These may be commonplace things, but children watch every move, he said. "As children are trained, so they will act."

Judge Heaney cites as an example the mother who tells her daughter "Let's keep this secret from your father," when she does something which her husband will not approve.

"That mother is training her daughter to deceive her future husband," the judge says.

Young people are quick to recognize the insincerity of adults. "It is not what you say, but what you do that counts. What you do makes so much noise that young people can't hear what you say."
