The general meeting of the Kensington United C h u r c n U.C.W. took the form of a pot luck supper for members and guests held on Monday evening.

A short devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Russell MacKay and Mrs. George Brookins.

Mrs. Harold Palmer presided for a brief business session, during which the UCW voted unanimously to support the town in a bid to purchase the old bank building for use as a public library.

The program consisted of slides and narrative on Trinidad, Tabago and British Guiana, places which she had visited, by Mrs. Morris Caseley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Coulson, Halifax, were weekend visitors to Kelvin Grove and Sea View, where they were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Picketts and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Coulson and family.

Long River WI held a card party Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bernard. High prizes were won by Mrs. Halsey Profitt and Waldo Paynter, and consolation awards went to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mischiek.

Mrs. Ivan Duvar and small son, Jeffrey of Montreal, are visiting with Mrs. Duvar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W a l l a c e Rodd, Motel Charlottetown, and with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duvar, Spring Park Road.

Ann MacCallum, Brackley, whose marriage to D a v i d Hyndman of Charlottetown was held Saturday afternoon at St. James Church, was widely entertained prior to the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Rodd held a dinner party in her honor Wednesday evening at M o t e l Charlottetown. A hostess gift was presented to the bride-elect.

A bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Stirling Giddings, Charlottetown, was attended by young friends of Miss MacCallum.

Residents of Brackley Beach attended a community shower recently when gifts were presented to the bride-to-be.

Following the rehearsal Friday evening the bridal party was entertained at the home of Mr. Hyndman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Hyndman, York Lane.

FO Robert Pitcairn has returned to Moose Jaw, Sask., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Pitcairn, East Royalty.

Mrs. Alex MacDougall, Montague, left last Monday for Toronto where she will visit h e r son, Gerald, who is a patient in the York Central Hospital as the result of a car accident.

Malcolm Matheson, formerly of Brooklyn, has returned to his home in Vancouver, B.C., after an extended visit with his sisters, Mrs. Malcolm Ross and M r s. Margaret MacVicar, Valleyfield.

Rev. and Mrs. Andrew B. Pitcairn, Stewiacke, N.S., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Pitcairn, East Royalty.

Approximately 100 members of St. Joseph's Alumnae attended benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at 7-00 p. m. in the Convent Chapel on S u n d a y, March 15th. A interesting talk by Rev. E. Boyce, CSsR, on the "Role of Women in the Church" was g r e a t l y enjoyed by the members.

Plans for an Easter Tea o n Saturday, April 4th, were finalized during the meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Alex MacLean. Plans were a l s o made for Mary's Day (the second Saturday in May). T h i s celebration will start with Mass at 6:30 p.m. in the c o n v e n t chapel, followed by a buffet supper in the library.

The evening's program closed with a delightful social hour.

Cst. Donald and Mrs. Webster, Dartmouth, N.S. visited recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterns Webster, Charlottetown.

Safety Council Director To Meet Island Women

MRS. GILSTORF

Mrs. Evaline (Eve) Gilstorf, director of women's activities for the Canadian Highway Safety Council, is scheduled to visit Prince Edward Island April 2-8 for meetings with various Island women's groups.

While her itinerary is not yet completed, one of Mrs. Gilstorfs meetings will be with members of the Marshfield Women's Institute, a winner of a Carol Lane Safety award in 1963 and again in 1964.

Mrs. Gilstorf's schedule is being drawn up by Philip Barlow, chief examiner for the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Prior to her present appointment Mrs. Gilstorf was registrar of the school of nursing, Ottawa Civic Hospital, secretary to the manager of Pittsburg Industries Limited, and assistant to the dental consultant in the federal health and welfare department.

Previously she was a photographer's model, a figure skater and worked with CGIT and other youth groups in western Canada.

She's a member of the Zonta Club of Ottawa and of the association of administrative assistants.

Married to R.C. Gilstorf, an economist with the D o m i nion Bureau of Statistics, Mrs. G i l storf is the mother of two teenage daughters and a son. She was born and educated in Winnipeg.

Pump Primer Effort Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of a New York power company announced at t h e White House an expansion program that will pump $1,000,000,000 into the U.S. economy in the next seven years, provide thousands of jobs and open a bigger market for coal for the distressed Appalachian area.

Donald Cook of the American Electric Power Company outlined the plans to President Johnson and told him they are concrete evidence that Johnson was right in pushing for the $11,000,000,000 tax-cut bill.

The tax cut and a favorable business climate, Cook told reporters, are responsible for the decision of his company to go ahead with the $1,000,000,000 program in Ohio, India, Michigan, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

He said the money will go into generating plants, transmission and distribution lines and office and service buildings. The program, he said, calls for several new, very large power plants in Ohio, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, probably with a combined capacity of 5,000,000 kilowatts.

SENTENCE JEW

MOSCOW (AP) — Arkady Greenberg, a Soviet Jew, has been sentenced to death and 12 other persons have been given prison sentences in a new scandal ivolving Communist party members. Greenberg was accused of masterminding an undercover textile operation that netted about $6,600,000 in six years and stretched from Siberia to the Western frontier town of Lwow.

Another Cyprus, Wife Promises

HALIFAX (CP)—"There'll be another Cyprus when he gets back," said Mrs. Beatrice Lane, wife of one of two army stowaways aboard the Cyprus bound aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

Her husband, Cpl. Michael Lane and Pte. Charles Bell were discovered aboard the carrier hiding in an army truck.

"I'll start another war right here," said Mrs. Lane when she was told that her husband was aboard the Bonnie.

The Lane's have six children, and are expecting another any day.

"He was speaking about going to Cyprus but I thought he was only kidding," she said.

She said her husband was a friend of Bell who has four children.

Proposed Bridge On St. Lawrence Is Given Okay

OTTAWA (CP) — An independent engineering appraisal has found that construction of a $30,000,000 bridge across the St. Lawrence River at Trois-Rivieres can proceed, transport Minister Pickersgill said in the Commons.

Premier Lesage of Quebec was so informed Thursday, the minister told Jean Paul Matte (L—Champlain).

Mr. Pickersgill said he had received a verbal report from the engineering consultant Wednesday and "he indicated that although there were some difficulties which might be encountered as a result of the construction of this bridge, there did not seem to be any adequate reason why it should not be proceeded with or the contract should not be let."

He said he wanted to express appreciation to the Quebec government and to the bridge company for holding up the project to make an independent inquiry.

The inquiry was designed to learn whether construction of the bridge might cause some hazards to navigation, chiefly through interference with river ice patterns.

Household Hints

An ironing board cover will stretch back into shape and fit perfectly after laundering if you put it back on the board when it's still damp.

When making children's toys, stuff them with discarded nylon stockings and they'll wash and dry in a wink, won't lump and are non - allergenic.

HUNGARIAN EXPELLED

VIENNA (Reuters)—Albania expelled a diplomat of the Hungarian embassy in Tirana Friday in retaliation for the expulsion of an Albanian commercial attache from Hungary March 18, Tirana radio reported. The Albanian foreign minister demanded the Hungarian attache, Lajos Evy, should leave Albania within the next 48 hours because of "inadmissible activities in his diplomatic functions."

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

St. Mark's CWL Supports Nat. Scholarship Fund

Interesting papers were read by the social action, spiritual and educational conveners at this month's regular meeting of St. Mark's, Lot 7 Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Gerald Murphy presided and began the session with the league prayer.

Executive reports and correspondence were read, and members voted to send donations to the Sacred Heart program and to the CWL national scholarship fund. A low mass is to be offered for an increase of religious vocations in the parish. March 25 is to be observed as a special day of prayer for CWL members.

Mrs. Raymond Stewart, Mrs. Stephen Doyle and Mrs. Charles Rogers are the nominating committee members for the annual meeting. Annaul reports were completed and given to the report form convener.

The meeting was closed with prayer.

STERLING WI

Sterling Women's Institute met in March at the home of Mrs. Earl Henry, S t a n l e y Bridge, with 15 members answering roll call with an Irish joke.

The school committee reported visiting the school on Friday of Education Week to see the children's work and hear their program that was presented in a pleasing manner. The sick committee made two visits and took a gift to a new baby. Four dresses were passed in for the Red Cross.

It was decided to take used books to the next meeting to send to the office of the CMHA in Charlottetown.

The secretary was asked t o contact the districts who helped in former years with a concert, in aid of the Swimm i n g Rock. All proceeds to be used to improve the surroundings. This year the area is entered in the provincial WI competition f o r improvement. This concert is scheduled for the third Friday in May.

Mrs. Lea Reid, convener o f education, gave an interesting talk, and presented a c o n t est dealing with the theme. S h e stressed the need for higher education for all students, as a grade VIII education is a must for prospective vocational students, along with four years training after that. Schools are not made to educate you but to provide tools for an adequate education—the need for education is never ended, one is always learning.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the committee in charge.

The next meeting will be held in the school. The convener of agriculture is Olga Woolner and the lunch committee will be Rena MacKay, Irene MacLeod, Annie Douglas, Audrey MacKay and Lorraine Carr.

CARLETON SIDING WI

Mrs. Cook Howatt entertained Carleton Siding Women's Institute in March when nine members answered roll call w i t h household hints.

Members voted to donate $2.00 to the Easter Seal Campaign, $10.00 to the Korean orphan fund and $5.00 to Institute projects. A committee was appointed to see that good used books would be delivered to the RCMP for the Riverside Hospital library.

A subscription to the "Canadian Teacher" is to be sent for and it was agreed to invite Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore to speak on the Carol Lane Safety Competition.

CRAPAUD UCW

Mrs. John Nicholson was hostess to the Crapaud U n i t e d Church Women Thursday March 5 with 10 members present. Mrs. Hubert Harvey led the worship with pre-Easter hymns, scripture and readings. Mrs. George Nicholson also read scripture. Mrs. Lloyd Waddell led the B i b l e study on "miracles."

The business was conducted by Mrs. John Simmons. An appeal from Ernest Murphy, treasurer of Augustine Cove camp committee led to the voting of $10 to the camp again this year. One patient was remembered with books in hospital. Mrs. Barry Dawson invited the group to her home for April meeting.

Meeting closed with friendship circle and the benediction. Lunch was served by the committee in charge assisted by the hostess.

RUSTICO CWL

Brief biographies of the lives of various saints were roll call responses at this month's meeting of Rustico Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Edmund Gallant presided and welcomed two new members, bringing the membership to 48.

April's meeting is the annual session and conveners were reminded to prepare their annual reports. The national CWL convention slated for Charlottetown in August was discussed, and the spiritual d i r e c t o r requested members to pray for its success. The act of consecration was recited to close the meeting.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Sauteed Fish Cakes Are Served On Toast

"MANY good foods are made less enjoyable because of the temperature at which they are served," grumbled the C h e f. " Par example, coffee which is not hot; soup that is lukewarm; salads that are not crisp; e n-trees which are not s i z z l i n g hot."

"Right you are, Chef. B u t sometimes this is because the family lags when called to dinner."

"It is my opinion that this is no excuse, Madame. The family needs more discipline!"

START ON TIME

"Again I agree. However, sometimes short delays are unavoidable. But it's always better to start the meal on the time with foods at the right temprature.

"A sizzling platter, for instance, remains hot for some minutes after bringing it to table, because the platter itself is ovenhot. Choose meats that will not dry out when in contact with the hot platter—broiled chops, sausages, or kidneys; or ham-stuffed baked potatoes; or pan- broiled meat patties — all with appropriate vegetables. Begin with a clear soup, add a tossed salad or slaw and a light dessert, and the meal is 'made'."

FISH FRICANDELLES

1½ lbs. fresh or defrosted frozen fish fillets
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1¾ c. hot milk
1½ c. fine soft bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. paprika
1½ tbsp. lemon juice
Grated rind ¼ lemon
1 large egg
6 slices white bread toast, halved.
Tomato, dill or curry sauce

Put fish through food chopper using medium-sized blade. Add butter or margarine and milk.

Pour chopped fish m i xture over crumbs; cook-stir over low heat to form thick paste. Mix in seasonings, lemon juice a n d rind and egg, beaten slightly; cool.

Shape into round flat cakes containing 1 tbsp. each. Roll in flour; saute in margarine or oil until lightly browned on both sides, about 12 min. altogether.

Arrange on toast; pour around tomato, dill or curry s a u c e, homemade or from mix.

The Chef on Garnishes

Mesdames: Even the m o s t perfectly cooked main dishes can be made more attractive if they are decoratively garnished and arranged on a platter large enough to prevent crowding. Garnishes should be natural, edible, and never look contrived or over handled.

A few suggestions? Avec plaisir!

Sprigs of cress, parsley, feathery dill or fresh basil; radishes with their tender green leaves.

Pickled mushrooms or small sweet pickles in lettuce leaf cups; or sliced pickled beets topped with chopped scallion; or sliced tomatoes with chopped fresh mint and coarse b l a c k pepper.

Do not think you have to carve flowers from turnips or crowns from mushrooms! That is—what you say?—very old hat!

MARY HAWORTH

Church Disillusions Generous Parishioner

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I have gone to his church (to which he has belonged since childhood) during our four years' marriage.

We are active in its service and loyal in attendance a n d tithing. We are the only young couple to attend regularly. We tried to start a young married group (to interest those who rarely attend) but it flickered out.

We love the Lord and have prayed often for strength to help our church grow.

The preacher is a wonderful person although rather timid and not a very dynamic speaker. I don't get anything from his sermons (mostly a b o u t money) and don't feel close to God in his church. Others feel the same and membership is dwindling, despite a newly completed Sunday School wing.

A construction worker by trade, my husband often is asked to do such jobs for t h e church. He happily contributes his time and knowhow and in the past had paid for the necessary materials to do the work.

This year we felt we couldn't afford that extra gesture. He was laid off for three months (winter is a bad season for construction) and we had our second c h i l d, without hospital insurance. So we've been pretty broke and this time he submitted a bill for repayment. The church asked him who gave him the authority to buy and questioned him about the wholesale prices:

Instead of the church's saying it couldn't afford to repay him, it simply implied he was untrustworthy. So we made the donation as usual.

I have prayed to be unselfish about it, not to be resentful, but I guess I'm not a very good Christian. I feel I can't attend this church any longer without being a hypocrite. I am thinking of finding another church where I can feel close to God. Am I running away? Please help me think straight. V.Y.

DEAR V.Y.: As I see the picture, your husband left himself open to this shabby treatment. He was acting in good faith, but without solid foundation, obviously, in assuming that the church bursar would do the decent thing when asked

It has been said that experience keeps a dear school but fools will learn in no other.

I hope your husband is man enough to admit he has played the fool, in taking for granted that the folks who manage the church's finances would treat him with respect for his dignity as a person and with care for his needs, should the issue arise after appropriating all that he could give in the church's service.

As to your being a hypocrite, in feeling outraged at the ugly avarice and the insulting implications of the church bursar's your rights as a Christian. You performance, don't underestimate have a right to face facts realistically. You aren't required to pretend that wrong is right, or that black is white, in order to qualify as a Christian.

The pettiness of your husband's church in the instance described is in truth a scandal. That is, it is an effense against charity (indeed against justice) that deals a body blow to your Christian disposition. And of such scandal-giving our Lord has said, in effect. "Such scandals are bound to come, but woe unto them through whom they come."

From the Christian view, it were better to be in your husband's shoes, wronged a n d humiliated in his gullible trust and financial embarrassment, than in the other fellow's shoes, taking unscrupulous advantage of a technicality to avoid fair dealing.

Agnes Sanford, distinguished Christian evangelist, whose book 'The Healing Light (Macalaster Park) is a classic, has said that great injustice is a gift of grace in disguise. To those who embrace the opportunity to forgive, great power for good will be given. Those who muff the opportunity will miss the reward.

My adivce is, try to forgive. And if you feel you must find another church and pastor, to help revive your Christian zeal, have the courage to follow your conscience in that particular.

Technologists Review Film

An excellent film on the "Innovations in Transfusion Therapy" by Fenwal was viewed by m e m bers of the P.E.I. Branch of the Canadian Society of Technologists Thursday evening. This challenging film reviewed the p i o n eer work in transfusions then transported the viewers across time to the present day's meticulous care and scientific accuracy in this very vital aspect of the medical field.

At the same meeting the society was honored to have an interesting demons t r a tion in "Sterile Technique" under the direction of Sister Mary Ursula, RT, technologist in charge at the Charlottetown Hospital Laboratory. S i ster Mary Ursula, assisted by Genevive MacDonald, RN, outlined the procedures followed to insure the utmost protection for the patient as well as the laboratory personnel.

The meeting was attended by interested visi t o r s from the P.E.I. Hospital and the Charlotthe Provincial Sanitorium Laboratory as well as the Division of Laboratories at the Department of Health on Prince Street.
