CHARLOTTETOWN, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1856.

UNITED STATES.

ANOTHER STRAMBOAT BURNED.—SEVERAL LIVES LOST.—
Whitcomb, Va., July 30.—The steamer John Jay was burnt yesterday on Lake George, near Garfield. As far as is known six of the passengers perished. The captain and crew were all saved. The boat is burned to the water's edge. The fire is said to have been occasioned by the choking of the smoke pipe, which drove the flames into the fire-room, setting the boat almost instantly on fire. Much blame is attached to the captain, who, instead of running the boat on the sandy shore, where all might be saved, kept her off in hopes to save her. He was finally compelled to run her on the rocks.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Boston, July 29th.—A destructive fire occurred in North street this afternoon, destroying Jefferson block, several tenements in the rear and at the corner of North and Clark streets, also, a stable owned by John Seaver. Cornelius Doherty owned Jefferson block, which was occupied as a grocery, clothing store, and by several families. The buildings destroyed were mostly occupied by Irish families and sailor boarding houses. By the falling of the walls, Charles A. Warren, fireman, was killed, and three firemen injured. Seven dead bodies additional—a man, woman and five children—have been taken from the ruins, so defaced as not to be recognized. It is rumoured several other lives have been lost. Loss by the fire about $75,000.

RIVER STEAMER BURNED.—St. Louis, July 29.—Steamer O. H. Larkin was destroyed by fire about ninety miles below here yesterday. The boat and cargo were a total loss. The boat was valued at $150,000, and insured in St. Louis offices. Value of cargo unknown.

FIRE BY LIGHTNING.—Ourlisle, Pa., July 29.—There was a heavy thunder storm here last night. Five barns and one dwelling house were struck by lightning and burnt. The barns were filled with the owners' entire crops. Other damage in different parts of the country are reported.

A GIRL MURDERED BY HER LOVER.—A singular and cold blooded murder was committed last Monday in McKean Township, Penn., the victim being a young girl named Calista Cornelia Allen, aged about fifteen, and the perpetrator Walter Hayt, aged thirty-five. Hayt had for some time entertained a passion for Miss Allen, and had made propositions of marriage to her; and he alleges (for he confesses the crime and the motives that induced him to do it) that she had promised to marry him; that they had several times agreed upon a day for the consummation of their union, but that she had in each case postponed it till another; and that the very day on which he committed the horrible deed had been appointed, by previous arrangements, as their wedding day. On the other hand, her family state that she had never been engaged to him and had no intention of marrying him, but had always considered and treated his attentions as a persecutor. Hayt confesses that he had premeditated the deed for several days, and debated with himself for some time whether to kill the girl or himself; but finally settled down on her destruction, provided she again refused.

He therefore provided himself with a Colt's revolver, and went to Mr. Allen's house about two o'clock in the afternoon of Monday. He found the youthful and innocent object of his passion and malice alone, though her mother was in or near the house. He again pressed his proposition of marriage. She again refused, and told him that she would not marry him, nor did she wish any further attentions from him. She was sitting in a chair, and he instantly drew his revolver and shot her through the head. She fell upon the floor, but there appearing to be still signs of life, he raised her up, and, laying her on a sofa, shot her a second time through the head. At this instant her mother appeared at the door and raised the cry of murder. The maddened wretch turned upon her, and, as she ran, fired at her twice, but neither of the shots took effect. He then attempted to escape, but, seeing persons following him, he stopped and gave himself up.

The same evening Hayt was brought to Erie and lodged in jail. He seems indifferent concerning the terrible crime that he has committed, and, in fact rather gratified that he succeeded so handsomely. There appears to be no evidence of insanity about him, and the crime was certainly committed coolly and deliberately.

The last atrocity in New York city was the murder on Thursday night of Bartholomew Rourke, an Irishman 32 years old, who had been for ten years a faithful porter to Samuel Joyce, tailor, 378 Broadway. Finding the store closed in the morning, the foreman got a locksmith to open it, when Rourke was found lying dead in one corner of the dressing room of the establishment; his throat was cut, his skull fractured by blows from a pressing iron and gashes and wounds upon various parts of his body. The posture of the body indicated that a severe struggle had taken place—his arms were in a position of defence, his fists clenched, and his eyes open presenting a horrid spectacle. He lay in a pool of his blood, and beside him was the scabbard of a sword, the weapon itself being about twenty feet from him. The deceased was a temperate and industrious man, and one not calculated to make enemies. He had nearly $1000 of his earnings deposited in two savings banks in that city, and generally kept some money, jewelry, &c., in his trunk in an inner room of Mr Joyce's establishment, where he slept, and to get possession of this property is supposed to have been the object of the assassins. He was last seen alive at 11 o'clock on Thursday night, and was then sitting with another man at one of the side windows of the establishment, drinking beer. This man is supposed to have been the murderer.

CIRCULAR.

DR. JOHNSON respectfully announces to the public the return of his son (DR. HAMMOND JOHNSON) from Harvard and Albany Colleges, United States, and that in future his medical establishment will be conducted in the name of "JOHNSON & SON." He regrets that his country engagements have so frequently prevented a due attention to his town patients, and feels glad in now being able to provide for any future emergency. He is extremely sorry to find that the disreputable system of slander and detraction, so industriously active against himself for many years, is continued with increasing acerbity against his son. Having himself very quietly borne the assaults on his professional integrity for a long period, he is afraid that continued silence may be considered as an admission of their truth; in justice, therefore, to himself, his family, and as a duty to the public, he will, very reluctantly, bring the subject to their attention in a form (though exceedingly unpleasant to himself) which, he has no doubt, will be satisfactory to them. In the mean time, he can most confidently and conscientiously introduce his son as having had a most complete classical and professional education, at least equal to his traducers. His previous liberal education and many years professional training under the best physicians, surgeons, chemists and pharmacians that the general practice of England produces, prepared him for the liberal advantages of the "States" Colleges, of which he has availed himself with more than ordinary industry, perseverance and success, having obtained an applauded Diploma from each College. As corroborating this, his father feels it a pleasurable act of justice, to him, to append to those remarks part of a note, received some months ago, from the Dean of Faculty, Harvard College:—

"Boston, March 17, 1856.
"MY DEAR SIR,—I regret that you did not receive my letter during the lectures. I write now merely to say how much gratified I was during your son's entire sojourn with us; with his promptness, attention, fidelity; he was always at his post, always ready, and I was much pleased to give him a letter to Albany to my old friend Professor Marsh. I feel assured that his course will be a brilliant one.
"With great respect, yours truly,
"D. HUMPHREYS STORER."
