JUNE 30, 1887.

The New Departure.
The old Grit Free Trade cry, it appears, is to be abandoned. Mr. Blake, the ex-leader, in his manifesto in 1882 declared that Free Trade is an "impossibility," but his faithful benches down here by the sea still kept up the cry. And now it is commercial union with the United States they want. Mr. Davies has said so to a New York newspaper correspondent. He was not the first, however, to go in for it; for did not the Grit philosophers of our Legislative Council decide in favor of commercial union months ago. Strange decision this for such ardent apostles of Free Trade. Has it never occurred to them that the United States is a high protection country, and if we join the great Republic we must throw aside all Free Trade doctrines and sentimentalities and become out and out Protectionists. We are used to hearing at election times a great deal of cheap talk about Free Trade from the Oppositionists; but it seems we are to have none of it in the future. Commercial union with protectionist United States is to be substituted for Free Trade theories. But, before the next election, something else may be thought of that will take better than either. There is one thing certain. The Grits have no settled policy and never had.

The Jubilee in New York
The British electricians in New York celebrated the Jubilee of Queen Victoria's accession and of the establishment of the telegraph in England by Wheatstone on June 20 by a dinner. A special menu was printed for the occasion, having as a frontispiece a design, the framework of which was a cable. In two medallions were portraits of the Queen and of Wheatstone. The English and American flags were shown entwined. On the other pages were various quotations accompanying the menu, and the words of a song written for the occasion: "England is where Britons be." At 7.30 p. m., fifty gentlemen sat down to dinner in a room gayly decorated with flags, and about 9 speech-making began, all the toasts being received with musical honors.
The health of the Queen, the President and Mrs. Cleveland, "The Jubilee of the Telegraph in England," "The land we live in," "Our profession," "Absent friends," "Our American friends" and "The chairman." The musical part of the programme was most successfully carried out. During the evening several letters and telegrams were received and read. A cable from Sir William Thomson from Glasgow; Mr. W. H. Preece, Chief Electrician Government Telegraph, London; Mr. Thomas D. Lockwood, Boston; the officers and staff of the C. & S. A. Telegraph Co.; the West Coast of America Co. and others. Auld Lang Syne was sung by the whole company, and the dinner began and closed with "God save the Queen."

Boston Markets.
Boston, June 25.
EGGS—The market has ruled easier the past few days, but prices are without material change. Sales of Eastern extras at 16c; and Western and Provincial at 15 to 15 1/2c per dozen.
POTATOES—The market for old potatoes is demoralized and prices are for the moment nominal. Sales range from 40 to 60c per bushel.
FISH—Mackerel continues in light receipt and prices are firmer, particularly on medium 3s, which are in good demand. Sales in fare lots have been made in at $8 and $8.52 per bbl, sea packed. Large 3s are rather slow and $8.75 and $9 is a full quotation.

Give Them a Chance!
That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.
When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.
Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.
