Testimonial

C. P. Fletcher, Esq.
DEAR SIR,—I do not wish to return to Montreal without expressing my gratitude to you for the very excellent Bell Piano that you placed at my disposal for my recital. I have tried many Canadian Pianos of different manufacturers and must say that, considering the size of the instrument, I have never found one to equal it for depth and brilliancy of tone. The action is quite as elastic and responsive as in American Upright Pianos of the highest grade. Again thanking you, very sincerely,

I remain, Yours, FRED. E. MORRIS

PERSONALITIES.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts is a believer in spiritualism.
Sir David Hunter Blair is the only Scotch baronet who is also a monk.
The Duke of the Fife keeps 12 suits going at the same time, and never wears the same clothes twice in the same week.
William Edwards, a veteran British soldier, who has fought in 80 battles, is turning a mangle to support an invalid wife.
It is the amiable custom of General Charles H. Taylor, publisher of the Boston Globe, to give a dinner every year to the employees of his paper.
"Personally," remarks a London writer, "the Marquis of Lorne has quite lost his familiar Highland laddie appearance. He is English—desperately English."

John D. Rockefeller is remembered among old Cleveland merchants as a young man in the oil business who was often seen with face, hands and clothes shining with the illuminant.
A nephew of the king of Siam is a military cadet at Woolwich, England, and one of his sons, who is preparing to enter the British navy at Greenwich, has won his way to the heart of the English by his skill as a football player.
Archbishop Corrigan of New York presides over the greatest Catholic see in Christendom, comprising the city and county of New York, the counties of Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange, Rockland and Richmond and also the Bahama Islands.
Dr. Charles Frederick Whillgohs, the oldest physician in Ohio, still keeps up his practice, although he is 93 years of age. He says that every member of his family for the last 800 years has lived over 100 years, and his grandfather, at the age of 106, cradled wheat for three days in succession.

Sir George Gray, the Australian explorer and administrator, recently celebrated the eighty-fourth anniversary of his birth. Fifty-eight years ago he was given up for dead while exploring the west coast of Australia. He lived to be governor of South Australia, of Cape Colony and of New Zealand.
The Duke of Norfolk, whose popularity and munificence are household words in Sheffield, was anxious at one time to enter the service of the church, but was prevented by the intervention of the pope, who was convinced that an English nobleman of such wealth and influence could be more useful as a layman than as a priest.

The Empress Eugenie has always carefully preserved a small piece of her wedding dress and orange blossom wreath. Her wedding ring, as is the custom in France, is made in two portions which close together tightly. When unjoined, on one ring is found the name of the bride, on the other the name of the imperial bridegroom.

Like Hogs or Like Gentlemen?
Years ago, when it was more the fashion in Kansas than at present, a United States Attorney Bill Perry gave a stag party to his gentlemen friends at Fort Scott. He had procured a bountiful supply of cold beer for the delectation of his guests, but hid it away in an upper room as a postprandial surprise. When the proper time arrived for the revelation of his surprise, he said to the assembled company:
"Boys, I have a lot of cold beer up stairs, but before we start I want to know whether you intend to drink like gentlemen or like hogs?"
"Och, we'll drink like gentlemen. Lead on, Billy," chorused a dozen voices in reply.
"That settles it," replied the jovial host as a smile rippled over all three of his double chins. "I'll have to send for more beer. A hog always knows when he's got enough."—Kansas City Journal.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
Kisses are love's live wires.
The devil has relations to burn.
Every woman has an overpowering curiosity to see a man cry.
In every girl's bedroom there is a picture of a sad, dreamy eyed man looking the other way.
Falling in love is all right. It is falling out of love that hurts.
When a baby yells in a certain way, it is swearing in baby language.
The best time for a man to guard against trouble with his wife is before he gets married.
No man knows how much he loves his wife till he begins to be afraid she doesn't love him.
Probably on judgment day a lot of the women won't get up at all, because they know their husbands will be way out of style.
When a woman goes out with her baby and men look at it admiringly, she tries to act sort of careless, and as if that was nothing at all.—New York Press.

Infinite Variety.
"I don't exactly understand," said the boarder with the baby blue eyes, "just what Shakespeare meant by Cleopatra's infinite variety."
"Infinitive variety," said Asbury Peppers musingly, with his chin uppeped.
"Infinitive variety would seem to be something like continuous vaudeville."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

His Constitutionals.
Physician—I fear you have been keeping yourself too closely confined. You should go out more. Take a constitutional every morning before breakfast.
Colonel Livehigh—I always do, doctor, two of 'em, and never less than three fingers.—New York Weekly.

Over the Phone.
"Yes, this is Mund. Oh, is that you, George? Well, what did papa say? What's that? You didn't mind what he said? Well, what did he do? Good gracious! Did he? And you can't sit down? Where are you now, George? In the hospital! Dear, dear!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Educational Advantages.
"That parrot is one of the most artistic swearers that ever wore feathers. Did you get him from a sea captain?"
"No. But he lived with papa when papa had the inflammatory rheumatism."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hibernian.
An Irishman was riding a frisky horse. The animal presently got its hind foot into one of the stirrups. "By jabbers," said the Irishman, "if ye're going to get up, it's time for me to get down."—London Truth.

His Fatal Error.
"Of course I will be homelier some day," she whispered.
"Impossible," he replied gallantly. And he marvels that she sent his presents back.—Detroit Free Press.
