MR. AND MRS. KEVIN MCGUIRE

Tracadie Cross Church Is Scene Of July Ceremony

St. Bonaventure Church Tracadie Cross was the setting for a summer wedding, on Saturday, July 2nd, when Judith Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Corrigan of Tracadie Cross, became the bride of Kevin James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis McGuire of Morell. Rev. Kenneth MacMillan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church sanctuary was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers from the garden of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ida Court and the main altar was decorated with vases of red roses.

Bernadette Power played the Wedding March and sang the following hymns: "Mother of Christ," "Pans Angelicus," and "Jesus Keep Me Close to Thee" assisted by her sister, Patricia Power.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of rayon organza over taffeta, topped with a nylon and rayon lace bodice, with organza lined short sleeves and an empire waistline. Her train from the shoulders was of organza over net surrounded by a border of applied lace. Her shoulder length two tier tulle veil was held in place by a rosette of crisp mohair ribbon. She carried a cascade of deep pink roses.

Phyllis Smith was maid of honor with Gloria and Diane Corrigan, RN, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids. All wore floor length sheath gowns of aqua crystal charm with lace bodices. Their headresses were rosettes of crisp mohair ribbon and they carried nosegays of white and aqua tinted carnations. Charlene Corrigan, sister of the bride as flower girl wore a long white semi-full gown with an aqua sash and her headress was a matching aqua and white rosette. She carried a basket of deep pink roses and aqua and white carnations.

Joseph McGuire, brother of the groom was best man. Lawrence Corrigan, brother of the bride and Brian McGuire brother of the groom, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Corrigan chose a dress and matching jacket of medium blue lace with white accessories and her corsage was deep pink sweet heart roses.

Mrs. McGuire, mother of the groom, wore a pink crepe dress with a pink hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 110 guests was held at Morell Community Hall. Donald MacDonald, master of ceremonies, called on Rev. Kenneth MacMillan to say grace and he also proposed the toast to the bride, Louis McGuire, brother of the groom, proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, Heather Marshall, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For her honeymoon trip to Nova Scotia, the bride wore a two piece white linen suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The young couple are residing in Belvedere Ave., Parkdale. Among the out of the province guests were: Louis McGuire, Jr. and Patrick Keigher of Montreal, and Donald MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Webster, Saint John; Mrs. Don Logan, Fredericton; Shirley Corrigan, Douglas Campbell and Chr's Spalding of Winnipeg; Gary McGuire and Lawrence Corrigan of St. Catherine's, Ont.; Leonard Cusack Jr. of Toronto, and Kenneth Dunn of N. B.

ELLEN'S DIARY
Apples Are Mellowing And Fields Turn Golden
Night is at the window. One of August's, which, in these days of continuing sunshine, has been catching the ripening scents. You smell the fragrance of raspberry in the slash, of July's ripened flowerings; of harvest fields turning, and harvest apples mellowing. August's shades too, are come to the garden. Its golds and its reds, the purples and mauves - all the shades of today's sunset glory which billowed and drifted in beautiful blinds above the hills and freetops to the west. And presently they faded away into pastels against the evening's silver-blue.

bloom of the country spot, mind will be cleared of its worries, the body rested as well.

A last mowing in fields of the name has been done. And today also a nice lot of bales were saved.

"I suppose you will have plenty to see the stock through the winter," a visiting farmer offered.

"Oh, yes, plenty," James said. "But I'm always like to see some left on the lot in a spring, when they get out in the grass. A backlog in case we might get a dry summer and scanty crops. It would come in handy to have it."

"Last year's crops didn't leave pleasant memories, did they?" "Not the best," James agreed. "But this year's are good."

"It would be nice," Mack the eldest son of the house across the lane, planned this morning, "if we could get the hay being rounded up this week, wouldn't it?"

"But we can't - there's no question about that," his father said. "If we could, that would allow us all next week to tidy up things about, and get ready for the Fair."

"The Fair?" Alex beamed. "The Fair?" Peter smiled broadly.

"And our day? It was comprised of the little doings of the farmwife's common round." And this is good. Because after all, as one reminds us, "Life is not made up of great sacrifices and duties, but of the little things, in which smiles and kindness given habitually, are what win and preserve the heart, and secure comfort."

And there is that old clock again! "Bedtime," it says. "Until tomorrow... Diary... Goodnight..."

Brackley Pt. WI Meeting Sees Slides

Ten members and two visitors were in attendance at the August meeting of the Brackley Point WI at the home of Mrs. David Seaman.

As there had been no meeting in July, bills, correspondence, and regular business was taken care of for the two month period.

The visitation committee reported flowers sent to a resident while in hospital, and a sympathy card to a bereaved member. The new committee for the following three months: Mrs. Stanley Murray and Mrs. Earle Skeffington.

It was decided in future to present pupils from the school passing Grade 8 exams, with high school rings, instead of presenting college rings to Grade 10, as was the custom in the past.

The discussion period was taken up with matters concerning the Rural Beautification contest.

The September meeting will take the form of the annual winter roll and social evening, and roll call will be answered with a bingo prize.

One of the guests welcomed to this meeting was a former teacher of the district (Jean Rayner) now Mrs. William Munroe of Coppermire, N.W.T., who with her husband and family are vacationing at Brackley Beach.

After the meeting, Mrs. Munroe showed colored slides of their home town in the far north land which were much enjoyed by all.

Plans were made to hold a shower in the hall for a recently married couple, the bride groom having been a resident of the district.

The hostess served refreshments after which the meeting adjourned.

New Citizenship Judge Says Post Challenging

HALIFAX (CP)—The judge just didn't happen to me," she has deep blue eyes, auburn hair and a penchant for pretty hats. She has travelled widely as national president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women and has held post posts in such organizations as the National Council of Women, the Nova Scotia Women's Liberal Association and Beta Sigma Phi—of which she is an international honorary member.

PRESENTED TO QUEEN In the attractive living room of the Ahern home is a framed photograph of Mrs. Ahern curtsying to Queen Elizabeth. At the time her husband, John E. Ahern, was mayor of Halifax. Mr. Ahern is a former member of the provincial legislature and now is president of the Ahern Publishing Co.

More portraits in her living room show Mrs. Ahern as a grandmother of three small girls. Her only daughter Pat, as thrilled with her appointment. "Sometimes I think this now Mrs. B. J. Bennett, lives in Ottawa. Mrs. Ahern calls her appointment to the citizenship court a "challenging opportunity." She adds quickly that she is particularly happy for the sake of the women's organizations she has been connected with. Some hours of study lie ahead of the new judge. "I'll have to do my homework and study the Citizenship Act and its rules and regulations," she said. "But at the same time she feels, some 'understanding and human kindness' will be a large part of her work."

CASE POSES PROBLEM Reminded of the Bergma case in Ontario two years ago, in which a professed atheist was at first refused Canadian citizenship, Mrs. Ahern agreed that a citizenship courtroom could be a place for heart-searching. "I think of that case so often—but I would hope not to encounter anything as difficult as that," she said.

"The regulations are there to be complied with and I would just have to resort to higher authority if a situation as controversial as that arose."

Mrs. Ahern worked for many years in law offices here as secretary and executive assistant. She was born in Sydney Mines, N.S., and was educated there and at a Halifax secretarial college.

She dates her love for hats back to her convent school days where "we weren't allowed to go out without them."

There too were the origins of her fondness for cooking and sewing—especially fine needle-point work. She finds them relaxing pastimes in a busy life.
