

KENNINGTON — About 75 teen-agers attended a New Year's party at the Royal Canadian Legion Home at Kennington Tuesday evening.

Eric Watson acted as master of ceremonies, and recorded music for dancing was furnished by Earle Crane. The party was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. J. MacLean and Rev. Ron Parsons assisted in chaperoning.

Spot prizes were won by Gary Champion and Juanita Davis; Sharon Campbell and Lyda Hunter, and the consolation prize went to Sharon Clark and Louis Champion.

Luna, Mrs. J. MacLean and Mrs. David L. McInnis. About eleven o'clock hats, dresses and noise makers were given out, and the teen agers gave a good demonstration on skating in the New Year.

After eleven o'clock hats, dresses and noise makers were given out, and the teen agers gave a good demonstration on skating in the New Year.

They are fond of me, I think they may even love me. But I am not able to love them; I am fonder of small children. Can this be unconscious jealousy of their late mother, whom I never knew?

I like to think I am happy enough, loved enough and have so many good friends that there is no room in my heart for jealousy.

I blow my top at the boys from time to time and do a certain amount of nagging, having found no adequate substitute for training them in manners, cleanliness, etc. But mostly we live tranquilly.

As boys go, they are reasonably worthy, with faults and virtues. They get along well together and love and respect their father, facts that contribute much to our contented home life. Should I just accept the fact that one probably cannot take the place of another?

I feel the boys shouldn't take the comforts so much for granted. I came from a poorer home and, even so, my mother childed me for being unappreciative. I realize this is something you can't teach children; only later on life's road we appreciate our parents' efforts.

What counsel have you for me? Dear K.S.: If you have an unconscious quarrel with the boys' mother and I assume you do, inasmuch as you have introduced me to her, I probably because she produced the idea into your letter, it is these sons whom you feel compelled to care for as the price of maintaining their father's high regard for you.

I think what you resent in the situation described is a fact sense of obligation to put on a good show of maternal-type giving to youngsters who, by the nature of things, cannot repay you in equivalent coin, or in equal or greater measure.

As a matter of honor, and perhaps also of vanity, you feel that you have to be an Al stepmother and get good results that will be to your credit in order to make a continuing hit with your husband, your in-laws and watchful friends.

In the economy of nature, in fashioning the human species, the creative function of the mother includes the fostering the long-term welfare of the upcoming generations of children and grandchildren without begrudging reference to "what I get out of it." And according to your testimony, you aren't yet disposed to such self-giving.

In the past two years you would have much preferred to be simply a bride in a two-room domestic idyll with your spouse. This isn't an infamously sentimental actually; rather, it is a fairly common or garden variety of sponporic selfishness.

It may reassure you to know that even devoted, wholehearted mothers find their progeny most trying during the adolescent phase. Thus you've become a stepmother in the least propitious stage of the parent-child relationship.

It seems as though something lovely has been lost. "Remembered. And besides now we have a brand new year," Mack said. "I know, but, at the same time there's an emptiness, a loneliness, a feeling of loss."

"Watch out, Mack, don't make a mis-step there yet," James called, from the yard below. "There was a piece of nonsense putting them up there in the first place. You had been warned about the gatseep, wouldn't that have been just as good?"

"I wonder," James had reflected on his morning staid when he walks across the yard. "If he could take a man's place on the farm, he had to be a man. I was not so much older than he is? Could he have handled the single plow, the plowing in the potatoes, a d making the turnip drills? A d been worried about the sorghum and the grain and seeds? But even so, he remembered, a h t wasn't the most difficult part of the farming for me, because hard it was, I enjoyed it. It was the business of the farm that I disliked. For instance, going to town to market the pork, or for my matter to market anything! ... Poor little lad, he doesn't have any mind yet over the like of that. And he has to do so. Otherwise, it is putting too much responsibility on shoulders not ready for that's a guarantee. A knowledge of it - that's what I mean - is what I mean, as he looked back at his years that were young.

"Yes," Mack continued, reaching down a length of bright blue, "I'm always sorry to have the Season come to an end.

It seems as though something lovely has been lost. "Remembered. And besides now we have a brand new year," Mack said. "I know, but, at the same time there's an emptiness, a loneliness, a feeling of loss."

It seems as though something lovely has been lost. "Remembered. And besides now we have a brand new year," Mack said. "I know, but, at the same time there's an emptiness, a loneliness, a feeling of loss."

HAPPENINGS

Monday night's session of the Charlotteville Duplicate Bridge Club, held at the Charlotteville Hotel, drew 12 tables.

Next week will include the regular session on Monday night, plus individual tournaments on Wednesday night, Jan. 16.

J. L. Palmer and Mrs. R.S.P. Jardine led the east-west side Monday night, with Mrs. L. Duffy and Mrs. MacMillan in second spot.

Miss Marsha Welner has returned from a holiday in Halifax, N.S. where she is a sophomore student, after spending the yuletide season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Welner, Southport.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whalen and children, Dawn and Susan, returned from a trip to the weekend in Summerside, guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Whalen.

Mr. and Mrs. David Arnold returned from a holiday in Summerside, N.S. were recent visitors with relatives in Summerside.

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Murphy have returned to their home at Summerside after visiting relatives in Halifax, N.S.

Mrs. Harold MacDonald of Charlotteville spent some time in Summerside recently with members of her family.

Dr. and Mrs. Alan Stewart of Summerside returned to their home at Charlotteville after spending the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saunders of Digby, N.S.

Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Kelly, Summerside, have returned to their home at Charlotteville after visiting their son, Keith, Mrs. Kelly and family in Waterville, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Kenny of Summerside returned to their home at Charlotteville after spending the latter's sister Mrs. Harry Laphorn and daughter, Susan, of Charlotteville.

Mrs. George Waite has returned from a holiday in Montreal after spending the holiday season as guest of her brother, Mr. David Ulrich.

Mrs. S. a m u l l Dunning of Summerside returned to her home at Charlotteville after spending the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Dunning and Mrs. Dunning, Summerside.

Mr. and Mrs. L.H. MacFarlane, Summerside, had as their guests, their son, Mr. John Alan MacFarlane, and Mrs. MacFarlane of Moncton, N.S.

The Sharpe Unit of Summerside returned to their home at Charlotteville after spending the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Rackham; literature, Mrs. Alfred Stedman, Mrs. James Wark; press, Mrs. Leonard Lloyd; stewardship, Mrs. Lloyd Stedman, Mrs. Preston Rackham.

The meeting closed with the Benediction and a prayer served by the hostess and members of the committee in charge.

INDIAN RIVER VI The January meeting of the Indian River WI was held at the home of Reta Mann recently. The meeting was the usual in a n e n e and eleven members answered roll call with 1963 projects.

It was reported the sick and shut-ins and the school children had been remembered at Christmas. Members were given material for making a quilt and it was decided to hold the card parties. Plans were also made to hold a variety concert and a play and it was decided to make drapes for the windows at the school.

Health and welfare was the topic for the month and the guest speaker was Dr. Ziehl, who gave a very interesting talk on "Health of Body, Mind and Spirit, Go Together." The speaker was thanked by Lillian Hickey, convener for the month.

A historical contest was won by Helen Turner and following this a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Frances Campbell and Jean Noonan.

ALBERTON U. C. W. Alberton United Church Women's meeting for January was held in the church with Mrs. Fred Lloyd presiding.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH KNEEBONE

The best man was Mr. Harry Taylor. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Murphy chose a blue wool sheath dress with beige hat and accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Kneebone was wearing a pink and black silk gown with black velvet hat and black and white accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Rev. Francis P. Cunney, C.S.R., performed the double ceremony and the soloist, Miss Leah Darte sang "Mother At Your Feet We're Kneeling".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in her steeple crown with white frosted lace, featuring a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her hat was of gold satin and velvet, she carried a white prayerbook and her corsage was of white carnations.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Harry Taylor of Charlotteville. Mrs. Taylor was wearing a red velvet gown with a bouffant skirt and her feather headpiece was of white. She wore black satin accessories and her corsage was of carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for members of the immediate family and close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Jean Hanson, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception the young couple left on a honeymoon trip in the Maritimes. For travelling the bride chose a winter white sheath dress topped with a fur jacket and her accessories were in gold and brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Kneebone are residing at 15 Kensington Road in Charlotteville, where the ceremony was held at the home of the minister and Mrs. Cora Ling. Mrs. Ling was asked to purchase the wedding ring for the bride.

Out of town guests at the wedding were from Summerside, Norton, Springfield, Emerald and North Wilshire. (Photo by Bill Sherry)

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

Alberton WI Members Have January Meeting

ALBERTON — Mrs. C. H. Weeks, entertained the Alberton Women's Institute for its January meeting which was held with the creed and collect. It was reported to the meeting that fish and fowl had been received for the school pupils, that Chris-

PRINTED PATTERN

4926 2018 by Anne Adams by Alice Brooks

BUDGET-BRIGHT This pattern is soft, plumed cloche in jewel-bright turquoise, benzaline, linen or cotton — in the pattern, matching veil to a new outfit. Fun to make, wear-thrifty.

PRINTED PATTERN 4926 Misses' Head Sizes 21 1/2, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100.

JUMBO-KNIT HIT Choose a short or longer length for this corvise — jacket or top. Pattern includes matching jumbo-jacket that you can knit in a few sessions. Use 2 1/2 oz. and 3 oz. yarns. Pattern includes instructions for making a quilt for this pattern's 100 stamps, please to Alice Brooks, care of Guardian-Patriot Pattern Dept., 60 Front St. W., Toronto 1, Ont. Print mainly PATTERN NUMBER, NAME AND ADDRESS.

1963's Biggest Needlecraft Show stars 500 accessories — 4000 new Needlecraft Catalog! Plus over 360 fresh-to-you designs to knit, crochet, sew, weave, embroider, quilt, plus new patterns. Send 25 cents now!

FOUNDED UNIVERSITY James McGill, one of Canada's leading traders, was in 1813 leaving a large part of his estate to establish Montreal's McGill University.

MANJA SALOME KRYSCHIPPERS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Zeger C. Salome, North Bedeque, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Manja Marie, to Mr. Krys Schippers, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Schippers, Kamperland, Holland. Marriage will take place on January 19 at Bedeque United Church, Bedeque.

MARY HAWORTH Woman Finds Herself Unable To Love Stepsons

Dear Mary Haworth: I have been a stepmother for two years. My stepsons are teenagers. I enjoy my role as homemaker and my husband and I are very happy, but I have felt no natural growth of love for the boys.

They are fond of me, I think they may even love me. But I am not able to love them; I am fonder of small children. Can this be unconscious jealousy of their late mother, whom I never knew?

I like to think I am happy enough, loved enough and have so many good friends that there is no room in my heart for jealousy.

I blow my top at the boys from time to time and do a certain amount of nagging, having found no adequate substitute for training them in manners, cleanliness, etc. But mostly we live tranquilly.

As boys go, they are reasonably worthy, with faults and virtues. They get along well together and love and respect their father, facts that contribute much to our contented home life. Should I just accept the fact that one probably cannot take the place of another?

I feel the boys shouldn't take the comforts so much for granted. I came from a poorer home and, even so, my mother childed me for being unappreciative. I realize this is something you can't teach children; only later on life's road we appreciate our parents' efforts.

What counsel have you for me? Dear K.S.: If you have an unconscious quarrel with the boys' mother and I assume you do, inasmuch as you have introduced me to her, I probably because she produced the idea into your letter, it is these sons whom you feel compelled to care for as the price of maintaining their father's high regard for you.

I think what you resent in the situation described is a fact sense of obligation to put on a good show of maternal-type giving to youngsters who, by the nature of things, cannot repay you in equivalent coin, or in equal or greater measure.

As a matter of honor, and perhaps also of vanity, you feel that you have to be an Al stepmother and get good results that will be to your credit in order to make a continuing hit with your husband, your in-laws and watchful friends.

In the economy of nature, in fashioning the human species, the creative function of the mother includes the fostering the long-term welfare of the upcoming generations of children and grandchildren without begrudging reference to "what I get out of it." And according to your testimony, you aren't yet disposed to such self-giving.

In the past two years you would have much preferred to be simply a bride in a two-room domestic idyll with your spouse. This isn't an infamously sentimental actually; rather, it is a fairly common or garden variety of sponporic selfishness.

It may reassure you to know that even devoted, wholehearted mothers find their progeny most trying during the adolescent phase. Thus you've become a stepmother in the least propitious stage of the parent-child relationship.

It seems as though something lovely has been lost. "Remembered. And besides now we have a brand new year," Mack said. "I know, but, at the same time there's an emptiness, a loneliness, a feeling of loss."

"Watch out, Mack, don't make a mis-step there yet," James called, from the yard below. "There was a piece of nonsense putting them up there in the first place. You had been warned about the gatseep, wouldn't that have been just as good?"

"I wonder," James had reflected on his morning staid when he walks across the yard. "If he could take a man's place on the farm, he had to be a man. I was not so much older than he is? Could he have handled the single plow, the plowing in the potatoes, a d making the turnip drills? A d been worried about the sorghum and the grain and seeds? But even so, he remembered, a h t wasn't the most difficult part of the farming for me, because hard it was, I enjoyed it. It was the business of the farm that I disliked. For instance, going to town to market the pork, or for my matter to market anything! ... Poor little lad, he doesn't have any mind yet over the like of that. And he has to do so. Otherwise, it is putting too much responsibility on shoulders not ready for that's a guarantee. A knowledge of it - that's what I mean - is what I mean, as he looked back at his years that were young.

"Yes," Mack continued, reaching down a length of bright blue, "I'm always sorry to have the Season come to an end.

GEORGETOWN

Harry Yorton had as his recent guests, Rev. Nathan Mair of Port, and Mrs. Mair, and Mrs. Joan Mair and daughter Kirsten of Savererville, Que.

Miss Rosemary Rogers of Souris, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L.S. Batcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip MacEachern of Charlottetown, were recent guests of Mrs. MacEachern's father, Mr. J.F. Johnson, and Mrs. Joseph "Sonny" Johnson motored to the city on Friday.

Stephen DeLory of the CBC staff in Halifax, N.S., accompanied by his sister Miss Beatrice DeLory, laboratory technician of Halifax, N.S., arrived in the province Saturday and spent the weekend with Mr. DeLory's wife and family, and Miss DeLory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F.L. DeLory.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker, Charlottetown, were recent guests of Mr. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Walker, and Mrs. Miss M. Lavers, N.S., sustained painful injuries recently by a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McConnell and family, Charlottetown, visited friends and relatives in Georgetown.

POPULAR BLOOM

The poinsettia is also called the fireplant, Mexican flame leaf, Shepherdess and lobster plant in various countries.

FAMOUS FOR BRANDED INSPECTED STEAKS

ZAKEM'S MONEY BACK GOOD OR NOT

H. BENNETT CARR

Insurance Consulting Dist. Spt. Sem Life of Canada Phone 4-817 - 4-5433 Charlottetown, P.E.I.

"easy-does-it" PASSES GINGER COOKIES

THIS IS AN ICE-BOX RECIPE!

Don't worry if they disappear like magic. This is an ice-box recipe. Make a big, big batch of dough, roll it in wax paper and then bake 'em as you need 'em. Yes, Easy-Does-It with these New Molasses-Ginger cookies.

One cup shortening 1 tsp. ginger 2/3 cup Crosby's Molasses 1 tsp. salt 1/3 cup brown sugar 3 cups flour 2 tsp. soda

Blend shortening, sugar and molasses. (For best results be sure to use Crosby's Pure Barbados Molasses. Barbados is excellent for sugar content.) Add dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Shape into roll (approximately 1 1/2" diameter) in wax paper. Store in refrigerator until chilled. As required, slice very thin and place on greased cookie sheet. Bake 8 minutes in 350° oven.

It's pure Barbados FOR EXCELLENT SUGAR CONTENT BEST FOR TABLE USE BEST FOR COOKING

MEDICAL PHARMACY here to serve you ANY hour of the day or night CALL 4-6623 For 24 hour service

MEDICAL PHARMACY Corner of Power and Richmond St., Charlottetown