

Longshot Surprise Entries Will Compete In Classic

NEW YORK (AP) — Three longshot surprise entries were made Friday for the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes on the chance that might produce an off track, but Sword Dancer, Royal Orbit and Black Hills supporters remained unalarmed. The race is over 1 1/2 miles.

Eight three-year-olds had been expected to face the starter today at 5:46 p. m. ADT in the 91st and richest Belmont Stakes, winner of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

But the entry book closed with three-extras, the Wheatley Stable's Irishman, John S. Kroese's North Pole 2nd, and the Copalan Stable's Joe Master.

That raised the prospective field to 11.

Sword Dancer, who was nosed out by Tomy Lee in the Derby and ran second to Royal Orbit in the Preakness, was listed as the 6-5 favorite.

Mrs. Helina Braunstein's Royal Orbit was second choice at 2-1. The King Ranch's Black Hills, who won the Peter Pan in third choice at 4-1.

CLEAR SKIES AT RACE TIME

There was light rain early Friday when entries were taken, and the weatherman said there was a possibility of scattered showers early today. Clear skies and 80 degree weather was seen for the afternoon. The three late comers could be withdrawn to 45 minutes before the start to avert payment of the $1,000 entrance fee.

Manassa Mauler, Dunce, Scotland, Bagdad and Lake Erie round out the field. All carry 126 pounds.

If 11 start, the purse will gross $147,500, with any of 10 winners netting $94,825. Manassa Mauler would get only $59,875 since he was made a $5,000 supplementary nominee Friday.

Eddie Arcaro, who rides Black Hills, has won six Belmonts, while Willie Shoemaker on the favored Sword Dancer won the race in 1957 with Gallant Man. They are the only riders with previous victories.

Leaf Baseball Club Owner Is Genius With Gimmicks

Bill Veeck has nothing on Jack Kent Cooke. Each deals in corn in huge gobs.

Each runs a baseball club. Probably the only difference between the two is that Veeck refuses to wear a tie—the fellow even adhered to this fetish when he married — and Cooke could qualify as one of the top 10 of Canada's best-dressed males.

Cooke bought the Toronto baseball club of the International League in July 1961, and since then fans of the Triple A club have had corn served up with baseball.

BABY SHOWER NIGHT

The latest gimmick was perpetrated this week when Cooke and his hired promotion geniuses latched on to a baby shower night. The latest brainchild came about when outfielder Archie Wilson became the father of a girl.

The geniuses in the Maple Leaf front office came up with the Archie Wilson Baby Night. Naturally, enough, it is strictly for the fans.

"All expectant fathers and their wives will be admitted for only 50 cents—a real three-for-one deal," said a press release from the Leaf front office.

"Before the Leafs battle the pesky (Havana) Cubans that night, an exciting whispering contest will take place right at home plate. Only expectant fathers may compete."

VEECK'S STUNTS

Veeck, of Cleveland Indians, the old St. Louis Browns and now Chicago White Sox fame, has pulled some dandy stunts in his time with midgets, helicopters and so on but he never has outdone Cooke.

Since the Toronto millionaire bought the Leafs, they've had all sort of "nights." If the Leafs play on a Friday, the 13th, it automatically allows anybody — with a black cat in tow—into the ball park free. The only stipulation is that the animals must be alive.

Toronto merchants have fallen in line with the gimmicks. They've given away new cars. They had a kid's night with a pony and dogs as prizes. Just about every model in the city has made a public appearance at the park. Vaudeville acts from local theatres and night clubs have been delivered at home plate in low-slung convertibles to entertain the fans before games.

One night a helicopter dropped down in centre field with a comedian aboard.

"NIGHTS" FOR ALL

There have been nights for policemen, firemen, taxi drivers, streetcar operators, families and Ladies Appreciation Night; wear prizes included tins of honey, earrings, chocolates and aluminium cooking utensils.

Cooke has used uncounted gallons of paint to brighten up the park. At least a gallon was used to paint this deathless sentence over each stadium entrance:

"Under these portals pass the most wonderful fans in the world."

All of this corn has paid off. Cooke is acknowledged in baseball circles as one of the smartest men around, particularly at the box-office. The Leafs still are looking for their first little world series title since Cooke took over.

CHARLOTTETOWN DRIVING PARK is going to make another try at staging a harness racing card tonight.

This is the seventh time that a race has been called for the local racing strip this season and up to now only two programs have been run off.

The opening show set for May 30 was rained out and set over until Monday June 1. They managed to get the card in that night but cold and drizzle kept the fans away in droves. Then came Saturday June 6 and rain took over again. These eight dashes were pushed ahead to Monday but the rains continued and the winds howled and thinks were off till Tuesday.

Well they went Tuesday night after the weather had apparently cleared but by the time four dashes were over the rain and wind were back again. The program was completed but a lot of the folks were homeward bound after dash four. Wednesday they tried to get in what was originally scheduled for Monday but it was a mighty good thing the races never got underway because the temperature went down near the freezing point. And so that card was wiped off the books.

HOWEVER, tonight the officials of the local raceway are expecting better co-operation. The forecast is promising as far as the weather is concerned.

The program for this evening's patrons looks like a real natural and that six-hour free-for-all should be worth the price of admission alone. These fast ones are making their initial start of the young season and folks have been eagerly awaiting a glimpse of them.

So let's keep our fingers crossed. Surely tonight will be a big one at Charlottetown Driving Park.

CHARLOTTETOWN GOLF CLUB is in full swing and plenty of activity will be in evidence from here till the season's close.

This Sunday at Cavendish the first round of the P.E.I. District Tournament will be played with the second round set for Charlottetown Sunday June 21.

From this tournament five players will qualify to go to Edmundston, N.B. with twenty golfers from the other four districts in the Maritimes in an effort to name two golfers to the Wellington Cup team. The other two team members will come out of the N.B.-P.E.I. tournament staged in Fredericton in mid-July.

A large entry list goes tomorrow at Cavendish and keen competition is certainly expected.

Next Wednesday Charlottetown Golf Club is holding its opening dance in the clubhouse. Music will be supplied by the Downtowners Quartette. The dance runs from 9:30 to 12:30 and members are allowed to bring one couple who are non-members.

The executive of the local club has asked that members support these dances. They assure all patrons that the dances will be well conducted and everyone will have a whale of a good time. These dances have always been popular but club officials intend making them even more attractive in 1959.

ANOTHER BUSY WEEKEND looms for Prince Edward Island sport folks.

We mentioned already the golfing and horse racing but there's more on the agenda than those. Softball will hold the spotlight at Victoria Park's old diamond Sunday afternoon with two contests scheduled to be served up.

Down King's County way, baseball will be the order of the afternoon with action slated for three fronts. The interest in this sport is increasing each week and with fine weather tomorrow, the biggest attendance of the season are likely to witness the battles.

There are other softball leagues in operation throughout the province and practically all of these will be going concerns Sunday afternoon.

WE'D LIKE to see some outside competition for our junior ball players.

We understand that will come just as soon as Memorial Field is ready for play. The Legionaires and Summerside Pontiacs made an appearance before Sunday fans and the lads had a real slugfest for themselves.

Over in New Brunswick, these Moncton Juniors look like a classy outfit. They are in a loop with Springhill, Amherst, Sackville and Memramcook—all senior clubs—and the Monctonians are showing the way to the lot of them.

We'd like to see arrangements made to bring these lads to Charlottetown for a crack at one or both of our junior outfits. Then Al Hollingsworth is still howling for a game. He manages the Halifax Juniors and he's been keeping after Brian Lewis these past few weeks. Brian intends to co-operate with Al's request just as soon as the playing field is in shape.

Now is the time to start lining up a few games. The Juniors have practiced hard and should be able to give mainland opposition a stern argument.

But we'll never know that for sure until they get an opportunity to play the New Brunswickers and Nova Scotians.

WHEN YOU READ your Monday's paper you could find new leaders in both the major leagues.

The races are so close that anything can toss a team from one position to another in a real hurry. This weekend looks like a mighty important one to all teams with pennant ambitions. These two days could be the ones that will win or lose the pennant.

Both loops have full schedules for Saturday and Sunday and several teams will engage in three games in the next two days. Those three games if put in the win column could look very big next September. However should they fall in the loss column, then things surely would be taking a turn for the worse.

We'll just have to wait and see.

Alex Olmedo In Tennis Finals

BECKENHAM, England, (CP) Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles advanced to the men's singles finals of the Kent lawn tennis championship Friday, while an all-American final in women's singles was set for today between Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif.

Olmedo defeated Denmark's Torben Ulrich in the semi-finals, 6-4, 6-4 and will meet Kurt Nielsen of Copenhagen today for the championship. Nielsen eliminated Low Gerrard of New Zealand, 6-2, 7-5.

Miss Moore defeated Jeanne Arth of St. Paul, Minn., 6-3, 6-0, and Miss Hard overcame Janet Hopps of Seattle 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Bill Casper Captures Lead In U.S. Open Golf Tourney

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Casper, Jr., charged in with a two-under-par 68 Friday and seized a one-stroke lead at the halfway point of the U.S. Open Golf championship. He had a 36-hole score of 139.

Tied at 140, even par for two rounds over the heavily trapped Winged Foot course, were a formidable trio consisting of Ben Hogan, seeking a record fifth title; Arnold Palmer, 1957 Masters winner, and South Africa's Gary Player.

Casper, a consistent money winner and one of the deadliest putters in the game, missed sinkable puts on the 17th and 18th. Had he made good on either putt, Casper would have tied the 36-hole Open record of 138, shared by Sam Snead, Hogan, Dick Mayer and amateur Billy Joe Patton.

HOGAN STAYS IN FIGHT

Hogan, plugging the holes in his wavering game with spectacular recoveries, remained in the thick of the fight by adding a 71 to his first round 69. Player, shot a 69 despite a two-over-par six at the 17th. Palmer, driving on a clothes-line and blasting from traps with deadly accuracy, added a 69 to his earlier 71.

The 59th Open turned into another traffic jam with a dole-akaed hp pncgi flouturytpea players packaged within four shots of each other at the head of the pack.

Tied at 141 were Doug Ford, former Masters champion, who also shot 69, and Mike Souchak, who added a 70 to an opening 71.

The Professional Golfers Association champion, Dow Finsterwald, and Ernie Vossler followed at 142.

The field was cut to the low 50 and ties for today's rigorous double-round climax.

It took a score of 150 to survive the cutoff. There were 61 players including Belding, with that figure or better. Main casualties included former champions Dick Mayer (157) and Eo

Tommy Bolt, the defending champion, apparently survived the cutoff with a 73 for 148. Sam Snead, the co-favorite with Arnold Palmer, added a 72 to a 73 for 145.

Registration Of Players Is Big Success

Registration of Minor League baseball players yesterday afternoon was a huge success, with a total of 190 applicants turning out.

In the immediate future names of teams and players on these teams will appear in the paper.

Cavendish Course Is Set For District Tournament

The first round of the P.E.I. sectional tournament gets underway Sunday June 14 at Cavendish.

Over 40 golfers have signified their intention of participating. This is the first round with the final round set for Charlottetown course next Sunday.

All who are intending to try for a Wellington Cup berth must play 36 holes on each course. The top five will go to Edmundston to compete with 30 other golfers from the four other Maritime districts. From this meeting two will be named to the Cup team.

The other two will be selected at the N.B.-P.E.I. tournament in Fredericton, N.B. in mid-July.

However, there will be many who will only go 18 holes each Sunday. This will qualify them for tournament prizes but excludes them for Wellington Cup play.

Here is Sunday's draw:

Johansson Fans Receive Warning From Experts

STOCKHOLM, (AP) — Boxing experts, watching Ingemar Johansson prepare for his June 25 title bout with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in New York, are warning Swedish readers that the challenger may not be ready for the bout.

"Ingemar has a weakness for night life and dancing. His training methods are contrary to all the rules. I am seriously worried about the title fight. I thought he would be the new world champion. Now I am beginning to doubt that he can make it. He is not preparing himself the way a challenger should."

PRACTICE

A practice has been called for Intermediate Abbies this afternoon at 2:30 at Memorial Field.

Ortiz Scores TKO Over Kenny Lane

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, 22-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, won the junior welterweight title Friday by stopping Kenny Lane on a second round technical knockout because of a deep cut over Lane's right eye.

Lane weighed 140, Ortiz 139 1/2.

Referee Harry Kessler called in Dr. Harry Kleiman as soon as the bell ended the second round. The last punch of the round, a sharp right to the head by Ortiz, brought a stream of blood from Lane's face.

Dr. Kleiman went to the Muskogee, Mich., boy's corner and notified Kessler that the fight would be stopped. The end came with startling quickness for the boys appeared just to be getting warmed up for a torrid go.

DEEP LACERATION

"It was a deep laceration over the right eye," said Dr. Kleiman. "It was almost to the bone and bled profusely. It could have been a slaughter if it continued."

The blow that broke open the cut landed just as the bell sounded to end the second. In New York it went as a second round TKO. In National Boxing Association territory it would have carried over to the third round.
