A QUEBEC CONTEST.

Lumbago Driven Out by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

QUEBEC, Sept. 2.—Although Quebec is called "the Gibraltar of America," and well deserves the name, it is by no means impregnable against the assaults of Kidney Disease. Fortunately the inhabitants have an ally in Dodd's Kidney Pills that succeeds in driving the enemy out every time it gains an entry.

Some time ago Mr. John Ball, of No. 57 Little Champlain St., was attacked by Lumbago. He suffered for two years without getting relief from any of the medicines he used. Then he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and the first box he used helped him. He used only three boxes, and is now well and strong in every way.

SHARPENING KNIVES.

"If you can't have tender beef, the next best thing is a sharp knife, said a chop house proprietor, "and a sharp knife and poor beef are much better than the best beef and a dull knife. I know that from years of experience."

The conversation turned to the subject of carving-knives, and the veteran said that "carvers were harder to keep in order than the ordinary table knives, because the one who carves does not make use of the steel as much as he should."

"It may be an acid in the beef, or it may be the moisture, or the heat, or all three, said the expert, "but there is something about hot roast beef that takes the edge off a knife, and makes it rip where it should cut, and the fact that the knife is not affected that way by mutton or ham makes me think that the dullness is a result of the action of beef ingredients on the blade."

This view was confirmed by the proprietor, who said: "I have handled carving knives as a manufacturer and at my table for many years, and I know that the best knives will not cut properly when used on hot roast beef unless the steel is used after every few cuts. The steel need not be rough as some people imagine; in fact, a well-worn steel is better than one with a rough surface, and a few passes over it with the knife produces a good edge. The man who rubs and manipulates a carving knife for five minutes and thinks that he has it all right and may send the steel away, makes a great mistake. He should keep the steel handy, and rasp the knife over it lightly a few times after every cut or two. And even then he will accomplish nothing unless he knows how to use the two instruments. A carver must be held at an angle of twenty-five degrees on the steel. One must be careful to have the angle the same on both sides, otherwise the knife will be made dull instead of sharp. The knife should be drawn on the steel from heel to point against the edge, and the pressure should be very light."

Cutters have certain rules for sharpening razors, pocket knives, etc., as well as carving knives. A razor must be laid flat on the hone, because it is hollow ground, and requires a fine edge. But a pocket knife requires a stiff edge and the moment you lay it flat on a stone, so as to touch the polished side, you injure the edge. It must be held at an angle of twenty to twenty-five degrees, and have an edge similar to a chisel.

Charlotte Bronte Not Flattered.

An interesting anecdote of Charlotte Bronte is recalled by Mrs. Humphry Ward in her biographical introduction to "Vilette." In 1851 the authoress, having refused repeated invitations to London, on the ground that having done no work she deserved no treat, finally consented to pay a short visit to the family of her friend and publisher, Mr. George Smith.

Thackeray was at this time at the height of his popularity in London, and Miss Bronte arrived in time to hear his second lecture on the English humorists.

When it was over, Thackeray, who had recognized the timid little woman sitting by Mrs. Smith, came down from the platform, and, shaking hands with Miss Bronte, asked her how she liked it. There are few persons who would not have been flattered by such an attention, but Miss Bronte, on the contrary, was almost offended by it, and when she introduces a similar incident in "Vilette" she comments on the restlessness and the lack of desirable self control on the part of the lecturer.

From the beginning, a correspondent states, the conduct of the Russians has been a blot on the campaign. The recital of notorious facts speaks more forcibly than could any adjectives. When entering Peking a correspondent saw Cossacks smash down Chinese women with the butts of their guns and pound their heads until they were dead. The Cossacks would pick up children barely old enough to walk, hold them by the ankles, and beat out their brains on the pavement. Russian officers looked on without protest.

Speech and Ambidexterity.
"Here's a scientist," she said, looking up from the paper, "who asserts that the reason people are right handed is that the motor speech function controls the right side of the body and consequently right handedness grows with speech."
"Is that so?" he returned, deeply interested. "It is indeed strange, then, that many women can use their left hands at all, is it not?"

Making the Best of It.
"Will you have this here woman to be your lawful wedded wife?"
"That's what I 'lowed I would!"
"Will you love, honor and obey her?"
"Ain't you got that switched round, parson?" said the groom.
"John," said the bride elect, "don't you reckon the parson knows his business? Answer the question!"
"Yes," said the groom. "I reckon I'll have to!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Trouble in The Stomach

Which Doctors Failed to Remove, Cured by Less Than Two Boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of Mr. Blackwell is similar to that of many sufferers with chronic indigestion. Stomach medicines will seldom really cure indigestion. The kidneys and liver must be set right, and the bowels made regular and active.

Mr. Joseph Blackwell, Holmesville, Ont., says: "I derived more benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills than from any other medicine I ever took, and can highly recommend them for stomach troubles. I was in a terrible state and could hardly work at my trade. I tried most every kind of medicine and doctors, until I was tired doctoring, and before I used one box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I could see that they were helping me, and after taking a box and a half, found that I was cured."

Nearly every family on the continent has used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills or heard of the remarkable cures they have effected. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.
