

The UPEI Faculty Colour

Double-blind testing of all entries to the colouring contest has been completed. Honourable mentions go to Dr. Tony Couture for best anti-war propaganda, to Dutch Master Van Lemm for ugliest colour scheme and to Harihar Hariharan, sole entrant from outside the arts faculty.

The battle for 2nd place was hard fought, ending in a tie between equally deserving professors, Dr. Brent MacLaine and Lesley-Anne Bourne for their office/beauty supply entries. 1st place, by minor landslide, goes to Dr. Shannon Murray's "MacOeuf" entry.

Congratulations and thanks to Dr. Murray and all contestants. Look for the UPEI Student Colouring Contest in an upcoming issue of The Cadre. Awards ceremony will be held later in the month.

-Ed.

Honourable mention for best anti-war egg: Dr. Tony Couture.

The UPEI Faculty Colouring Contest!

DI MUM PIT DUMP T

The 1st
Prize
DI
at CLASS
PUMPKIN ROCKS

Dutch Master Van Lemm

aka Reverend Mike O'neane author of Valerian
Forthright Falling

Honourable mention for ugliest colour scheme (blue fingers and red speckles on a yellow egg?).

UPEI Faculty Colouring Contest!

Harry Hariharan, Professor

© would be the winner of the 1993 Faculty Colouring Contest

Dr. Harry Hariharan: the only science professor who knows how to colour. Thanks, Harry.