Two Church Services Open Souris Ceremony

SOURIS — Two church services started Remembrance Day ceremonies at Souris yesterday. The first was a Mass at St. Mary's Church at 8 a.m. and the second a service at St. James United Church at 9 a.m.

The traditional Remembrance Day parade formed in front of the Souris Legion at 10.30 and proceeded down Main Street to the war memorial at the corner of Main and Chapel Streets.

The parade, under marshel John D. MacIntyre, was led by the St. Dunstan's University Band, followed by the RCMP, standard bearers, veterans, Souris Regional High School Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

On arrival at the memorial, RCMP members Cpl. Colin Craig and Cst. William Rowen formed an honor guard.

The ceremonies started with O Canada followed in order by The Last Post, two minute silence and Reveille. The poem, They Shall Grow Not Old, was recited.

MAYOR SPEAKS

Souris Mayor C. Edmund LaVie addressed the gathering, followed by guest speaker Rev. Malcolm O. Smith of Kingsboro. The SDU Band then played Abide With Me and wreaths were laid.

Mrs. Andrew MacLaren Montecello, representing motherhood laid the first wreath followed by Mayor LaVie on behalf of the town. President Milton Fitzpatrick on behalf of the Legion, Mrs. Thomas Harris, Elmira on behalf of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Cpl. Craig on behalf of the RCMP, and then four World War One veterans, George Perry, Marcus Mooney, Alphonsus MacDonald and Joseph Deveau, all of Souris laid wreaths.

They were followed by the Sea Cadets, Scouts, Guides, the Souris Regional High School Students Council and the general public.

Following the playing of the Queen, the parade retraced its steps up Main Street to the Legion Home where the salute was taken by President Milton Fitzpatrick, Mayor LaVie, Mrs. Stewart MacAuley, Commissioner of Girl Guides, John Mullally, MP, and Daniel MacDonald, MLA.

Following the salute, a reception was held at the Legion Home for the veterans and their guests who also attended a dance last night at the Legion.

LEGION MEMBERS and veterans paraded in Montague yesterday as they did all across Canada. Here they are seen marching through Montague from the new Legion Home to the Kings County Memorial Hospital for the service. Special speaker was Rev. J.W. McCardle who said the men being honored on Remembrance Day "died for our freedom" and he warned that this freedom was being challenged today. Taking part in the service were members of the RCMP, militia, Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Cubs.

Freedom Is Challenged Says Memorial Speaker

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

A light blanket of new fallen snow greeted the veterans for Remembrance Day at Montague yesterday. A large turnout was on hand for the parade which was said to be the best for several years.

Rev. J.W. McCardle, guest speaker, congratulated the men on a fine parade and made special mention of their new Legion home, saying they could be justly proud of their achievement.

He said, "you are here to honor the men of two great conflicts. If we forget the past, the future holds little for us. They died for love of country, love of freedom, love of liberty, so that we can enjoy them today and in the future.

"World War One was a war to end all wars, World War Two fought to defend the principals of the Atlantic Charter, freedom of speech, freedom from want, freedom from fear and freedom of religion.

"Our freedom is seriously challenged today and we are living in a grave and challenging time of history. It is time for courage and rededication. Conformity and complacency will not do. We must stand together in true confidence, in truth, charity, morality and justice and keep faith with God," he concluded.

PARADE TO HOSPITAL

The parade formed at 10.30 a.m. at the Legion home where a wreath was laid by George Gordon. Then the parade moved off to the Kings County Memorial Hospital for service at 11 a.m. In the parade were the militia, the RCMP, veterans, Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies.

Standard bearers were William Knox and Everett Buchanan. The service was conducted by Basil MacKinnon. The parade was under the command of Malcolm MacKenzie; lament was played by Piper Donald MacLeod, and the Last Post and Reveille were sounded by George Boudreault.

Wreaths were placed as follows:

Canadian Legion by Mrs. Sterling MacKay; Town of Montague, Mayor B.H. Yeo; Motherhood of Canada, Mrs. William Dewar; Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion, Mrs. Athol Robertson; Prince Edward Island Regiment, Sgt. H.W. Gordon; Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Cst. David Powers; Fire Department, D.H. Coffin, students council, Jock Beck.

Also by: Mrs. Mae Clay, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Murray Harbor United Church Ladies and private citizens. Also by the Oddfellows, Masons, Knights of Columbus, and St. Mary's Parish.

Following the service the parade returned to the Legion home. The salute was taken at the post office building by A.F. Campbell, on the saluting base were Mayor B.H. Yeo, Cps. D H. Hender, Basil MacKinnon and Major E.G. Kerr.

Brisk Fall Weather Greets City's Remembrance Day

Hundreds of people turned out yesterday morning to line Charlottetown Streets for Remembrance Day ceremonies at the Cenotaph on Great George Street which were held in bright, brisk fall weather.

The parade of Legion members and veterans formed up in front of the Legion Home at 10.30 and then moved to the cenotaph.

Shortly before 11 a.m. Lieutenant-Governor W.J. MacDonald, Premier Walter R. Shaw, Provincial Secretary J. David Stewart, Hon. J. Watson MacNaught, solicitor general, Charlottetown Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet, and other dignitaries, arrived.

Canadian Legion members, veterans, No. 2 Militia Group, under the command of Lieut.-Col. K.V. Johnston reached the area all at the same time.

P.E.I. REGIMENT

In the parade was the P.E.I Regiment Band, which played several selections during the ceremonies.

Playing of God Save The Queen and O Canada, opened the ceremonies, followed by the Last Post and observance of two minutes' silence, then Binyon's, They Shall Grow Not Old, recited by Royal Canadian Legion Charlottetown branch president, J.J. Connolly.

Rev. J.G.E. Ball offered prayer. Special remarks then followed by Rev. James Kelly.

Father Kelly said that tradition was what brought the public to the Remembrance Day services. Tradition, when people forgot its meaning, could turn into a ritual, or worse, a superstition, he said.

Purpose of the ceremonies was threefold, said Father Kelly: to pay tribute to the fallen; show a debt of gratitude to the fallen, and those who survived; to nourish patriotism.

RICHEST SOURCE

The speaker said that 20 years ago, others "the richest source," were absent from the ceremony. "They had given their lives for something that they felt was more valuable than their lives," said Father Kelly.

The speaker said a debt of gratitude was owed these.

The purpose of patriotism, was outlined by Father Kelly, who said it was "as necessary for the advance of the nation as for its defence in the time of danger."

Following Father Kelly's remarks, The P.E.I. Regiment Band played a selection, and the laying of wreaths followed.

Wreaths were laid by the following: Lt. Gov. W.J. MacDonald; Motherhood, Mrs. Emma Alley; Government of Canada, solicitor general Hon. J. Watson McNaught; Province of Prince Edward Island, Hon. J. David Stewart; City of Charlottetown, Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet; Provincial Command of the Royal Canadian Legion, Freeman Myles; Charlottetown Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, President J.J. Connolly; Charlottetown Branch Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald;

RCAF Association, President J.P. McMann; Main Brace Naval Veterans' Association, President George Vessey; Prince Edward Island Branch, War Amputees Association of Canada, President Charles MacKenzie.

United Services Officers' Club Royal Canadian Mounted Police; Nursing Sisters Overseas Association; HMCS Queen Charlotte; Number Two Militia Group; Prince Edward Island Regiment; Fifth Signal Regiment; Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps; Village of Parkdale; Village of Sherwood; Veterans on Parade.

Mt. Stewart Memorial Day Features Joint Ceremonies

MOUNT STEWART — Sunny but cool weather greeted members of the Royal Canadian Legion, the Ladies Auxiliary, Girl Guides, Brownies and Cubs as they observed Remembrance Day with a parade through the village, service at the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches and a joint memorial service at the war monument in a community cemetery.

Led by members of the Lovat Scots Pipe Band from Charlottetown, the parade moved off from the new Legion home a few minutes before 11 o'clock and halted in front of the two churches which are side by side. Memorial services in the Protestant Church were conducted by Rev. Donald MacLellan and Mass in the Catholic Church was celebrated by Rev. George McCormac.

Color bearers for the parade which re-formed outside the church were Legion President Coffin Douglas and Colin MacDonald. Parade marshal was Hamilton Douglas.

The ceremony at the war memorial consisted of prayer by Mr. MacLellan, lowering of the colors, and a bagpipe selection "The Miss Covered Mountain" by Pipe Sergeant Evelyn Fraser. Wreaths were laid by: Ernest MacEachern for the Legion; President Mrs. Roy Mitchell for the Ladies Auxiliary and Gloria Douglas for the Guides, Brownies and Cubs. Also present for the ceremony was Col. Norman Lowther, Charlottetown a Life Member of the Mount Stewart Legion.

To town from outlying areas were covered with a nice coating of fresh new snow.

Eastern sections of the province had a light snowfall Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. Heavy snowflurries were reported from various sections of the province, although Charlottetown escaped from the snow.

It was snowing in Mount Stewart at 8.30 yesterday morning ading to what had accumulated during the night and Souris also reported a light carpet on the ground.

G'town Snowfall Stops Just Before Ceremony

GEORGETOWN — Remembrance Day observances were held here yesterday under sunny skies as the snow which had been falling all morning suddenly stopped just before 11.00 a.m.

The parade, marshalled by Harry Yorston, moved off from the town hall led by veterans and distinguished visitors. It was comprised of the Legion color party of Arthur MacSwain and Lorne Stevens, followed by the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, school children and citizens.

At the war memorial, two boy scouts, Kenneth Walker and Donald MacDonald stood with bowed heads as the parade marshall called for the singing of O Canada by the children. This was followed by the two minute silence broken by the reciting of the poem 'They Shall Grow Not Old" by Georgetown Legion Branch president Alex Arsenault. The prayer was given by Rev. M.R. Pocklington and the names on the monument's honor roll of veterans who died in two world wars were read by Temple MacDonald.

WREATHS LAID

Wreaths were then laid by Georgetown Mayor A. Kennedy, Thomas Curran, M.L.A. for the provincial government; Legion President Alex Arsenault on behalf of the Georgetown branch Ladies Auxiliary President Mrs. Walter MacLean, next of kin of departed veterans, President Howard S. MacLean on behalf of the Lions Club and Holy Name Society and several legion members for various Georgetown businesses.

Wreaths were then laid by the general public.

The parade then returned to the Legion Home where president Alex Arsenault presided. The hymn, O God, Our Help in Ages Past was sung and then remarks were heard from Mayor A. Kennedy, Rev. L.B. Dooley Thomas Curran, M.L.A. Arthur MacDonald, MLA, Rev. M.R Pocklington.

Guest speaker was Edgar Rogan, secretary of the P.E.I Command of the Royal Canadian Legion who in his address stressed the work being done by the Canadian Legion in Canada. He asked members of the Legion to ask not what your legion can do for you but what you can do for the legion.

FLAG-DRAPED CHAIR

Richard Curley replied to the speaker on behalf of the assembled veterans. Also attending was Pius Smith, first vice president of the P.E.I. command.

In front of the stage was a flag draped chair on which lay a wreath in honor and memory of William MacLeod who passed away since last Remembrance Day.

The ceremony closed with The Queen and at noon, a turkey dinner was served by the Ladies Auxiliary for all veterans, their guests and citizens.

A smoker was held during the afternoon at the Legion home.
