Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

DIMENSIONS OF THE UNIVERSE.

It Takes a Thousand Years for the Light of Some Stars to Reach Us.

While, however, it is interesting to know the distance of some of the stars in miles, when stated in that way the numbers are so large that they frequently convey very indistinct conceptions to the mind. For this reason it is customary to estimate star distances in "light years." A light year is the distance that light, moving at the rate of 186,300 miles per second, travels in one year. This amounts in round numbers to 5,800,000,000,000 miles. The distance of Alpha Centauri is 4.35 light years; that of Sirius, the Dog Star, is almost exactly twice as great, or 8.6 light years. In other words light requires 8.6 years to come to us from Sirius. And these are among the very nearest of the stars. Some, whose parallaxes have been ranged estimated than measured, appear to be situated at a distance which light could not traverse in less than one or two centuries. The great star Arcturus, for instance, has, according to D. Elkin, a parallax of only eighteen one-thousandths of a second. Its distance must in that case be about 181 light years, or more than a thousand million million miles. And if its distance is so great then, since light varies inversely as the square of the distance from its source, it can be shown that Arcturus must actually give forth 5,000 to 6,000 times as much light as the sun yields.

Yet Arcturus is evidently much nearer than the vast majority of the stars are. Not one in a million is known to have a parallax large enough even to be intelligently guessed at. There may be stars whose light requires thousands instead of hundreds of years to cross the space separating them from us.

We thus see that only a few points on the nearer shores of the starry universe lies within reach of our measurements; here and there a jutting headland, while behind stretches the vast expanse over which the hundreds of millions of stars known to exist are scattered.—G. P. Serviss in the Chautauquan.

Cromwell's Statue.

What needs our Cromwell stone or bronze to say
His was the light that lit on England's way
The sundawn of her time-compelling power,
The noontide of her most imperial day?

His hand won back the sea for England's dower;
His footfall bade the Moor change heart and cower;
His word on Milton's tongue spake law to France
When Piedmont felt the she-wolf Rome devour.

From Cromwell's eye the light of England's glance
Flashed, and bowed down the kings by grace of chance,
The priest annointed princes; one alone
By grace of England held their hosts in trance.

The enthroned republic from her kingflier throne
Spake, and her speech was Cromwell's. Earth has known
No lordlier presence. How should Cromwell stand
By kinglets and by queenlets hewn in stone?

Incarnate England in his warrior hand
Smote, and as fire devours the blackening brand
Made ashes of their strengths who wrought her wrong,
And turned the strongholds of her foes to sand.

His praise is in the sea and Milton's song;
What praise could reach him from the weakling throng
That rules by leave of tongues whose praise is shame—
Him, who made England out of weakness strong?

There needs no clarion's blast of broadblown fame
To bid the world bear witness whence he came
Who bade fierce Europe fawn at England's heel
And purged the plague of lineal rule with flame.

There needs no witness graven on stone or steel
For one whose work bids fame bow down and kneel;
Our man of men, whose time-commanding name
Speaks England, and proclaims her Commonweal.

Algernon Charles Swinburne, in Nineteenth Century.

Trees.

No tree has yet been measured taller than the great eucalyptus in Gippsland Australia.

In Buena Vista, Ohio, an apple tree is reported bearing at the same time half-grown apples, buds and blossoms.

The Tea Party tree in Bowthorpe Park, Lincolnshire, England, has a hollow big enough to place a table with seats for several guests.

The region between the Nile and the Red Sea was once clothed in forest. So were the Scotch Highlands.

The oldest tree that may be that at Tortworth, England. It is fifty feet in circumference, but the trunk is very short. So long ago as 1135 it was a landmark and signal, as appears upon records.

In the West of Ireland was an enormous forest until the sixteenth century. After the Geraldine rising in 1534, this great forest was all cut away by English settlers as a means of depriving the Irish of their last hiding place and refuge.

And So She Didn't See Him.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 25.—The general result of the elections yesterday was the return of 62 free traders, 40 protectionists, and 23 members of the labor party. The latter will support Prime Minister Reid, who is thus assured of a majority. Ex-Prime Minister Dobbs is among the defeated candidates. Every candidate of Sir Henry Parkes' federal party was rejected. Members of the upper house were actively engaged in behalf of Sir Henry Parkes. Crowds pelted them with missiles at the polls. After the results were declared Prime Minister Reid made a speech in which he said the election had struck a keynote which would be responded to throughout the world. It would be a signal for sweeping away of the old conservatism.

TO LEARN TO SWIM.

Captain Allen, Instructor at the New York Public Baths, Gives Some Excellent Advice to Beginners.

Many articles have appeared in the magazines and newspapers, relative to the art of swimming. They are usually written by persons having neither a theoretical nor a practical knowledge of the subject. Having been a professional swimmer and a teacher of the "art natatorial" for the past ten years, I venture to make a few suggestions.

Very few professional swimmers are capable teachers, because, as a rule, they know nothing of the scientific movements in swimming. Again, you may know a thing thoroughly yourself and still be incapable of giving an intelligent understanding of it to one wholly ignorant.

THE FIRST LESSON.

It is a very difficult matter to learn to swim correctly without a master. If possible, take some lessons of a competent instructor. If but a few, they will suffice for self practice. Hundreds of my pupils have learned to swim a mile at the end of their first season. Comparatively few self-taught swimmers can do as much after swimming half a lifetime. To teach rapidly and correctly there is but ons true method. The pupil is first given what is called a "dry lesson" before going into the water. In this he is taught to make the movements of arms and legs according to count. As soon as these points are thoroughly comprehended he is allowed to go into the water suspended by a belt attached to a rope in such a fashion that he occupies a horizontal position, breast downward, and with the shoulders just covered by the water. In this position he is practised thoroughly in executing the arm and leg movements separately and in combination. Many pupils master the stroke in one lesson. As soon as proficient an inflated rubber air belt is tied about the chest, supporting the pupil while he is perfected in the stroke. The quantity of air is decreased at each lesson, until the pupil has gained the confidence to make an effort without support. In this way any one, however timid, may learn the art rapidly and correctly.

WITHOUT A TEACHER.

To the person who is anxious to learn to swim, but cannot afford the luxury of a master, a few hints may be of service. Beware of deep water or places where the bottom is uneven, or currents swift and treacherous. Choose a quiet spot where you can wade out gradually until the water reaches the armpits. Remember that but a slight movement is necessary to keep the body afloat—if the hands are kept under the surface of the water. The arm movement is made as follows: Palms of hands together, arms extended straight in front of breast, fingers closely touching. Using the thumbs as pivots turn the hands over into a horizontal position nearly. Without bending the arms move the hands through the water till they form a straight line with the ear and shoulder, then dropping elbows nearly to side and simultaneously pointing fingers downward, bring tips of fingers together in front of (but not touching) breast, and almost directly under chin. Now, uniting palms, push hands swiftly forward into first position. The leg movement is not made until the hands are moving toward the chin. At this moment with heels together and toes pointed outward at an angle of forty-five degrees, the legs are drawn up with knees apart (frog fashion). Then kicking feet right and left as far as possible, the legs are brought swiftly together as the hands are pushed forward to first position. Be careful to brings the legs swiftly together. This is the most important factor in the whole stroke, for it is this sudden displacement of the water that gives two-thirds of the impetus. Use the arms very quietly and depend upon the leg motion. Now with the water reaching to the armpits, place the hands together under the surface of the water and stooping until the chin touches the surface, push gently from the bottom with the feet, and make stroke quietly, but with decision, as described above.

Any one can purchase a preserver, and by following above directions in a few days learn the "breast stroke," the A, B, C of swimming. That stroke once mastered, all others are comparatively easy.

HOW TO BREATHE.

Few swimmers breathe properly. This is most important. Learn to inhale by the nostrils, and exhale through the parted lips, and at every stroke.

It is an exploded theory that drowning persons go down three times and then expire. I have seen a drowning man go down a half dozen times, and still "bob up serenely." It all depends upon the manners in which he struggles, and whether he succeeds in getting a supply of air each time that he rises to the surface.—New York Herald.

Fighting Consumption.

Consumption or tuberculosis has been the subject of early and more vigorous efforts to check its transmission into Prussia than elsewhere, as is natural, considering that Dr. Koch is a Berlin professor. The result is that while from 1875 to 1887, before his discovery, the deaths from tubercle or consumption, were 31 in 10,000; since 1887 there has been a gradual decrease to 25 in 10,000. Elsewhere this decrease has not taken place. Prussian prisons and insane asylums show a reduction in their death rate from tuberculosis, since careful precautions were adopted. The death rate from this cause among religious nursing orders was in 1881-2 114 per 10,000. In 1893-4 it had dropped to 67, almost half. Facts like these show the absolute necessity of careful precautions for destroying the sputa of consumptive patients. Rigorous care in this direction would greatly decrease a disease to which a large proportion of deaths are due.—Philadelphia Press.

His Idea of It.

A school teacher told her pupils to write a sentence containing the word toward. This is what one small boy produced, after a great deal of mental exertion:

"I tored my pants yesterday."—San Antonio Express.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 24.—The west bound New York express on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern was held up by six masked men at 12.30 this morning in the woods ten miles west of Wansoon. They compelled the messenger to open the safe at the point of revolvers, and the amount said to have been taken is $8,000, though it is believed to be much larger. None of the passengers were molested. It is suspected that employes of the railroad express company were in the gang.

Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

McKinnon's English Ointment.

MR. NEIL MCKINNON,—

Dear Sir,—For five years I was a sufferer from eczema. Physicians could not help me. At last I bought a box of your Ointment, which helped me wonderfully, while two boxes made a complete cure. I can recommend it to all others similarly afflicted.

Painless Dentistry!

This is addressed to all those who are suffering from TOOTHACHE, or who may require treatment of any kind at the hands of a Dentist. I make the very best Teeth, guaranteed, for $15.00 a set. If not satisfactory money refunded. Gold and Silver Fillings a specialty.

The following letter from Dr Robertson of Crapaud, as regards the Painless Extraction of Teeth, speaks for itself:—

To J E McDonald, D D S, Summerside, P E I.

Dear Doctor,—I am so well pleased with the work you have done for me that I will take it as a special favor if you will give publicity to this letter. I positively assert that after an experience extending over twenty-two years, under the hands of many dentists, you are the only one who ever extracted a tooth for me Absolutely Without Pain. The TEN teeth you removed for me at one sitting did not hurt a particle, as Mr James Dawson of Tryon, who was present at the operation, heard me testify. The man who invented your method should be knighted.

I am yours, gratefully,
H W ROBERTSON, M D.
