WHIM ROAD W.I.

'The Whim Road W.I. meeting was held on Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Webb Nicholson. Due to illness of a number of members, the meeting had previously been postponed. Eleven members and seven visitors responded to roll call.

The president, Mrs. M. J. Munro, opened the meeting with all joining in singing "The Maple Leaf Forever". A poem read by Mrs. George Clarey was greatly enjoyed. In answering roll call, which was "How I Clean", many interesting suggestions were given for cleaning such articles as lace curtains, wall paper, house plant leaves, fur collars, muddy shoes, rugs and mats. In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Cecil Campbell, the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in March, were read by Mrs. Leslie Stuart.

The Red Cross canvassers, the Misses Jean Ann Munro and Edith MacDonald reported a substantial collection from the district. It was agreed to forward at once to the head office the money pledged for equipping the handicraft van. Copies of the Institute News were distributed among the members, together with other pamphlets and health bulletins.

A letter from the home economics convener, read by Mrs. Webb Nicholson, and an article entitled "A Day in the Life of a Public Health Nurse", read by Mrs. George Clarey, proved to be very interesting. It was reported that cheques had been received from the Institute office, which included the annual Government grant and an amount to cover the delegates' expenses at the convention last year. Several receipts were received from the Polio Foundation Fund and the Canadian National Flood Relief Fund for donations sent by the Institute. A member of the district sent a note of thanks for being remembered by the Institute during her illness. An appeal from the Salvation Army for funds in connection with the building of an annex to Sunset Lodge was set aside until the next meeting when canvassers would be appointed.

Two pairs of overalls were handed in to be forwarded to the Red Cross convener, Mrs. Cecil Campbell, who was absent from the meeting. A sale of cotton remnants was auctioned among the members which added a small amount to the funds.

The different committees gave their reports as follows: school committee—towels were in short supply at the school, these would be purchased at once by the secretary; sick committee—a number of sick calls and a hospital call were reported, treats were provided on these occasions. The new committee appointed was Mrs. Lawrence Stuart and Mrs. Leslie Stuart. Several interesting contests were given by the members in charge of entertainment. The new ones appointed to the entertainment committee were Mrs. M. J. Munro and Miss Betty MacBeth.

A penny sale held by Miss Marjorie Clarey, the winner of the contest at a previous meeting, was won by Mrs. George Clarey. Mrs. Wesley Campbell delighted the members by reading a little poem on the subject of "cake mixes". Mrs. Leslie Stuart gave a demonstration on making a bowl from paper strips pasted together and then painted. Mrs. Isabel Moore will hold the demonstration at the next meeting. It was agreed that for roll call next month, each member would tell of a "Famous Canadian and why I admire Him or Her". Mrs. Robert Campbell invited the Institute members to her home for their June meeting. Concluding the meeting, Mrs. Nicholson, the hostess, served a delightful lunch to everyone present. The meeting closed with "The Queen."

Sunday, June 7 was Corpus Christi Day and although the weather had been dark and cool and had rained in the earlier morning, at procession time it was very good. A very large congregation was present at St. Anthony's. The procession left the church and wended its way around the grounds to the side chapel where a repositary had previously been erected. After benediction was given the procession slowly made its way back to the church. The choir was under the direction of Aubin Gallant of Plusville. —AG situation known, South simply led a diamond to the jack and ruffed another club for the ninth, fulfilling trick.

There was nothing conspicuously wrong with the defense, and indeed there is no reason to suspect that many high-ranking players in the East-West positions would produce precisely the same plays. The fact remains, however, that the contract could have been beaten. West certainly could not be blamed for opening the heart, but if East had shifted to his singleton trump, or for that matter had returned anything but a heart, South would have found it impossible to bring home all his low trumps, as he did. The vital point was for the defense not to lead a second heart at any time.

Mrs William Forbes New President S'side W.M.S.

—Mrs. William E. Forbes was appointed president of the W.M.S. of Summerside Presbyterian Church at the annual meeting in the church parlor on Tuesday, June 9. Retiring president Mrs. J. S. Perry, opened with call to worship and prayer after which the Psalm "Through all the changing scenes of life" was sung. Portions from Romans were read by Mrs. Ernest Walker and prayer was offered by Miss Emmeline Marchbank. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Alfred Simpson.

The annual reports submitted were most gratifying. The nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. William E. Forbes; vice-president, Mrs. Harold MacDonald; secretary, Mrs. Maurice Mill; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Hall; home helper, Mrs. Hilbert Johnston; message secretary, Mrs. Wyman Birch. Mrs. Forbes, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Hall were appointed delegates to attend the Presbyterial in North Tryon in July. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers, especially the president, for her untiring efforts during the past two years. The meeting closed with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer in unison. A social hour followed when tea was served.—S
