NOVA SCOTIA ENOCH ARDEN.

Two Farmers in a Dilemma over One Wife.

About thirty years ago, in the charming village of Mapleton, Cumberland County, a happy couple were made man and wife and, amidst the well wishes of numerous friends and showers of rice, left the village to take up their home in Linden, where they settled on a farm. As the year rolled on happiness beamed on the couple and the joys of wedded life were undisturbed by the addition of eight ties of affection in the family. The happy couple above mentioned were Aaron Mills of Linden and Miss Elizabeth Mills of Mapleton. They lived happily together for seventeen years until April 19th, 1880, eighteen years ago, when Aaron Mills was seized with a desire to go to the back country of Colorado, and finally packed up his traps and departed to make his fortune.

For about six years he frequently wrote to his wife, also sent home considerable money to assist in keeping the wolf from the door. It then appears, for some reasons he forgot his wife also his children four of whom died from consumption, all being girls, also a boy who died from diphtheria. In the meantime Simon P. Mills worked the farm for Mrs. Aaron Mills on the shares, and through their energy they got the little debt on the place paid off. In November, 1894, Simon Mills' wife died and in November, 1895, he married Mrs. Aaron Mills, she then not having heard from her husband, Aaron Mills, for between seven and eight years, and considering herself free to marry. To all appearance they lived very happy together, helping to bear one another's burdens, little dreaming that they were to be separated so soon. About six weeks ago the then Mrs. Simon Mills got a letter from her former husband, Aaron Mills, from which a correspondence immediately sprang up, the said Mr. Aaron Mills writing very religious letters to Simon Mills and wife showing from a godly standpoint that they were not doing right in living together and imploring Simon Mills to restore him his wife and love of his youth so that he could return to his old home and spend the remainder of his days in peace. The result of these letters was that the old love which had been dormant for so many years immediately revived in the breast of Mrs. Simon and she longed to be embraced in the arms of her first love, who arrived in Linden on July 19th, last. The farms of Aaron Mills and Simon Mills adjoin, so Simon and wife could see the arrival of Aaron Mills with his son and daughter but they could not get into their old house. The girl went to Simon's to get the key. Simon and wife sent word with the girl to tell Aaron and son to come over and get their dinner, which they did. Simon met Aaron at the door, took him in and had some conversation, when the present Mrs. Simon and former Mrs. Aaron appeared and embraced her former husband and allowed him to kiss her as he had done in days gone by. After this introductory but somewhat juicy ceremony they all satisfied their hunger around the same table. After dinner, Simon, Aaron and Elizabeth Mills all retired into the same room and settled back accounts, matrimonial and otherwise, Simon Mills then giving his wife freely back to her first husband. The same afternoon Mrs. Simon moved all her belongings from Simon Mills' back to her old home to take up her abode with her new and old love, and the said Simon consoled himself with the thought that he doesn't have to wear mourning and pay funeral expenses.—Amherst Press.

His Furlough.

"What is a furlough?" asked a Columbus (O.) teacher. "It means a mule," was the reply of Mary. "Oh, no," replied the teacher, "it doesn't mean a mule." "Indeed, it does," said Mary. "I have a book at home that says so." "Well," said the teacher, now thoroughly interested, "you may bring the book to school, and we'll see about it." The next day Mary brought the book, and in some triumph opened to a page where there was a picture of a soldier standing beside a mule. Below the picture were the words, "Going Home on His Furlough."—Exchange.

Isaac Bromley's Wit.

One evening Isaac Bromley was at a billiard room, accompanied by a friend. An accomplished amateur was displaying marvelous skill at the game. At Ike's request the friend introduced him to the player. "Mr. Squat," said Ike, "really you are one of the most remarkable players I ever met." "Scott," said the player and the friend simultaneously. "No," said Ike gravely and firmly, "a man who can play billiards like that must spell his name with a q."—Exchange.

The People's Faith

Firmly Grounded Upon Real Merit—They Know Hood's Sarsaparilla Absolutely and Permanently Cures When All Others Fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and a little Iodide of Potassium. Besides these excellent ingredients, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa. Nor are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist. Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.
