GRAIN

(Canadian Press)

CHICAGO, July 17—Excited by corn belt temperatures of 114 in some sections and by persistent widespread lack of moisture, corn prices today again and again hit topmost permissable limits.

Big scale buying of corn was further stimulated because of forecasts of continued heat and dearth of important rainfall throughout most of the corn producing region.

With traders generally concentrating on the corn market, wheat prices dropped after an early advance, and toward the last wheat was showing general losses.

Corn closed flurried, 2 3-8 to 3 7-8 above yesterday's finish, July 92 3-4, Sept. 89 3-4 to 7-8, Dec. 83 3-4 to 7-8, wheat 3-4 to 1 1-4 down, Sept. 105 to 105 1-8, Dec 106 to 106 1-8, oats varying from 5-8 decline to 1-8 advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22 cents.

WINNIPEG, July 17—Liberal selling credited to Chicago houses and profit-taking in late stages reduced early substantial gains on Winnipeg Grain Exchanges today as values closed 3-8 cent higher to unchanged. Prices showed July at 94 3-4, October 94 1-8 and December 93 5-8 to 3-4. Excellent overseas demand saw export business placed at an estimated 2,000,000 bushels.

New seasonal highs were made during trading on all three futures.

Weather reports showing practically no precipitation on this content and a strong trend at Liverpool, where the market closed 1 to 3-4d higher gave Winnipeg a bullish opening.

Demand was keen for cash wheat but volume of trade was small, on light offerings. Exporters and English mills demanded nos. 2, 3 and cent better, and United States in-4 northern at spreads 1-4 to 1-2 terests wanted durums, with spreads 1 to 1-2 cent better.

Fair sales no 1 feed oats for eastern account were made in the cash coarse grain market. Six-row barley continued in demand.

All coarse grain futures scored early good gains, but barley and rye appeared to lose support in late trading.

PARIS, (CP) —Acclaimed 20 years ago as one of the Queens of Paris, Madeleine Bugg, one of the most celebrated opera stars the French stage has known, died recently, a pauper. She was 42 years old.

Visual Evidence of The Efficiency London "Bobbies"

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, July 17 — Visual evidence of the speed with which London bobbies went into action against George Andrew McMahon, who menaced King Edward yesterday, was shown by a radio-transmitted Associated Press photograph of the arrest.

The picture shows McMahon in the grip of two policemen and a soldier.

In the foreground are seen spectators, many of whom apparently are still watching the King rid past while only a few have turned to watch the struggle behind them.

The police have rushed the man out of the crowd and are hustling him into a bus on which appears the name "St. John Ambulance."

An army officer stands calmly, watching while the three uniformed men in front of him wrestle with McMahon.

The suspect appears as a heavy-set, partly-bald man. The soldier and one bobby have grasped him by his coat collar. The other policeman has expertly pinioned both the prisoner's arms.

A well-dressed woman, with a broad-brimmed straw hat and a flowered dress, stands at the back of the ambulance, watching the proceedings with intense interest.

At the other end of the ambulance stands a heavy-set woman, watching with equal interest. A third woman has merely turned her head.

Two of the men standing closest to the fray have their hands in their pockets. Apparently they have full confidence in the ability of the arresting officers to complete their work without outside assistance.

Many of the men have their hats in their hands, as though they had not yet replaced them after watching the King ride by.

Home Secy. Reads Account of Incident In Commons

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

Indignation at the attempted attack on the King and the intense relief at its prompt circumvention by the "little woman in grey", police and soldiers, were felt round the Empire today.

Congratulations poured into London last night from all parts of the Empire and from other countries."

After reading to the House of Commons the official account of the incident issued by Scotland Yard, Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, said:

"The whole house will be profoundly thankful that the risk to which His Majesty was exposed was so promptly averted."

Viscount Halifax, Lord Privy Seal, brought forth another ovation in the House of Lords as he concluded his announcement by saying peers were "certain to express their feelings conveying the profound joy they felt on hearing the King came safely out of the risk which menaced him."

Nowhere was the feeling of thankfulness at His Majesty's safety more intense than in Canada where he was a familiar visitor as Prince of Wales.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King cabled to Hon. Vincent Massey, the Canadian High Commissioner in London, in part as follows:

"Will you please ask Lord Wigram to express to His Majesty the King the deepest regret of His Majesty's subjects in Canada that there should have been any attempt to do the King any injury.

"Also kindly express how deeply relieved all Canadians are to know that any intention of the kind wholly failed in its purpose and that His Majesty has not been injured in any way."

Canadian city governments and individuals swamped communications companies with congratulatory messages.

One of the earliest telegrams received was from Chancellor Hitler who expressed his "cordial congratulations" to His Majesty on having escaped the "dastardly attempt."

Officials at Washington expressed gratification at the safety of the King and said that news of the attempted attack would be transmitted to President Roosevelt, who is cruising off the Maine coast.

Premier Mussolini personally telephoned the Italian Charge d'Affaires in London instructing him to proceed immediately to Buckingham Palace "to convey my warmest congratulations to the King for having escaped the danger that threatened him."

Mrs. Georgina Smith of Halifax and formerly of Ottawa arrived, here today in search of her daughter, Margaret Lillian, whom she hasn't seen for eight years.

"I last heard of my daughter in 1934 and she was then in Halifax," she said. "Through my husband I inherit $10,000 and my daughter $8,000. The money was to be divided when she came of age on May 27 of this year."

Her husband, Corporal Thompson Smith, was killed in the Great War never saw his daughter who was born while he was away.

Reach Compromise Over Dardanelles

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREUX, Switzerland, July 17—The Dardanelles conference, completing first reading of a compromise straits convention, decided tonight to hold a ceremony of signature Monday.

The only difficulty left unsolved was the fact the Japanese delegation had not yet received instructions as to whether Tokyo approved a Russo-British compromise on a wartime regime for the straits.

Under the compromise, the Dardanelles and the Black Sea are closed to belligerents when Turkey is neutral in wartime, except for fleets acting for the League of Nations against an aggressor, or under a regional pact to which Turkey is a party.

Body Found In Folding Wall Bed

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

EDMONTON, July 17—Police tonight probed the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Albert Phelan whose body was found in a folding wall bed in her home today. Meanwhile, they held another woman in custody on a charge of manslaughter.

Miss Betty Hill, 46, was arrested when Mrs. Phelan's husband, city fireman, arrived home to find the body of his 48 year old wife inside the bed and jammed against a wall. She had died of suffocation.

Robertson Sutherland, chief of detectives, said he believed the two women had been in bed and had been drinking Miss Hill had got out of bed, said Sutherland, and reached for an article. The bed closed, Mrs. Phelan inside it.

Miss Hill told police she had tried in vain to open the bed. The body lay inside until Mr. Phelan arrived from work.
