CHINESE COMMUNISTS ROLL AHEAD IN HUGE OFFENSIVE

Russia Replies To Proposals For Conference

India-Pakistan Rift Poses Serious Threat At Commonwealth Parley

LONDON, Jan. 1 — (CP) — An old quarrel between India and Pakistan threatened tonight a full-scale crisis in the Commonwealth and an even more serious split in the non-Communist front facing Communist China.

Press dispatches from Karachi said Pakistan's Premier Liaquat Ali Khan will boycott a conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers, assembling here for important defence talks, unless he can bring up his dispute with India over the princely northern state of Kashmir.

Officials of all nine countries invited to take part in the talks were clearly concerned. Some of them observed that if Pakistan does boycott the conference, it will be the first such rift on record in the Commonwealth.

Britain was reliably reported to oppose Pakistan's demand to discuss the status of Kashmir.

Strong forces from Moslem Pakistan and Hindu India have been facing each other in the mountainous land of legend since 1948 when fighting broke out. A cease-fire has been in force while the United Nations sought agreement on a plebiscite.

Dangerous Precedent

Accepting the Pakistani demand would create a danger-packed precedent, Commonwealth officials believed.

India, for instance, could then demand that the Commonwealth leaders allow her to bring formal complaint against color-conscious South Africa over the treatment of Indians there.

South Africa, in turn, could call for a discussion of her claims to three British-ruled protectorates in Africa which this country does not want to part with.

India claims that Kashmir is an internal dispute which affects only herself and Pakistan.

Prime Minister Attlee is expected to try hard behind the scenes for an Indian-Pakistani reconciliation.

Britain feels Asian powers should lead the fight against Communism in that part of the world. But if like-minded nations keep quarrelling among themselves, as India and Pakistan are doing, all of Asia will be exposed dangerously to Russian and Chinese Communism, British officials think.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — (AP) — The Census Bureau today estimated the population of the United States at 152,340,000. The 1950 census, taken as of April 1, recorded 150,697,361.

Boy Scouts Ass'n. Launches 3-Year Development Plan

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 — (CP) — The Boy Scouts Association has launched a three-year plan for the further development of Canadian scouting.

Jackson Dodds (above) of Montreal, deputy chief scout for Canada, in making the announcement, outlined the program, to be known as "Plan Achievement."

It calls for active participation by the 115,000 members of the association in Canada and requires every cub pack, scout troop and rover crew to set targets of accomplishment for themselves. It is a challenge to the boys and leaders to "help themselves" to make progress in scouting.

The Association headquarters in Ottawa has distributed a 16-page booklet on the program to all members of the Association in which it lists targets for cubs, rovers and scouts.

The booklet urges cubs to have at least 25 per cent of their packs two-star cubs with a similar percentage of their meetings to be held out-of-doors.

Scouts are asked to set 25 per cent of their troop first class scouts as their target with every scout to complete the minimum of 14 days camping and hiking standard each year.

Rover targets during the three-year program include completing at least 14 days' camping and hiking each year with at least one rover in each crew to earn the Ramblers badge each year.

The second Canadian jamboree in 1953 will mark the official conclusion of the "plan achievement" program.

Prime Minister Reaches Britain

ST. EVAL AIRPORT, Cornwall, England, Jan. 1 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived in Britain today to attend the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference opening Thursday at London.

The R.C.A.F. plane which carried the Prime Minister from Ottawa was forced to land at this west coast R.A.F. field when fog and snow diverted it from London Airport. An official welcoming party including L. Dana Wilgress, Canada's High Commissioner in London, had been waiting at the London field.

Western Powers Disagree On Interpretation

LONDON, Jan. 1—(CP)— Russia tonight replied to Western proposals for a Big-Four conference to ease international tensions. The Western recipients of the note were divided on whether it was an acceptance.

Britain and France considered it an agreement to meet and try to iron out East-West differences.

The United States called it a much-qualified reply and said it fell far short of acceptance.

Reports from diplomatic sources in the two European capitals said Russia told the Western Powers she is ready to accept a Western suggestion that deputies of the Big Four should meet to lay down a broad agenda for a conference of the Foreign Ministers Council on main East-West quarrels.

Dramatic Move

The Russian note was delivered to the three in a dramatic year-end move at midnight, Moscow time, Sunday.

Sources in Washington, however, said a rundown of the requests Russia included in the note disclosed a number which previously have been unacceptable to the U. S.

Diplomatic informants there conceded that Moscow had not closed out the possibility of high-level talks. The note was taken to mean that Russia is not prepared for an unqualified discussion of the many galling points of friction between the Western democracies and the totalitarian Soviet system.

The text of the Russian note was not made public and the State Department press officer Michael J. McDermott, said there were no plans to release it from Washington.

In London, however, some details of the communication were reported by diplomatic sources. These included a number of Russian "requests" in connection with the proposed sessions which the diplomat conceded the West might not be willing to accept.

1. Acceptance of the Prague declaration, which served notice that the Communist-led countries of Eastern Europe will not tolerate rearmament of Western Germany.

2. That the Western Powers take no binding decisions on the arming of Western Germany in advance of the proposed Big-Four talks.

A third point concerned Western charges that Russia has created a German army in the Soviet zone.

In addition, any discussion of the explosive situation in the Far East appeared to be ruled out by the Russian note. She took the stand that Communist China should be represented at any such talks.

Soviet Officer May Be Directing Red Offensive

By STAN SWINTON

TOKYO, Jan. 1 — (AP) — Soviet Marshal Grigori K. Zhukov may be masterminding the Communists' new Korean offensive from a joint Chinese-Russian headquarters in Mukden, Manchuria.

This correspondent has learned on high authority that the existence of such a headquarters was reported to American intelligence on or before Dec. 24. The informant was officially rated as "a reliable source."

According to this information, Zhukov, the Second World War conqueror of Berlin, is supreme commander at the Mukden headquarters.

Gen. Lin Piao, commander of the Chinese Red 4th Field Army, is named as Zhukov's deputy.

From another and less trusted source, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters has heard reports that Soviet Col.-Gen. O Ha Muk may may soon be appointed supreme commander of the Korean Red army. Less credence is placed in this report than in the one concerning Zhukov.

O Ha Muk is of Korean descent but is a Soviet citizen. Large numbers of Koreans moved into Russian border areas early this century During the Soviet purges of the mid-thirties, most of them are believed to have been moved deep inside Soviet territory.

Zhukov's presence in Mukden, if confirmed, would mean that Stalin has lent the Chinese perhaps his greatest field commander of the Second World War.

Once a Czarist army man, Zhukov served with Bolshevik forces in 1917-18. He became chief-of-staff in 1941. In that year he conducted the defence of Moscow against the Germans and became commander-in-chief on the central front.

He was named Vice-Commissar of Defence in 1942, and thereafter was responsible for offensives that broke the sieges of Stalingrad and Leningrad and conquered Berlin.

U. K., Canada Disagree On New Bacon Contract

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 —(CP)—Canada and the United Kingdom have failed to reach agreement on a new 1951 bacon contract. It is the first disagreement in 10 years of bilateral bacon negotiations.

However, the lack of a contract is not expected to cause many problems for Canada. Demand for bacon in this country has been so great that the government has been unable to fill Anglo-Canadian contracts in the last two years.

Price Not High Enough

Agricultural Minister Gardiner, in a statement Saturday, placed the cause of failure at Britain's doorstep. Britain's price, he said, of 29 cents a pound for Grade A Wiltshire sides was not high enough to attract Canadian sellers.

Nevertheless, the government in 1951 will continue to offer to buy bacon at 32 1-2 cents a pound—the basic 1950 support price.

If the government succeeds in obtaining any support—and Mr. Gardiner believed no "important quantities" would be obtained—these will be made available to Britain or any other country "at prices to be agreed upon."

Britain's offer of 29 cents a pound was the same she made under the 1950 contract. But she agreed to buy 130,000,000 pounds in 1951, more than double the 60,000,000 pounds ordered in 1950.

However, even though the government in 1950 subsidized shipments with a payment of 3 1-2 cents a pound, and later increased this to 4 3-4 cents, it was unable to obtain enough bacon to fill the contract.

King's Honors List Headed By Sir Stafford Cripps

LONDON, Jan. 1 — Sir Stafford Cripps, who wrecked his health in his efforts to solve Britain's economic problems, has been awarded one of the most select honors the King can bestow.

The former Chancellor of the Exchequer — popularly know as Mr. Austerity — was created a Companion of Honor in the King's New Year Honors List published today.

The Order, which carries no title, is limited to 65 members. It also was awarded today to Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia.

Also on today's honors list is Ninette de Valois, director of the Sadlers Wells Ballet, now winding up its second dollar-earning tour of the United States and Canada. She now may call herself "Dame" (of the Order of the British Em-

Gain Up To 13 Miles In Push On Seoul

Serious Situation Begins To Develop For U. N. Forces.

By Robert Eunson

TOKYO, Jan. 2 —(Tuesday) — (AP)—Chinese Red hordes have driven a third of the way from the 38th parallel to Seoul, a field dispatch reported today. This suggested an advance of about 13 miles.

The big offensive, launched New Year's eve, threatened to "split the western front wide open," the dispatch said.

Some Chinese advance elements were within 20 miles of Seoul.

A South Korean division was over-run and United Nations forces on its flanks had to pull back at the outset of the big push.

"Allied forces defending Seoul today retreated from the 38th parallel," said AP correspondent John Randolph in his dispatch filed from the front north of the menaced South Korean capital.

Seoul, deserted by two-thirds of its more than 1,000,000 inhabitants, is 35 air miles south of the 38th parallel.

Randolph reported heavy fighting throughout New Year's night north of Seoul as hard-hit South Korean troops tried to contain the enemy.

Advance Slowed

But he said the Chinese today did not renew in full force the onslaught they loosed at 7 p. m. New Year's eve. The long-awaited offensive was slowed by 3 a. m. New Year's Day.

Randolph identified for the first time the veteran South Korean 1st Division as the U. N. force which was shattered and overrun at the outset of the offensive by 200,000 Chinese and 85,000 North Koreans.

That sledge-hammer blow fell 25 miles north of Seoul.

A small Chinese column then punched through the exposed point, wheeled east and attacked an American division.

The 150-mile defence line roughly follows the 38th parallel.

Huge Chinese Losses

Chinese losses were huge. The first waves threw themselves on land mines and exploded them. Succeeding waves advanced over piles of dead.

Once past the minefields, the Reds ran into barbed wire. The first waves carried straw-filled sacks. They threw these on the wires, lay down on them and then formed a living bridge for succeeding waves to walk over.

Besides an estimated 120,000 Chinese and 85,000 North Korean troops in the assault force, the Reds marshalled more than 120,000 Chinese veterans in immediate reserve. Back of these were 1,000,000 more troops in the North Korean hinterland and Manchuria.

The long-expected red blow at United Nation forces defending the 38th parallel began with a blare of bugles in the cold, black hours of New Year's eve.

By morning one veteran division of the U.S. Eighth Army had been smashed clear out of the line and another was forced to fall back.

Chinese soldiers were seen on the roads near Uijongbu, 12 miles north of the capital. Uijongbu proved to be the key to Seoul when invaders from the Red north entered the Republican south last June 25 to open the bloody Korean war.

The present massive Chinese Red assault first developed at Choksong, 10 miles west of the point where the Korean Reds struck last June. Choksong is 25 miles due north of Seoul and 10

Sombre Greeting For New Year In Many Parts Of The World

By The Canadian Press

Most of the world observed a sombre New Year's Day with the boom of the big guns of the Communist offensive in Korea resounding in capital cities around the globe. But the Red China capital of Peiping reported dancing in the streets.

On both sides of the iron curtain, official greeters of the New Year called for peace in 1951 but pointed accusing fingers at the other side as the parties responsible for the war tension.

The weather was mild throughout most of continental Europe, but in England it was frigid and cheerless. The blackness of night settled over London at noon-time. Snow fell. A new batch of rations and other restrictions helped hold the lid on the customary seasonal celebrations.

Across the Channel celebrations were more in keeping with tradition. Parisians drank champagne. West Berlin, undisturbed in its unique position behind the iron curtain, whooped it up in night clubs.

Both Europe and the United States pledged their peaceful intentions for 1951 but speeded their plans for rearmament. President Truman, working aboard his yacht Williamsburg on his state of the union message to Congress, said he hoped 1951 would "bring peace to the world." The U. S. Congress, in an unprecedented New Year's Day session, worked on emergency legislation.

Quieter Than Usual

In Canada, the celebration was quieter than usual.

Montreal's night spots were ordered closed by Premier Maurice Duplessis. As in Ottawa and other Canadian cities, most celebrating was done in house parties because of the Sunday.

Hotel dances opened at midnight in Saint John, N. B., and whistles and horns from the harbor greeted the New Year there and at Halifax. A heavy snowfall dampened the festivities at Halifax.

Throughout the west public parties started after midnight. Prairie weather was crisp, with some snowfall.

In Toronto theatres opened after midnight, but bars and clubs were closed.

Politics and war predominated the official messages sent out by world leaders.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of the First U. N. army ever assembled, told a Japan which has renounced war that it soon may have to rearm in self-defence.

If "international lawlessness" continues, the Allied occupation chief said, "it will become your duty within the principles of the United Nations, in concert with others who cherish freedom, to mount force to repel force."

Mystery Of Missing Stone Still Unsolved

LONDON, Jan. 1—(CP)— Hopeful police, alert for any tips that might uncover the stolen stone of Scone, watched thousands of grinning Scotsmen sing in the new year last night with special zest in jam-packed Picadilly Circus.

But the relic is still missing.

A Scot in full clan regalia—kilt swirling and Glengarry at a rakish angle—was cheered as he poised unsteadily at the foot of the famed Eros Statue in the centre of the great square.

A rocket zoomed skyward at the stroke of midnight. Scotsmen and Englishmen joined hands, bawled "Auld Lang Syne," and wished each other a happy new year.

Slashing rain a few minutes later drove the crowd to shelter. Not one incident was reported.

If hundreds of police in and around the square heard anything to clear up the "coronation stone mystery" there was no sign of it as dawn broke.

The 468-pound block of sandstone—symbol of Scottish greatness in the eyes of Scottish nationalists—was removed from Westminster Abbey Christmas morning.

Rewards totalling £1,500 ($4,200) are offered for anyone who can produce the tip that leads to the stone.

Wendy Wood, leader of the Scottish Patriots' Association, gave this New Year message today when asked to comment on the stone mystery:

"I hope it is the year in which Scotland will get her parliament. When she does she will be on more friendly terms with England and England will have wiped shame off her slate."

A full program has been mapped out for the conference, including several functions and a cooking demonstration for the wives of delegates in attendance. World Famous Gorilla Dies Of Heart Attack

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 —(AP) —The fabulous Bushman, a gorilla that awed and charmed millions, died today.

He died of a heart attack at the age of 22.

The news stunned Chicagoans. R. Marlin Perkins, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo, said "It's a great blow to us."

In 1946 the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums called Bushman "the outstanding animal of any zoo in the world and the most valuable."

To Chicagoans, Bushman was the most famous inhabitant of the city. He'd been here for 20 years, ever since he'd been captured in Africa, and many a citizen could give you the name of "the big monkey" quicker than he could name the mayor.

Three million persons saw him each year. Last summer, when he was ill of a heart ailment and arthritis, 120,000 persons crowded the zoo in one day to view him. Local newspapers ran banner headlines on his condition.

Perkins ordered the body—550 pounds, six feet two inches tall — removed to the Chicago Museum of Natural History for an autopsy.

Bushman's skin will be stuffed and probably kept at the museum, Perkins said. The zoo paid $3,500 for Bushman.

He lived and died a bachelor — "he probably wouldn't recognize another gorilla if he saw one," a zoo attendant said. In appearance, he was everything a gorilla should be—massive, fierce, ugly. But his disposition was gentle. He was strictly a vegetarian.

Report Quints Born In Siberia; Four Survive

LONDON, Jan. 1 — (Reuters)— Tass news agency said today quintuplets — four boys and a girl— have been born to a Siberian woman and four of them survive.

The four babies "are developing normally," Tass said. It was not known which of the five, born just before the New Year was rung in, had died.

The mother is Elena Skomkina, wife of a collective farmer at Uspenka near Barnhaul in the Altai region. The dispatch did not tell her age.

Local organizations and the collective farm administrators "are doing all they can to help the family," Tass said. Farmers and their wives working on the farm voted to hand over an entire house to the Skomkina family. They also granted a gift of money.

There have been many reports of the birth of quintuplets since the Dionne quintet was born in 1934 at Callander, Ont. Not all of these reports have been authenticated.

Argentina's Diligenti quintuplets, children of the millionaire businessman Vallotta De Diligenti, born July 15, 1943, when their mother was nearly 40, came into the world without a doctor in attendance.

A 28-year-old woman, identified by hospital records as Alberta Allen of Whitecastle, La., gave birth to four boys and a girl at New Orleans last June 27, but all died within four hours of birth.

Of quintuplets born at Agra, India, in April last year, one was dead and two did not survive.

Before the Dionne girls came along, the last recorded appearance of quintuplets had been at Lisbon in 1866, but the longest-lived of that group survived only two weeks.
