of their clothes, and take all their gold; and remarked they struck him on the head to the diggings in such numbers that they overpower the landlord and get £300 or £400 at a time. Even in the city of Melbourne, if I go out after dark I always have my purse at home, and I am really afraid to keep money in the house, for the determined manner in which they rob—utterly regardless of life—proves what desperate characters they are. It really seems cruel to the free emigrants that they should be exposed to such society as this, and all the remonstrances which Earl Grey has had no effect. England does not know where to send her thieves. The people of Van Diemen's Land are doing all they possibly can to stop it. Sir Wm. Denison is in the pay of Government, and takes no notice of all the remonstrances; and, though we have a sort of Parliament or Legislative Council, yet the Government have the majority by having the power to appoint nominees; and the old squatters (the great sheep-owners) side with the Government."

DEATH OF GREAT GRAND-CHILDREN OF BURNS.—We find the following melancholy announcement in the Dumfries Courier of Tuesday last:—"Died, at sea, on board the ship Chance, from Liverpool to Port Philip, on the 7th September last, Arabella Ann; on the 9th September, Robert Burns; on the 18th September, Arthur Vincent, the only children of Mr. Berkeley W. Hutchinson, surgeon, government medical officer of the Chance, and great grand-children of Robert Burns." Mrs. Hutchinson is the daughter of Major James Glencairn Burns, and was educated in Dumfries under the care of her grandmother, "Bonnie Jean."

REFORM IN THE PRACTICE OF THE LAW.

As the courageous, though gentle and retiring David, in defence of his conduct, replied to the unmerited insult and abuse cast upon him, by "the men of war" his brethren; so, to our detractors and all their abettors, on the score of our denunciation of the general practice of the Law, we say, "Is there not a cause?"

Yes, "a cause" there is indeed; and one which enables us to show a good reason for the faith we profess, which we have maintained against the existing corruption in the practice of the Law, as ever have been exhibited to the understanding of man for the effecting of any reform, however great and essential which it has been accomplished by mere human agencies and means.

Yes, in the language of the bar, we will proceed to show cause why the present practice of the law should not only be amended, but entirely abrogated and repealed; as the scandal of our civilisation, and the grief and shame of all the wise and honest men in the profession and members of the profession;—as directly opposed to, and most antagonistically arrayed against, every principle and precept of Christianity.

Let such members of the bar as are desirous to retain, perpetuate, and benefit, by legal practice as at present sanctioned and established, read what we shall now submit against legal corruption, and wherein behold their own shame and condemnation. The picture below given affords a most faithful and revolting representation of their beloved practice; and if they are capable of any of the noble feelings of humanity it will inspire even their minds with loathing and abhorrence; for, loathsome and abhorrent as it is, its perfect and unexaggerated truthfulness, they themselves cannot, they will not, they dare not dispute. But, alas! conviction does not always produce repentance and newness of life.

When on earth, the divine reformer thus most emphatically and comprehensively denounced the Jewish lawyers and the sinfulness and corruption of their practice:

"Beware of the Scribes which love to go in long clothing, and love salutations in the market places, and the chief seats in the synagogues, and the uppermost rooms at feasts; which devour widows' houses, and, for a pretence, make long prayers: these shall receive the greater damnation."

And does not, we confidently ask, the spirit of his doctrine and his religion still as emphatically and comprehensively denounce all men of the present day, whose conduct and practice are such as are set forth in the above awful denunciation?

Let our readers peruse and study a few of the lineaments of some of the heads of the Legal Hydra, as faithfully portrayed by the most talented of all the moral and sarcastic limners of the present day, Mr. Thackeray, and then say whether such a monstrous birth is a scandal and a shame to a civilized and professedly Christian people; and whether all good men ought not earnestly to seek their extermination.

DRAFT DELINEATION of the prominent FEATURES of a few of the HEADS of the LEGAL HYDRA.

"The evil and mischief which this monster has occasioned in his time are almost incredible. His worst quality is, that he is a very willing tool in the hands of any one who will feed and stuff him, and enable him to batten on the garbage of Mammon. He would allow himself to be hounded on any body, no matter whom, for a consideration.

"If a rich man wants to dispossess a poor one of his little all, there is this Hydra, ever to be hired for a golden bribe, to be let loose, barking with one tongue, or biting mouths according to the reward, at the needy wretch, till at last it drives him off his premises.

"If a widow or an orphan to be defrauded of their rights of property, he has lynx eyes at the command of the wealthy oppressor to find out flaws in deeds and settlements, whereby to reduce the poor creatures to beggary.

"And does not he sometimes, this Hydra, heads that will, for a trifle, call Heaven to attest their belief in the prisoner's innocence; they well knowing him to be guilty all the while.

"But the Hydra has had his deeds of deeper and more sanguinary enormities than the above. Not only has it broken innumerable hearts, and driven countless victims raving mad; but it has wrangled decapitated, ripped up, broken alive, and dashed to death by other lingering torments, myriads of unfortunate persons, some altogether innocent, and, all, except some few, more sinned against than sinning."

Against this monster, the Hercules of the present age, "has launched a few arrows, from his quivering bow, whereby he has crippled and enfeebled it, preparatory to knocking it on the head. These arrows are anointed with gall, which is of a black, inky nature, and the wounds which they make sting and rankle exceedingly. The unction is in the form of written characters, and those characters make words, and those words sentences, whereof in is the sting of the arrows."

"Various things, too numerous to recite, are inscribed on the arrows" of Hercules, the reformer. Among them it is written as follows:

"He who argues and employs oratory, being hired, for the purpose of wilful deception, is a paid liar."

"The willing tool of the swindler and the cheat is a scoundrel."

"The person protracting, by technical artifice, the decision of conflicting property, in order that he himself may derive the larger pickings from the same, is a legal pickpocket."

"The arrows thus anointed are said to carry 'home truths;' and are doing marvellous execution on the body of the Hydra"

"Some arrows bear legends of a seemingly opposite import. As for instance,"—

"Blessed is the hireling of the oppressor of the poor."

"To perplex and bother a witness, with the the view of causing him to swear to an untruth, is an honest thing."

"It is very bad and proper knowingly to garble statements and misrepresent facts, for so much."

"Under protection of the Court, to insinuate falsehoods, known to be such, against the character and motives of a plaintiff, or defendant, is extremely brave and gentlemanlike."

It is noble and high minded to employ ridicule against the truth, and to excite vulgar prejudices in behalf of wrong.'

"Some of these sentences are of a slightly playful character: as,

"The silk gown of a venal pleader is, by no manner of means, a strap-rascal.'

"These weapons have a tickling irritating property, and occasion much smarting to the reptile.'

Some of these arrows insinuate how sensible and creditable it is to beguiled into enthusiasm against Justice, by being addressed as 'a British Jury; as 'Men, parents, husbands, Englishmen,' and so forth, for the deceiving of a knavish knave; who, all the while holds the said British Jury, and the men, parents, husbands, and Englishmen aforesaid, in profound and sovereign contempt."

"Almost a due number of such arrows have been discharged by Hercules, the Hydra is observed to be growing very sick and faint, and to piss strangely. The quality of which the people have begun to take all possible care to take out of its way. It is obviously in a bad case; and it is evident that a very little will suffice to settle its business."

WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONS.—The Annual Meeting of the Charlottetown Branch Wesleyan Missionary Society, was held in the Wesleyan Chapel on Tuesday evening, and the Rev. Benjamin Chappell preached a very appropriate and interesting Sermon having been preached by the Rev. Dr. Evans, on the previous Sabbath evening. The Meeting was attended by a large and evidently highly interested audience, and the Platform was occupied by Ministers and gentlemen connected with different branches of the Church of Christ, exhibiting on a limited scale the spirit of union which should ought to actuate the whole evangelical family.

The opening services were led by the Rev. Dr Evans, the chair was occupied by the Hon. Chas. Young, and the Rev. Benjamin Chappell presented the object of the Meeting in a comprehensive and earnest address. A well written Report was read by Mr. James Moore, the Secretary, in which the Wesleyan Missions were unanimously adopted, the movers and seconders of which zealously and effectively advocated the cause of Missions, and assured the Wesleyan Missionary Society upon continual confidence and support:

1st. Moved by the Rev. J. R. Narraway, seconded by Capt. Orlebar, R. N.—

"That the Report which has been read be adopted; and that this Meeting recognizes with gratitude to Almighty God the encouragement it affords to the friends of the Society, to persevere in the great work of extending the knowledge of God over the earth."

2d. Moved by the Rev. S. T. Rand, seconded by the Rev. Dr. Evans—

"That this meeting, devoutly rejoicing in the tokens of Divine approval enjoyed by the Wesleyan Missionary Society, and by other kindred Protestant Associations, views with the deepest interest the wide and valuable privilege to aid the Society in the prosecution of its evangelistic work, as one of the divinely appointed means of accomplishing the predicted triumph of the cause of Christ."

3d. Moved by the Rev. J. B. Strong, seconded by Mr. James Moore—

"That contemplating the vast multitudes still unvisited by the ministry of reconciliation, the many obstacles which present themselves to the extension and saving power of the Gospel, and the great insufficiency of merely human effort to evangelize the world —this meeting earnestly urges the necessity and obligation of fervent prayer to Almighty God for continued providential favour, and for the more abundant effusion of the Holy Spirit upon the Church and upon the wide field of Missionary toil."

4th. Moved by the Rev. N. B. Black, seconded by the Hon. C. Young—

"That the thanks of this Meeting be given to the Office-bearers and Collectors of this Branch Society, for their valuable services during the past year: and that they be respectfully requested to conduct its affairs during the year ensuing."

The meeting contributed this year by the Charlottetown Circuit, in addition to the maintenance of the resident ministers, amounted to £240. 15, currency; and judging from the public collection at this Anniversary, which, independent of the sum given by several Pounds, it is anticipated, that the closing of the year's account will manifest an increased interest in the evangelical enterprise, for the year.

The latest Report of the Parent Society contains the following exhibit of its foreign operations:—

Central Stations and Circuits,	356
Chapels and other Preaching Places,	3,092
Missionaries, and Assistant Missionaries,	476
Other paid Agents, as Catechists, Interpreters, Schoolmasters, &c.,	782

Full and accredited Church Members (increase 3843),	108,078
On trial for Membership,	5,489
Scholars, in the Day and Sabbath Schools,	79,841

During the year, several Wesleyan Missionaries have been sent to China, a field in which, in common with other Christian communities, the Society is anxious to sow the seed of the kingdom of God.—Com.

At a Public Meeting held this day, in the House of Mr. James Moynagh, Souris East, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety, utility, and practicability of erecting a Draw Bridge across Souris —Alexander Leslie, Esquire, in the Chair; it was

1st. Moved by Mr. Peter Moynagh, seconded by Mr. John Knight, seconded by Mr. John M'Isaac—That this meeting being fully sensible of the inconvenience, detention, and risk, that people, having to pass Souris, are put to, for want of a safe and speedy means of crossing that River, at all seasons; and also, the great inconvenience, that shippers of produce and landers of goods and merchandize, at the Public Wharf, on the West Side of Souris Harbour, and believing, that it is perfectly practicable to build and keep a substantial Bridge (to cross where the Ferry Boat now does) which would accommodate the public in the proposed building would answer the double purpose of Bridge and Wharf; and, therefore, that this meeting, both collectively and individually, use every constitutional means within its power to have the Bridge erected.

2d. Moved by Mr. Edward Kickham, seconded by Capt. Rodk. M'Donald—That petitions to the three branches of the Legislature be prepared, founded on the above resolution, and as numerously signed as possible; but only by such people, as really know what they are petitioning for.

3d. Moved by Mr. John M'Donald, seconded by Mr. John Knight, that a Committee of 17 be appointed (5 of whom shall be a quorum) to prepare these petitions and obtain signatures, and when completed, to forward them for presentation, the one for His Excellency, to the Colonial Secretary; and that for the Legislative Council, to the Hon. Donald Beaton, and the one for the House of Assembly, to Mr. Campion, who, it is hoped, will support its prayer.

4th. Moved by Mr. John M'Isaac, seconded by Mr. Richard Burke—That as much money as possible be raised by subscription in aid of building the Bridge.

5th. Moved by Mr. M'Farlane, seconded by Mr. Daniel M'Donald—That the Committee have power to prepare subscription lists, and send one of those lists to any person, or persons, likely to obtain subscriptions, and that the Secretary of the Committee be requested to take charge of one list and personally to solicit subscriptions to it.

6th. Moved by Mr. Donald Fay, seconded by Mr. Edward Kickham—That the Committee consist of the following persons, with power to add to their number viz:—Alexander Fraser, James M'Donald, John M'Leish, Peter Moynagh, John M'Isaac, James M'Farlane, John M'Donald, John M'Isaac, Neil M'Donald, Edward Kickham, Alexander Leslie, Donald M'Donald, Hugh Fay, Thomas Wood, Neal Needham, John Frost, Angus M'Intyre, and Herman M'Donald.

7th. Moved by Mr. John M'Isaac, seconded by Capt. M'Isaac—That the Committee have full power to take what steps it may consider necessary in corresponding with the Government, procuring plans, reporting the Resolutions passed this day, and such other means, as may appear best calculated for having the proposed Bridge speedily erected.

8th. Moved by Mr. Angus M'Donald, seconded by Mr. John Burke—That the Editors of the Royal Gazette, Haszard's Gazette, and the Islander, be requested to publish a copy of these resolutions in their respective papers.

ALEX. LESLIE, Chairman.

Souris, 17th Feb. 1853.

TO THE EDITOR OF HASZARD'S GAZETTE.

SIR;

It is with feelings of sorrow and astonishment that I have heard that a gentleman in our community—professedly a member of the Church of England—at a Methodist Missionary Meeting held in Georgetown on Tuesday the 22d ult., made use of language decidedly calculated to injure the Church in the eyes of the prejudiced and the unlearned. His words are as near somewhat to the following effect:—"The members of the Church of England are lukewarm, and trust in ritual observances." For the benefit of this Dissenting community, I beg leave, by way of antidote to the above language of an Anglican Churchman, to quote the following straightforward testimony to the state of the Church of England at the present time. The Episcopal Recorder says, "The Rev. Dr. Dixon—a distinguished Minister in the English Wesleyan body, and a personal friend of the late Charles Wesley—gives the following testimony to the prosperity of the Church of England, in a letter to an American Methodist paper—Zion's Herald—published in Boston:—' Do not be startled when I here express my belief in the Church of England, than any where else in the country. This Church is the only Protestant body, which is making progress in evangelistic labours and prosperous advances. 'The Church of England is, as we think, the most prosperous body in the country. In the lower grades of the Church there is a very large, and constantly increasing class of pious, laborious and excellent men, who are the ornament of their profession and a blessing to the country. The large towns are full of them, who are exercising a most powerful and beneficial influence.'"

It is cheering to read language so strongly contrasted with that to which I have alluded above—especially when it emanates from one who, in point of profession, is a friend to the Establishment. I will add no more, than to express a hope that our beloved Church may no more be insulted by those who should be its friends in word and in deed.

I am, Sir,
Yours, &c.
A CHURCHMAN.
