The next newsletter deadline is November 30, 1993.

Illustrations: The Society extends a special thanks to Jacqueline Badcock, and Connie Gaudet who provided most of the illustrations for this issue.

The Natural History Society gratefully acknowledges support from the Department of Economic Development and Tourism and the Department of Education and Human Resources which enables distribution of newsletters to schools and libraries and to members.

The Natural History Society is an affiliate of the Canadian Nature Federation and has representation on the board of the Island Nature Trust. The Society is a registered, non-profit organization (Part 2, Companies Act). Tax receipts are issued for donations to the Society and these funds are used to further the work of the Society.

Reprinting: Editors of other newsletters and teachers wishing to copy classroom materials are welcome to reprint articles from the Island Naturalist (except when copyrighted). Due acknowledgement must be provided to the Island Naturalist, the author and illustrator.

THIS MONTH'S COVER

This issue's cover illustration is the Common Flicker. This woodpecker drills holes in live and dead trees and forages in both fields and forest for ants. The young and adults often gorge on berries shortly after fledging.
