LARGE quantities of deals were passed on Wednesday by the St. Lawrence between Point du Chene and Summerside. The boat had to stop twice for fear of the deals getting into the wheels. Some rafts have recently been broken up in Richibucto, from which the deals are supposed to have come.

THE French warship Minerve left here for Quebec this morning. SEVENTY carloads of water pipes have arrived at New Glasgow, N. S., for the new waterworks of that town, and the contract for their laying has been awarded. Bridgetown and Kentville are ordering their pipes in Scotland, and expect to have their waterworks in operation this fall. In Charlottetown we have been agitating waterworks for many years, and have only succeeded in electing three commissioners to enquire into the source of supply, etc. The chairman, Hon. D. Laird, is at present in Boston, consulting with a prominent civil engineer.

THE following is a clipping from the Denver Republican of recent date, and refers to a son of the late Lauchlan McNeill, Esq., of Tryon. Mr. McNeill's many relatives and friends here will be glad to hear of his success abroad: "Allan McNeill, formerly of Lakeside, who graduated from the High School here in class '86, recently took the Kellogg prize at Amherst University. The Kellogg prize is the highest prize offered for declamations, being $50. There were sixteen competitors. This is very complimentary to Mr. McNeill, who is just closing his freshman year, having to compete with his seniors. This fully sustains the records that Mr. McNeill made during the years that he was a student here."

VISITORS to or from Halifax should take a run through the Annapolis Valley via the Windsor and Annapolis Railway. The scenery along the route is particularly delightful, and if the traveller is fortunate enough to board the train in charge of Conductor Joe Edwards, he can rely on being well posted on all the points of interest. Joe has become somewhat celebrated in connection with Longfellow's Evangeline, about whom he is always willing to chat with inquisitive tourists. He carries along an autograph letter from Longfellow, acknowledging the receipt of a cane and some apple twigs from the birthplace of Evangeline, as well as a stock of canes and bric-a-brac collected at the same place. His is fond of distributing the latter to visitors, and in this connection some queer stories are told. Joe is a good fellow all the same, and is always courteous and obliging to travellers.

ON Tuesday morning as the steamer St. Lawrence was backing out from the Railway Wharf at Summerside, a young man who had gone on board to see a friend off, made an unsuccessful attempt to perform the feat of jumping from the boat to the wharf, a distance of about thirty feet. Had he jumped twenty-six feet further he would have landed on the wharf, right side up. But as it was he just merely ploughed a hole into the briny about four feet from the boat and bravely struck out for life—and the wharf. It was painfully evident to the most casual observer who stood on the pier that he was not such an expert swimmer as Paul Boynton; but by dint of preservance he succeeded in nearing terra firma, when Mr. Ellis Schurman pulled off his coat and threw one sleeve towards the struggling man, which he eagerly grasped and was pulled up a sadder and wetter man. After having waved his hat to his friend on the boat he hied him hurridly up town without even a "thank you" to his rescuer. It is safe to bet that he will not board a boat again immediately prior to her leaving, unless he intends taking a passage.

THE Tea Party at St. Peter's Bay, yesterday, in aid of the new Roman Catholic Cathedral at that place, was held on the beautiful grounds of Mr. R. D. About four thousand persons were on the grounds, and everything passed off quietly. The amount realized was large.

CLAIRE SCOTT who will appear at the Lyceum in "East Lynne," on the 28th, is too well known here to comment on her ability. She has appeared in New York, Philadelphia, Louisville, Boston, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Chicago, Atlanta, Savannah, Denver, Galveston and other principal cities, performing in twenty-eight states, and before all the principal critics; and Halifax, St. John, Montreal and other cities of Canada, receiving the most flattering press notices of which she holds the originals, with day and date of issue. It is quite interesting to look over her book of press notices. Don't forget the date, July 28th, and the beautiful play of "East Lynne." li

THE Journal asks: "Will THE EXAMINER kindly inform us who is 'Judge Skinner, M. P.,' who is to be induced to visit the Island in the interest of Oddfellowship? We are not aware that Judges are allowed to hold seats in the Canadian Parliament, but possibly 'Judge Skinner, M. P.,' may be indebted to his godfathers and godmothers for the appellation." We may inform our contemporary that the person alluded to was Judge of Probate at St. John, N. B., for a number of years, and is familiarly known by the above title. It is usual for such prefixes as "Hon." "Judge," etc., to remain long after their bearer has doffed the ermine or retired from the field of politics.
