

This juvenile single blade four crew from the Banook Canoe Championships at Ottawa recently...

Left to right are: Gary McElroy, Brian Greenleaf, Bruce Slater and Bob MacGlashen.

FINISHED SEVENTH

Albertans Take Two Medals At Rifle Shoot Yesterday

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont. (CP) — Albertans captured the two Queen's Medals at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet here Monday.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

City Softball League players are marking time this week, eagerly awaiting the semi-finals which will swing into action next Monday night.

It will be the Junior Basella Youth Club going against the fourth place B.I.S. Shamrocks and the Rollaway Aces taking on the defending champions Barry's Lions.

The Juniors surprised everyone but themselves by finishing in front of the entire pack in the regular schedule. They attained that lofty position by fine defensive play rather than a strong offensive.

The Cinderella team in the league is no other than the Shamrocks. The Irish long ago were counted out but they stubbornly refused to admit that their chances of reaching the playoffs were washed away.

Biggest disappointment was the R.C.A.F. entry from Summerside. The Flyers always were a snappy outfit but this season they played indifferent ball and bowed out of the playoffs in anything but a happy ending.

It may be said that the Airmen had been given every consideration by the men running the City Softball League show. On several occasions they had sought postponements of games in Charlottetown and every time their request was granted.

Why the Airmen didn't notify the league of their inability to come to Charlottetown we don't know, but we do know it was a courtesy in the City League and their application was most willingly accepted by the other entrants in the loop.

It meant a real sour ending to the regular schedule. Dodgers' vice-president Buzzie Bavasi is not concealing his feeling of disappointment about the Dodgers' dismal showing this season.

Frankly, the Dodgers present position has been a great shock. Yet, really, we're no worse off this year than we were in third place in 1957—11 games out. I put it down to three big losses—Lalane, Campanella and the ineffectiveness of Snider.

From here Mr. Bavasi it doesn't look as if you will have anything to do with putting the Giants out of contention. It appears to us that Milwaukee Braves attended to that little detail when they swept their last four game set from Rigney men.

Very often when a guy is traded away from a championship team it makes him sour. It isn't so with Danny O'Connell once the property of Milwaukee Braves and now performing with the San Francisco Giants.

Says Danny: "I was with the Braves for two years and I never saw a playboy. The Braves do the same things as every ballplayer does but they always manage to get caught by bad publicity."

Sure the Los Angeles Dodgers miss the old Pepper pot, Roy Campanella. It wasn't that Campy's batting average always stayed high—indeed some years it reached a pretty low ebb, but his all-around good nature with all the players meant a tremendous lot to the ball club.

This was the year that Don Drysdale was to blossom into one of the league's greatest pitchers. Last year he served notice that he was ready for a great 1958. But 1958 baseball season is now in the homestretch and Don has been the greatest flop on the Los Angeles staff.

Here's what the young hurler has to say: "What would Roy Campanella have done when I started blowing up? He would have hustled out to me and said, 'Boy, better stop this nonsense or I'll give you a good boot where you deserve it. You settle yourself down and do what Campy says. He would have straightened me out. But don't get me wrong. The catching isn't what's wrong with this club. It isn't because we don't have Campanella."

Listening to New York Yankees play a ball game these days doesn't tend to get anyone too excited. The Bombers are so far in front that nobody seems to care any more. However as we listened Sunday afternoon we got a bang out of the way Yankee fans love to see a great player coming through. And even if that player isn't wearing a Yankee uniform.

Well Sunday these same fans got what they wanted and Yankee Stadium really rocked. Ted Williams was sent in as a pinch hitter with the sacks loaded. The Red Sox were trailing 5-1 and the great Ryne Duren was on the mound.

Williams had been sidelined with a bad arm. In practice he looked in real pain trying to swing the bat. But Manager Higgins couldn't think of a better choice with the bases full of Bostonians. So up stepped the Splendid Splinter.

Mind you those Yankee fans love that Duren. The speed ball artist has been a sensation with the Stengelman. New Yorkers feel he's just about the greatest relief hurler they seen for a long time. But this time they weren't on Duren's side. This time he was facing one of the greatest hitters of all time. This time the New Yorkers were howling for Williams to pin Duren's ears back. It's funny but it's true.

Ted did just that, sore arm and all. He laced a single to left centre and two runs came scampering home. Yes, they sure love a champion.

Canadian Junior Tennis Results

OTTAWA (CP) — Partial results in the Canadian junior tennis championships played here Monday:

Junior men's singles, first round: P. Lafleur, Montreal, defeated P. Lortie, Quebec, by default. Y. LeBlanc, Marieville, Que., defeated D. Smith, Ottawa, 6-1, 6-0.

Junior men's singles, second round: A. Taber, Syracuse, defeated S. Sharp, Westmont, Que., by default.

Junior men's singles, third round: D. Woodworth, Halifax, defeated D. Penner, Montreal, 6-3, 6-0.

Probable Pitchers NEW YORK (AP) — Probable pitchers for today's major league games (won-lost records in parentheses):

National League Cincinnati at Philadelphia (N) —Acker (0-2) vs Semproch (13-6) Milwaukee at Pittsburgh (N) —Rush (6-4) vs Witt (5-2)

American League Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5) Kansas City at Detroit (N) —Dickson (7-5) vs Lary (11-10)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

St. Louis at San Francisco (N) —Jones (9-8) vs McCormick (8-4) Chicago at Cleveland — Wynn (9-12) vs Grant (9-8) Baltimore at New York — Brown (4-2) vs Sturdivant (1-5)

Cary Middlecroft Beats Off Challenge To Win Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Old pro Cary Middlecroft beat off a challenge by young Bill Casper Jr. Monday to win the $35,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament by two strokes with a tournament record 16-under-par 264 on a closing three-under 67.

Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif., pro who uses a baseball grip, finished second with 266 and Casper, big, muscular pro from Apple Valley, Calif., wound up third with a 267.

Middlecroft's triumph, worth $5,300, boosted his official earnings in 11 years as a pro to more than $250,000 and shattered a personal 26-month major tournament victory drought. His last big victory was the U.S. Open in 1956.

The 37-year-old Middlecroft, who now plays out of Hollywood, Fla., equalled the best previous 72-hole score of the current pro tour and established a Milwaukee open record by one stroke. Sam Snead of White Sulphur Spring, W. Va., and South Africa's Gary Player tied for the best former 72-hole score at the Greenbrier open with 264s last May. Snead won the playoff.

The final round at the par-70 Tripoli Golf Club, which was held up one day by a violent storm, was loaded with suspense. Casper, 27, second leading money winner this year, drew within one stroke of Middlecroft on the 12th hole, but the former dentist refused to buckle.

Rosburg drew within two strokes of Middlecroft on the 17th, but time and holes ran out on him. Sensational golf featured the tournament. Young Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., was first-round leader with a course-record 63. Rosburg's closing round was a torrid 33-31-64.

Two I. L. Players Suspended Three Days And Fined $50

MONTREAL (CP) — President Frank Shaughnessy of the International Baseball League Monday suspended third-baseman Forrest Smith of Miami Marlins and pitcher Pat Scantlebury of Toronto Maple Leafs for three days and fined each $50.

The president's action resulted from a ruckus that blew up in a game Saturday night in Toronto between Marlins and Leafs. Shaughnessy's statement said that after Frank Herrera of Miami had hit a home run, the next pitch was high but, in the umpire's opinion, not close enough to be considered a bean-ball.

Smith, however, dropped to the ground and on the next pitch struck at the ball and threw his bat toward the mound. The bat hit Scantlebury on the ankle. "In the opinion of the umpires, this action was deliberate on the part of Smith—to throw the bat at the pitcher," Shaughnessy said.

The president's statement said Scantlebury then picked up the bat and advanced to the plate swinging it. Players rushed to the field and Scantlebury hit Chuck Essegian of the Miami club on the leg with the bat. A general fight broke out.

The statement said that on Friday night, after Lew Mortor had hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

hit a home run, pitcher John Gray of Miami pitched high and inside to Bob Johnson of Toronto. The ball struck Johnson's hand, which he threw up to protect his head.

"Regulations of the league require that after a home run is hit and the pitcher throws a fast ball high and inside to the next batter, the umpire must order the pitcher from the game, said Shaughnessy.

"This the umpire failed to do and, in my opinion, his failure to do so led the players to believe the regulation would not be enforced; as a result we had this fracas the following night."

Roughriders Outplay The Alouettes For 49-34 Win

MONTREAL (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders, outplaying Montreal Alouettes and capitalizing on breaks, wrapped up the game in the third quarter Monday night to roll to a 49-34 exhibition football victory.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The fight that brought the game to a halt was called early in the quarter against Saskatchewan and Gilchrist began to slug each other and Shipp appeared to cock his fist into the argument and in seconds he and Gilchrist were slugging. Gilchrist seemed to have been upset by something the Alouettes were doing. The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

Montreal pass on the Alouettes seven. A miscue by Etcheverry—gave the Riders another chance later in the quarter from inside the Montreal 10 when Dale Parsons grabbed up the loose ball.

A third-quarter interception by Harry Lunn paved the way for another Saskatchewan touchdown.

The fight that brought the game to a halt was called early in the quarter against Saskatchewan and Gilchrist began to slug each other and Shipp appeared to cock his fist into the argument and in seconds he and Gilchrist were slugging. Gilchrist seemed to have been upset by something the Alouettes were doing. The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out of the game.

The Alouettes were leading 17-14 at the time of the fight, largely on passes, though their touchdown march was bruised by a line plunge from the yards out.

Sam Etcheverry and Dick Punnett tried a total of 52 passes—Etcheverry completed 28, more than the Big Four record held by Etcheverry and Tom Dubinsky of Toronto Argonauts.

The high-scoring game erupted into a scuffle in the last quarter when Billy Shipp of Montreal and Cookie Gilchrist, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat now with the Riders, began slugging and were thrown out