Sport Echoes From Prince County

Following are 300 hitters in Summerside A. A. Baseball League:
MacKay, Holman's 40 16 400
Barlow RCAF 38 13 324
Underwood, Hol. 36 11 324
J. Bernard, Hol. 32 10 313
Delaney, C & B 33 10 303
C. Grady, C & B 34 10 303
H. Landry, Hol. 30 9 300

Leaders in Runs Batted In - Gord MacKay and Bob Barlow of Altona and Holman's 7, Dutch Underwood and Joe Hunter, RCAF, 5, Garth Gay, Holman's, H. Gallant, Holman's, and Laysh Schurman, C & B 4.

With Alan Stewart two outs away from a no-hitter, Frank St. John dumped the ball in front of the plate, and discarding his bat in fair territory took off for first base. The ball collided with the bat and was deflected so that Stewart could not field it. The umpire called the runner safe. We thought he was out because our old rule book gives Rule 49, Sec. W(B) says a play: "The base runner is out if after having hit he bunted a ball to fair territory, his bat again hits the ball on or over fair territory and deflects its course."

Jimmie Hogan, one of the umpires who rarely ever collides with a particular game, dropped in on this morning with a spanking new rule book which says, in effect, that if the batter did not interfere intentionally the umpire may call him safe. That threw us for a loss.

Baseball rules are the result of a group of wise baseball heads sitting around a table and giving every angle of a play a lot of thought and discussion. The rules are therefore based on sound common sense. In spite of all this we think the rule as it now stands is certainly no improvement over the old one. Perhaps there is an angle of the play we are not considering but for a batter to throw his bat into fair territory either deliberately or accidentally in such a way as to prevent a fielder making a play, and remain unpunished just doesn't make sense with us.

A runner who is hit with a batted ball rarely ever collides with the ball intentionally. Fact is, he tries his best to get out of the way. Nevertheless he is out. In basketball over 90 per cent of fouls are unintentional. An accidental trip in hockey calls for a penalty if the trip puts the other side at an appreciable disadvantage. Why then, are the batter's intentions considered in this particular play. We should think a clever batter could interfere in this way and make it look like an accident, although we are sure this was not the case Monday night. We concede that St. John had no intention of interfering with the play.

In any case we believe that Alan Stewart had every chance of achieving his no-hitter if this unfortunate incident had not arisen. He was firing naturally and this freak single put him off his stride so that Emitt the next man up belted the ball into centre field for a double. We're not talking away anything from Max. He has proved himself to be a redoubtable slugger, besides being a capable mound artist.

It is encouraging to see how the young midget players hold their own when playing in intermediate ranks. First Peter Green starts catching for the Curran & Briggs Juniors and has apparently won a steady job behind the plate. Peter is no ball of fire with the hickory so far but performs like a veteran backstop. Monday night another midget made the intermediate grade and did a good job. Maurie Cannon, famous heckler of ball players and Al Schacht of Prince County, played first base for Holman's and did the chore as well as any of the regular first sackers in the league. Maurie also shone at the bat getting one hit and batting in a run in two tries. Only his brilliant wise-cracking ability failed to show. Maurie was strangely silent, maybe a bit overwhelmed by the big jump into fast company.

Washington, July 24 (AP) - Defense Secretary George C. Marshall said today that the United States is building airplane production capacity able to sustain an air force of 180 groups. The number of planes in a group varies from 75 in a fighter group to 18 in a group of the heaviest bombers.
He made that comment at a press conference when asked about complaints in Congress that the planned 95-group air force will not be large enough.

Judge Lewis Appointed Juvenile Court Judge For Prince County

Judge L. G. Lewis, County Court judge, for Prince County has been advised that he has been appointed Judge of the Juvenile Court for Prince County. Ever since his appointment on the bench Judge Lewis has been juvenile court judge for the town of Summerside and has a great interest in the welfare of less fortunate children. Some time ago a juvenile court for the county was set up and Judge Lewis was asked if he would accept the appointment as judge and he agreed to do so. The position of juvenile judge carries no salary with it. Up to now juveniles from Summerside could commit offences outside the town limits and there was no court except the criminal courts where they could be tried. Now Judge Lewis will have jurisdiction any where in Prince County and juveniles may be brought before him for any offence in this area. The object of the juvenile court is not so much the punishment of the offender as the correction of the child where possible. Unfortunately children in this province who are sentenced to homes of correction must be sent out of the province to serve their terms as there are no homes of detention for juveniles on Prince Edward Island. Judge Lewis has been in touch with the problem of juvenile delinquency ever since his appointment as Crown Prosecutor, fourteen years ago.

F. and on completion of his navigation training he proceeded overseas and did a tour of operations with the R.A.F. In 1941 he joined Six Group as Squadron Navigation Leader with 429 Squadron and later held the posts of Station Navigation Officer in Six Group at Croft, and Station Navigation Officer at No. 22 Operational Training Unit at Wellesbourne. He was repatriated to Canada in 1945 and until February 1949 was at Air Force Headquarters, Ottawa. In 1949 he attended the R.A.F. Staff College and until coming to Summerside was the executive assistant to the Air Officer Commanding at Training Command headquarters, Trenton, Ontario. He is married and has two children.

Granted Full Citizenship

At a regular session of the County Court at Summerside yesterday, with Judge L. G. Lewis presiding the Oath of Allegiance was administered to and a Certificate of Citizenship presented to Mr. Aage Sorensen of Tryon. Mr. Morley M. Bell, K.C., was present in court and said that he had known Mr. Sorensen for a number of years and described him as fine, steady, industrious and reliable and felt that he would make a good citizen. He remarked that Mr. Sorensen had come from Europe which is handicapped economically due to two wars. He with others had come to "this land of opportunity" to start a new life, and they deserve the best wishes of all. Mr. Bell expressed the opinion that in the next half century Canada will see its greatest development. He welcomed Mr. Sorensen to full citizenship.
