Reeves Regains Full Possession Of LA Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Dan Reeves, who brought Los Angeles Rams here 17 years ago from Cleveland, regained full control of the National Football League club at a private auction Thursday.

The club issued this statement, which presumably varied from the one given in a press release, among the club's major stockholders: "Under an auction procedure, which was supervised by the commissioner of the National Football League, Los Angeles Rams football club partnership interests of Edwin W. Pauley, Frederick Levy Jr., and J. Hal Selby."

"Subject to fulfillment of the bidding conditions prescribed by the commissioner of the National Football League, the club was sold to Dan Reeves, who is now the sole owner of the club."

No price was announced but the figure reportedly was in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. Pauley, wealthy oilman, had been the favorite to make the high bid at the auction. He had been factoring controlling interests of the club with Reeves following the other three.

SEEK CUBAN OIL MOSCOW (AP) - Tass reported Thursday that Soviet geologists are looking for oil in Cuba. The dispatch from the official Soviet news agency said they also are prospecting in Cuba for iron, nickel, manganese, copper and peat.

His Excellency Most Reverend M. A. MacEACHER, D.D. Bishop of Charlotteville will hold a reception at the Bishop's Residence on New Year's Day from 2:30 till 4:30 p.m.
