ANTI-CHRISTIAN RIOTS.

A Roman Catholic Priest Shot and His Body Hacked to Pieces.

A special to the New York Herald from Vancouver, B. C., says: "Anti-British riots have taken place in Liu Ching, China. A mob of fanatics, loudly complaining that Roman Catholics had kidnapped their children, rushed simultaneously on the mission buildings. In the fierce fight that ensued three Christians were killed outright, eight wounded and four captured. Particulars are coming in very meagrely. The Rev. Father Mazelis is among the Roman Catholics killed.

The wildly yelling mob attacked the rear and front of the priest's house. With the help of friendly natives he barricaded the back and faced the mob in front with a rifle, but the barricade was broken down. The priest was shot and his body hacked to pieces.

Placards are being posted throughout many districts, stating that foreigners must be driven out of the country, or China will be divided between them, and their homes destroyed, and their children stolen from them.

It is feared that more murders will occur, as leagues are being formed in some districts, thousands strong, with the avowed intention of exterminating the Roman Catholic missionaries. The missionaries refuse to leave, saying they will resist to the last, trusting to Providence.

The priests sent out from the parish headquarters are 27 in number, the bishop being Mgr. Guillon. There are, besides, thirteen nuns. The mission is divided into twenty-five stations, which are attended by about 15,000 Chinese or Manchurian Catholics. These ecclesiastics state that the missionaries are inclined to attribute the atrocities which are reported from Mongolia to robbers who infest the country rather than to political or anti-religious agitators.

THE KAISER'S SPIES.

Unpopularity of His Majesty's Methods of Government.

The New York Sun's London correspondent says:—Who betide the poor German subject who dares to criticise his Emperor. A trial for lese majeste and years in prison can alone atone for such a crime. Political spies like the Delatores of corrupt, imperial Rome prowled in all parts of the Fatherland and denounced the unwary citizen. Sympathetic public prosecutors indicted him with the greatest zeal and official fury for some lese majeste which is often nothing but a hasty expression. These pushing young attorneys of the King demand themselves by taking up a case in which, perhaps years ago, a man in the presence of his own family made an unguarded remark about the Emperor. He is now denounced to the police by a servant or a bad relative from spite or other infamous motive. Poor wretches who in a moment of excitement, or perhaps a drunken fit, used bad language about the Emperor—for in nine cases out of ten it is nothing more—are sure to be punished severely without the slightest hope of pardon; whereas a nobleman or a military officer who has killed a private citizen is let off with a short imprisonment.

This middle class sees with sullen discontent the administration of justice, formerly the brightest spot in Prussian public life, is tarnished as soon as the slightest question arises between the feudal nobility and the citizen class. The equality of all Prussians before the law no longer exists.

The discontent is not limited to the Social Democrats. The middle classes grumble and complain. The Emperor fosters the pretensions of the feudal nobility, and thousands are thus driven into the ranks of the Social Democratic party. The Emperor thinks that reactionary laws for the suppression of violence will stem the tide, when they can no more do than Mrs. Partington's broom.

The highest military circles are continually in trepidation lest the Emperor, in one of his unaccountable fits of energy, should plunge the country into war and then insist upon taking the command of the army and being his own General-in-Chief, Staff Commander, and everything else under heaven.

A new and important political office has been created, that of Political Commissioner, whose province is to watch and influence by all possible means political feeling in disaffected districts, such as the Polish provinces, the Reichsland, and Northern Schleswig-Holstein. Four such Commissioners have been appointed at Danzig, Konigsburg, Posh and Breslau.

POOR MACKEREL CATCH

The Villagers of Nova Scotia are Threatened with Want.

According to late Halifax advices a serious degree of want is likely to be felt by the populations of the western shore-village if fishing does not improve. Fish vendors have visited Prospect and neighboring places in search of mackerel, and have been unable to get any. Very few have been taken. The fish passed the coast and did not strike in shore until near Canso. Numbers were taken in the eastward and shipped to Boston via Halifax. The western shore people are now depending on the second run of mackerel proving better for them. If this fails it is a serious question what the people will do for the summer. Some of the western people complain bitterly of the destruction of their nets by the Gloucester schooners. A large number of nets have been torn when set lately, and a heavy loss caused to the owners. One man had five nets, valued at a hundred and fifty dollars, destroyed. The people say the Gloucester schooners deliberately sail through the nets, quite indifferent of the damage which must follow. The skippers of these vessels take this means of venting their ill-will upon innocent people for the enforcement of the three-mile limit and its restrictions. It was remarked last week that a large fleet of Gloucester vessels sailed up and down into the three-mile limit for several days. They did not dare to take any fish, even if they had seen any, but they sailed through every net they could see and the aggregate damage caused the shore fishermen has been very heavy. In many cases all the nets of individuals were destroyed, which would have left the unfortunate owners helpless to catch any mackerel had the fish happened to strike in.

A complaint is to be made to the Dominion Government.

A GOOD IDEA.—The City is having the tree boxes on the principal streets painted up, presumably to brighten things for the Jubilee. Many of our citizens are also having their houses and places of business painted up. Let the good work continue.

QUEEN SQUARE GARDENS.—It is a great pity that the Provincial Government has not yet seen its way clear to put an iron railing around that portion of Queen Square Gardens within its jurisdiction. The Federal Government did its part of this work several years ago.

TO BUILD A PARSONAGE.—At a business meeting of the First Baptist Church last evening it was decided to build a new parsonage at a cost not to exceed $2500. The new house will be erected on the ground occupied by the present parsonage and tenders will be called for the purchase and removal of the old building.—Moncton Times.

MONKEY BRAND.—Mr. L. S. Klotz, representing the Stewart Hartshorn company of Toronto is in the city in the interest of his firm. He called at the dry goods establishment of Messrs. GRACE CHURCH.—At a meeting of the ladies of Grace Church this week, committees were appointed to make arrangements for the monster bazaar to be held during the Provincial Exhibition in September. The ladies intend having dinner and tea provided at a uniform price of 25 cents each day during the week. The bazaar will contain many articles needed for winter wear, and the hope is that friends will wait till then to purchase.

THE PENINSULAR WAR.—There has been presented to the Legislative Library by Sir Paget and Lady Bowman, of Uptolde, Dorking, England, a beautifully-bound copy of the late Capt. Swaby's published diary of the Peninsular War. A copy has also been presented to the Y. M. C. A. Reading Room. It is a very interesting volume and well worthy of perusal. Lady Bowman was a Miss Swaby, and is known to many persons here.

IN THE TOILS AGAIN.—Martin Power, who escaped from jail on Thursday afternoon was last evening arrested by the police. Martin, it is said, was attempting to take charge of George Offel's place when he was gathered in. His father, Michael Power, was present and for interfering with the police while they were arresting Martin he also was taken into custody. The two appeared before His Honor this morning and were remanded to jail until Monday.

JUBILEE MEETING.—There was a full attendance at the Jubilee committee meeting in the council Chamber last night, and a good deal of routine work was attended to. The medals and flags for the school children have arrived, and will be distributed to all children participating in the procession. The fireworks for the display in the evening have also been received, and among the lot are several novelties in that line. Other arrangements are progressing well. Evidently all that is wanted to make the celebration a success is Queen's weather.

JUBILEE PUBLICATIONS.—The Montreal Gazette has issued a most attractive and complete Jubilee number of 24 pages. The Jubilee Gazette has an illustrated cover of a most striking design, and is filled with matter befitting the interesting occasion. The growth and history of Montreal's commercial life is also dealt with in an interesting and instructive manner. The Gazette is one of the best papers in Canada.

The Toronto Globe has also issued a splendidly illuminated and illustrated jubilee number. The illustrations include excellent pictures of Hon. Mr. Peters and his cabinet, and Lieut.-Governor Howland and Mayor Dawson.
