Letters

In Response

Dear Editor,

In response to R. Harding who responded to my letter regarding the vet college and UPEI, I would like to thank R. for his very well-written and informative letter.

When I wrote my article, I wanted to bring up an issue that was apparent to me. If you feel it was "in Loos' imagination" I'm sorry but I don't think it is.

I certainly did not want to create a controversy for the sake of discussion. I simply wanted to bring the issue forward, in a neutral manner, in order to draw some response from all UPEI students. I felt that encouraging students to express their views could somehow help those attending UPEI to understand the situations and attitudes of the vet students (and vice versa).

I do apologize for the insinuation that UPEI students and vet students are two separate entities. I certainly had no intention of presenting it that way, and thank you for the clarification.

Loo.

Celebrity Fan

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to a letter you ran last week. That letter was criticizing Celebrity Corner and it's author Winston Duncan. That letter was full of crap. Ask any Gem reader and they will tell you that Celebrity Corner is the best thing in the Gem. Everyone knows how the athletes train and practise for their sport. With Celebrity corner we get to see the lighter side of the athletes. I know from talking to Winston Duncan that his column is there for laughter and entertainment. It is not to be taken personally by the readers. Through Celebrity Corner we can identify with these guys and girls. the column will help, not hurt the athletes profiled. It will help, break the sterotype that says jocks are snobbish and self-centred. I know a few of them and they are regular people with feelings just like all of us. Keep Celebrity Corner. It is the best thing in your paper.

Signed: Sold on Celebrity Corner

Editor's Note

Editor's note: I have no intention of cancelling Celebrity Corner, I like it. Winston Duncan is making a great contribution to the Gem through his column and his help on layout night. I encourage more of our readers to do the same. The letters I receive are printed to express their author's opinion on something. They, by no means, express the opinion of the editor and the staff. There will always be space for opposing view points.
