NEWS NOTES.

The Vestry of St. Pancras, London, has set up a bacteria breeding nursery. In cases of illness the medical officer calls and collects specimens of the patient's blood, saliva or secretion, propagates the bacteria in incubators, and within 24 hours reports the exact nature of the disease gratis. Local doctors grumble at the reduction of scientific study to the plane of automatic mechanics.

World Not Sell His Ancestors.

A plutocratic American who had seen the green acres and stately castle of an Irish estate sought out its impetuous owner with an offer to buy. Lord Blank, eager enough to transmute his profitless lands into pregnant gold, named a considerable but reasonable price as one he would be willing to take. "Very well," said the American, "I'll give that if the pictures go with the house." After a little reflection his lordship answered, "Yes, you can have the pictures, except, of course, the family portraits." "It's the portraits I want," said the other. "I wouldn't give a — for the rest of 'em." "My property is not for sale under those conditions," said his lordship, turning on his heel and walking away, to the astonishment of the parvenu, who flung a "stuck up beggar!" after the retreating figure.—London Letter in Chicago Times Herald.

MARRIED THIS MORNING.

St. James Church was this morning the scene of another of those interesting and auspicious events which have an especial interest for the young. Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Halifax, officiated, and the contracting parties were Miss Ada Lawson, daughter of Mr. John A. Lawson, of the Post Office Department, and Mr. William D. Lockett, of Bridgetown, N. S. The groomsmen had the support of Mr. William A. Warren, of Halifax, and the bride was attended by Miss Hattie Lawson, sister of the bride, and two flower girls, the Misses Ethel Lawson and Muriel Lockett, sisters of the bride and groom respectively.

The bride was attired in cream brocade with pearl trimmings and lace, the bridal veil being festooned with orange blossoms. The bridesmaid was dressed in silver grey panna cloth, trimmed with lace and ribbon, and wore a white chiffon hat. The flower girls wore pink and blue silk, with cream hats. The bride's travelling dress was of shot granite cloth with red velvet and braid trimmings.

After the ceremony and breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents, the newly wedded pair took the western train on a trip which will include Toronto, Niagara Falls and the principal cities of the New England States. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Lockett will take up their residence in Bridgetown.

Among the many beautiful and appropriate offerings received by the bride on the interesting occasion was a marble clock from the choir of St. James Church and a silver card receiver from the Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockett have THE EXAMINER'S best wishes.

Mr. John L. Thomson, station agent at Charlottetown, and Miss Lizzie Macdonald, were united in marriage this afternoon. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Marshfield. The bride has for some time past been employed in James Paton & Co's store, and, like the groom, has hosts of friends. THE EXAMINER'S best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Thomson.

OBITUARY.

It is our sad duty in this issue to chronicle the death of Mr. Dennis McGrath, of Morell at the early age of 40 years. Though suffering from a severe malady for the past 28 years and recently of a serious stomach trouble, his death was up to the last quite unexpected and recovery just as anxiously looked for. But on Tuesday night the 18th inst., at eleven o'clock, he knelt at the feet of his Redeemer in another world and laid down the cross of suffering and sorrow he had borne so long, so faithfully and so well. He passed away blessed with the consolations of his holy religion and provided with all the care that a loving family could furnish.

A dutiful son, a kind brother, one of the truest and most steadfast of friends, his death has cast a deep gloom over the community of which he was such an honored and respected member. The large number of relatives and friends that followed his remains on Friday, to their last resting place in another world and laid down the cross of the esteem in which the deceased was held by all classes. In St. Joseph's Cemetery, with a sister child of 2 years, the man of forty sleeps in peace. He leaves a father, two sisters and three brothers to mourn their loss, and to whom THE EXAMINER extends its sincere sympathy.

A solemn High Mass of Requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. A. McAulay, on the day of the burial for the repose of his soul.

Fifty Years Ago.

This is the cradle in which there grew that thought of a philanthropic brain; A remedy that would make life new For the multitudes that were racked with pain. 'T was sarsaparilla, as made, you know By Ayer, some 50 years ago.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

was in its infancy half a century ago. To-day it doth "bestride the narrow world like a colossus." What is the secret of its power? Its cures! The number of them! The wonder of them! Imitators have followed it from the beginning of its success. They are still behind it. Wearing the only medal granted to sarsaparilla in the World's Fair of 1893, it points proudly to its record. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record:

50 Years of Cures.
