

More Canadians Had Jobs In May, Fewer Seeking Work

OTTAWA (CP) — More Canadians had jobs in mid-May than in any month since the war, and fewer were seeking work, the federal government said Monday.

About 5,687,000 persons were employed at May 18, an increase of 245,000 from the previous month, a joint monthly statement by the bureau of statistics and the labor department said.

At the same time, although the number of job seekers was 29,000 higher than in May, 1956, increased employment opportunities between mid-April and mid-May absorbed a substantial number of persons who were jobless in April. The bureau's count of 194,000 persons without jobs and seeking work on May 18 was 112,000 lower than in mid-April. It was also 19,000 below May, 1955.

The total number employed was up about 188,000 from last year. Registrations for employment at National Employment Service of ices at May 16 totalled 360,000, down 185,400 from April 18, but 78,100 higher than the May 17, 1956 figure of 281,900.

"The number of persons without jobs and seeking work and the number of registrations for employment both represented a slightly larger proportion of the total labor force this May than a year earlier," the announcement said.

Registrations for employment were down between mid-April and mid-May in all five regions. They decreased by 66,200 in Quebec, 41,700 in Ontario, 33,100 in the Atlantic provinces, 30,500 in the Prairie region and 13,900 in the Pacific region.

CIVILIAN FORCE UP

The civilian labor force at May 18 totalled 5,881,000, compared to 5,748,000 in the week ended April 20. About 5,142,000 or 87.4 per cent of the total worked full time; 429,000 or another 7.3 per cent worked part time and 116,000 or two per cent had jobs but did not work.

The total labor force figure also includes the 194,000 without jobs and seeking work.

Following are total unfilled NES job applications by regions at May 16, 1957, with figures for April 18, 1957, and May 17, 1956, in brackets:

Atlantic, 56,225 (89,360 and 46,363); Quebec, 120,650 (186,874 and 104,408); Ontario, 101,757 (143,443 and 66,563); Prairie region, 43,901 (74,285 and 39,637); Pacific region, 37,583 (51,500 and 24,977).

Changes Mind, To Wed Another

MELBOURNE (AP) — A pretty Greek girl, Vasiliki Mastrogianopolou, 18, saw two men standing on the dock when she arrived aboard the liner Gen. W. C. Langfitt last Thursday.

One was George Tsipiras, 36, a man she had never seen except in photographs but had come here to marry. The other was tall, dark and handsome.

When all the passengers had disembarked, George was still standing there waiting. No Vasiliki and, whether he noticed it or not, no tall, dark and handsome man.

George got worried and reported Vasiliki missing.

Monday night, Vasiliki walked into a police station and reported she wasn't missing at all. Beside her stood another George—George Ignatiadis, 28, a laborer — tall, dark and handsome.

"When I saw my fiance on the pier I was disappointed and didn't want to meet him," she told police. "Then I saw this other man and I felt something inside me. It was love. He is so young and handsome."

"Now we are engaged and have written to our parents in Greece for permission to marry."

U.S. Sees Surplus In Newsprint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. commerce department says that starting this year, world supplies of newsprint are expected to be bigger than demand. U.S. dependence on foreign supply would decrease shortly.

H. B. McCoy, head of the commerce department's business and science services administration, gave this report Monday in presenting a House of Representatives commerce sub-committee with an extensive study on prospective pulp, paper and board supply and demand.

McCoy took note of increasing uses of forest materials, growing domestic and foreign production, the big rise in pine tree growth in the southern U.S. and tropical forests still untapped.

REPORT HIGHLIGHTS

1. Presenting highlights from the commerce department study, McCoy said:

1. "World newsprint demand in 1959 is expected to total 14,900,000 tons compared with a production potential of 16,300,000 tons. Beginning in 1957 there is expected to be a growing cushion of supply in excess of world demand."

2. U.S. newsprint consumption demand is expected to rise to 8,250,000 tons in 1965, compared with 6,800,000 tons in 1956, a gain of 21.3 per cent. For 1957, 1958 and 1959 a growing margin of supply over demand is indicated. During these three years U.S. newsprint capacity increases are expected to more than meet the growth in domestic demand, with the result that newsprint imports into the United States may decline in this period."

J. H. Chipman Dies In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — John Howland Chipman, 62, president and general manager of Brown Brothers Limited, stationery manufacturers, and former commanding officer of the 48th Highlanders, died of a heart attack at his summer home on Lake Simcoe Sunday.

Mr. Chipman was born in St. Stephen, N.B., a grandson of Sir Leonard Tilley, one of the Fathers of Confederation.

An active sportsman, he was Canadian amateur squash rackets champion in 1926 and Ontario senior golf champion in 1951.

A graduate of Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., he began his business career with Hughes-Owen Company of Montreal in 1920. Two years later he moved to Toronto and in 1927 became a member of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. He became vice-president of Brown Brothers in 1933 and had been president for 15 years until his death.

His military career began at the age of 12 when he marched with the 71st York Regiment as a full bugler. His father, Lt.-Col. John Chipman, was the regimental commander.

He joined the Victoria Rifles in Montreal as a private and later became a lieutenant with the 48th Highlanders in Toronto. He served overseas with the 92nd Battalion in the First World War, winning the Military Cross. He went on the retired list as lieutenant-colonel of the 48th in 1940.

Expect Strong Steel Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age, the national trade weekly, says there is a "growing belief that steel demand will make a strong comeback in the fourth quarter" of the year.

The weekly says factors which will contribute to a stronger American steel market later in the year include an expected revival in auto sales, a reversal of user inventory policy from reduction to building, continued high-level spending for new plant and equipment, heavy freightcar backlog, oil and gas activity, a strengthening export market and fall seasonal influences.

But, the publication adds, "steel producers are worried about the public's reaction to the expected steel price boost in July."

"This concern may work toward minimizing the amount of the increase after steel labor gets its wage boost. Some companies are beating the drums for as much as $10 a ton, but the actual increase probably will be closer to $6."
