Angus Breeding Stock Sale Stated Here Nov. 2

Invitations are being sent out to every known Angus breeder in the Maritime Provinces for the sale of 86 Angus breeding cattle from Ontario and Prince Edward Island here Friday, Nov. 2. It was learned last night from John Kenny, Charlottetown, secretary, P.E.I. Angus Breeders Association.

The sale will be held at the Coliseum, provincial exhibition grounds, and will get underway at 11 a.m. A barbecue of Angus beef is expected to be held the previous evening at the Parkdale Hall.

P.E.I. AND ONT.
Six bulls and 16 females are being consigned from some of the best herds from this province, and four bulls and 60 females are being consigned by some of the top Ontario breeders. E. P. Taylor's Winfield farm, Tom Jackson, Cookeville and Malcolm Bailey, Cambridge, Ont., are some of those sending cattle to the sale.

Hess Bailey who took an exhibit of Ontario Angus cattle to Prairie shows, and is highly rated as a filler and showman, will give a demonstration Friday morning, Nov. 2 on how to prepare animals for a show and how to exhibit them in the ring.

FASTEST GROWING
Claimed by breeders here to be the fastest growing cattle association in the province, Mr. Kenny said last night he has the names of 18 Island men who are listed as Angus breeders now. There were just over 40 breeders listed at the annual meeting less than 10 months ago, and that number had ballooned from the seven or eight breeders in the province a few years ago.

The cattle on sale will be classified into three or four grades by independent Angus men from Nova Scotia, to help prospective buyers get a line.

Also presented a scrapbook and the Boates trophy for efficiency to Mr. Cudmore. This is the fifth time the Charlottetown club has captured the trophy while the scrapbook has been judged the best in District Seven, which takes in all four Atlantic Provinces.

It was announced that this year the Kinsmen Halloween party would be held in Birchwood High School.

Mayor A. W. Gaudet, a past president, spoke to the group on "Kinship."

Congregation Of Trinity UC To Mark 153rd Anniversary

Trinity United Church will celebrate its 153rd anniversary of the founding of the congregation and the 86th anniversary of the building of the present church, this Sunday.

The guest speaker at the special Sunday services will be Rev. G. A. A. Beveridge, B.A., of St. Andrew's United Church, Sydney, N.S. He is a graduate of Pine Hill Divinity Hall and this year gave the devotional address at the Whitey Conference on Evangelism. There will be special music and the soloist will be Miss Mada Rogerson.

The history of Trinity Church goes back to the early days of settlement in the area. The first Methodist church was on Prince Edward Island, when men like Benjamin Chappell in 1778 and Joseph Avard in 1806 held services in their homes. At the invitation of Mr. Chappell, Rev. William Beck of Nova Scotia came to Charlottetown in October 1792 and in 1807 Rev. James Pughit became the first resident Methodist minister.

The most cordial relationship existed among the governor, the rector of the Church of England, and the Methodist and services were held in the Court House. A congregation was formed about 1835 years ago and a building site purchased and a chapel erected.

Later in 1863 the present building on Prince Street was built and known as the Wesleyan Chapel but affectionately known as the "Brick Church".

In 1857 a second circuit was established and Grace Church was built on Upper Prince Street and continued until 1918 when it united with what had been the First Methodist at the "Brick Church". Rev. F. H. Littlejohn who was minister at Grace Church at the time is now retired and a member of Trinity Session.

In 1925 when the union of Congregationalist, Methodist and a majority of Presbyterian churches took place in Canada, "Trinity" became one of the largest and most influential congregations of the United Church of Canada. Since those early days a long line of distinguished men served in Trinity.

Changes Rumored Due In Ch'town Police Dept.

By RALPH CAMERON
Guardian - Patriot Staff Writer
Sweeping changes in the Charlottetown Police Department may be made before the end of this year, according to reports rampant in the city at present.

They involve the retirement on pension of the present chief, Charles MacArthur; naming of a new chief, and naming of a deputy chief, whose primary function would be traffic control.

Expected to be named to the post as chief of police is the present deputy-chief, Strens Webster, veteran member of the force. Assuming the post of deputy-chief in charge of traffic is expected to be the present staff-sergeant A.J. Gus Dowling, who now heads the traffic squad.

The reports could not be confirmed yesterday in the absence from the city of Coun. William MacNeill, who is chairman of the police committee and council spokesman on police matters.

Coun. H.E. Hyndman, chairman of finance, in a statement last night said: "With reference to the article in the Patriot of Oct. 18 regarding changes in personnel of the City Police Department, I am astounded that a report of this nature would be published before being discussed and finalized by the City Council."

PLANNED TO RETIRE
However, as long ago as late last year Chief MacArthur has said he expected to retire "sometime next year."

Efforts to confirm the reports this morning were unavailing as Mayor A. W. Gaudet refused comment in the absence of Coun. MacNeill, and no one at City Hall was talking.

But if confirmation was unobtainable, at least none of the authorities approached would flatly deny the truth of the reports.

Legion Lets Subcontract

At a meeting of the building committee of the Charlottetown branch, Royal Canadian Legion, last night it was reported that work on the erection of the new home on Rochford Street is progressing favorably.

The report indicated that all the footings have been poured, along with a large percentage of the foundation.

The committee has let a sub-contract for the installation of the heating, plumbing, and ventilation services to Bevan Bros. Ltd., of Charlottetown, who submitted a bid of $2,983.

The sub-contract for electrical installations will be let for another two weeks.
