Corset Flushing

No wonder corset steels slip out when "Flushing" is mere sham. Genuine flushing is done by hand and the silk stitches show both out and inside.

Examine any ordinary corset and you find all "flushing" on the outside and cotton stitches on the inside. Of course, such work is only imitation of the real hand work that tells in the durability of a corset.

is a hand-"flushing" corset. It is the lightest, strongest, most comfortable, most fashionable and best corset made. In all sizes and for all figures, $1.00 to $30.00 per pair.

FIRST USE OF UMBRELLAS

The introduction of the umbrella in some places has been regarded of sufficient importance to be included in the local annals. About 1780 a real Leghorn umbrella was introduced into Bristol, and it created quite a sensation in the city. It was about the same period that an umbrella was first carried in the streets of Stamford, Lincolnshire. It was of Chinese manufacture and was brought to Stamford from Glasgow.

Mrs. Stockdale, in 1776, is recorded to have brought from the island of Granada, in the West Indies, the first umbrella seen in Cartmel, Lancashire. In 1779 Dr. Spens, a popular physician, carried an umbrella in the streets of Edinburgh, and he is credited with introducing it into the Scottish capital. John Jamieson, a Glasgow surgeon, visited Paris about 1781 or 1782 and brought back with him an umbrella, which was the first seen in Glasgow, where it attracted unusual attention. William Symington was the first person to carry an umbrella in Paisley.

It is related by Horace Walpole in his account of the punishment of Dr. Shebberere for libel, Dec. 5, 1758, that when he was in the pillory a footman held over him an umbrella to keep off the rain. This has been described as an aristocratic style of bearing punishment. The undersheriff got into trouble for permitting the indulgence.—Fireside.

Caught In His Own Trap.

It is always pleasant to read of instances in which would be practical jokers have had a chance to sample their own wares. In "Life In California," Alfred Robinson tells of a Senor Lugo, who often amused the travelers by his stories and eccentricities, and one evening attempted a practical joke, with the following result:

He had loaded a paper cigar with gunpowder and placed it among his cigars. During his visit with me he repeatedly asked me to smoke, but I fortunately missed the cigar he had prepared, until finally, from the lateness of the hour, he withdrew.

In the course of the night he awoke, and feeling a desire to smoke selected from his bundle, quite forgetful of the evening's amusement, the very cigar he had prepared for me. Having lighted it, he returned to bed.

The cigar was about half consumed and he more than half asleep when a sudden explosion carried away the better part of his mustache, and so thoroughly frightened his poor wife that I venture to say the event will never be forgotten.

Italian Marriage Brokers.

In Genoa there are regular marriage brokers who have lists of marriageable girls of the different classes with notes of their personal attractions, fortunes and circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange connections in the same old hand way that they would a merchandise transaction. Marriages there are more often a simple matter of business calculation, generally settled by the relatives, who often draw up the contract before the parties have seen each other. It is only when everything has been arranged and a few days previous to the marriage ceremony that the future husband is introduced to his intended wife. Should he find fault with her manners and appearance he may annul the contract on condition of defraying the brokerage and any other expenses incurred.

The Dough Head Discovered.

That truth is stranger than fiction is illustrated by the following true story, relates the Lapeer Press: About 40 years ago a boy was kicked by a horse. The physician attending the case found his skull was broken, and a good share of his brains had leaked out. Thinking to do the best he could and knowing it would not do to leave the place vacant, the doctor took buckwheat flour, and making a thick batter, trephined the skull and filled the cavity. That boy lived and grew to be a man, weighs 250 pounds and is smart as most men. Living not far from Oakwood, he does business in Lapeer quite often and is all right, only once in awhile that buckwheat batter will rise, and then he is daff for a time. Dr. William Rossman, who died in this city, did the surgical job.

EDUCATING HER GIRLS

Standards of conduct differed from those now in general acceptance. For instance, walking one day to Ipswich we met a laborer's wife and her two daughters, girls of 12 and 14.

"So, Mrs. P.," said my eldest sister. "You have been shopping."

"No, miss," replied the good woman, with an unmistakable air of self approval, "but I am anxious to do my girls all the good I can, so I have just taken them to see a man hanged."—"Reminiscences of Bentham Edwards."

Wonderful Memories.

Seneca, the tutor of Nero, could repeat 2,000 words exactly as he heard them. Pope could turn at once to any passage which had struck him when reading, and Leyden, the Scottish poet, who died in the early part of the century, was also remarkable for his memory. Leyden is credited with having been able to repeat an act of parliament or a long legal document after having heard it once.

Built Upon a Bowlder.

There is a village in England built upon an enormous bowlder of chalk. This bowlder is half a mile long and must have been carried coastward a distance of 25 miles by some great iceberg. It was dropped to the bottom of the glacial sea, where it became partly covered and surrounded by blue gray bowlder clay.
