"THE SECRET GARDEN" MOVING PICTURE WITH MARGARET O'BRIEN AT HER BEST

Frances Hodgson Burnett's hauntingly beautiful story, "The Secret Garden," estimated to have been read by some fifty million readers since its publication forty years ago, has at last been brought to the screen and emerges as one of the most poignant and touching dramas to be offered filmgoers in the last decade.

No little of the gripping impact and sustained power of this new M-G-M offering, now on view at the Prince Edward Theatre, is due its casting. The talented child actress, Margaret O'Brien, enacts the central figure of the stubborn and imperious girl whose character undergoes a remarkable change when she enters a world of beauty and imagination opened by a wondrous secret garden. This gifted young performer rises to new stature with a performance that holds you in its spell from the moment that little Mary arrives from India to make her home with her embittered and melancholic uncle; through the suspense-laden episodes in which she penetrates the terror-ridden house and finds one of its victims to be the crippled child Colin; to the final breath-taking climax in which she aids the boy to free himself from the of his tormented father.

What might have been a disastrous fire was prevented on Monday morning, when the home of Mr. Harvey Ross caught fire around the fire, shortly after the fire was lit. Mrs. Ross, and two young sons, while still in bed, heard the cracking and smelled the smoke. They rushed down at once and called the men from the barn, where they were engaged with their early morning chores. With the help of some kind neighbors the fire was soon put out with very little damage done, except for some of the wall and plaster torn away, around the floor where the pipe goes through into the flue.

Mr. Duncan Diamond and Mr. Dan Roberts, cattle buyers, recently toured the surrounding districts, buying milk cows, while in Lower Montague they were the guest to supper at "River View".

431ST ANNIVERSARY OF ODD FELLOWS

The one hundred and thirty-first anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellows in America was fittingly observed by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs of the Montague Lodges when sixty-seven members and friends attended a banquet held in the Lodge rooms Thursday evening, May 4th. After a few words of welcome by the master of ceremonies, Mr. Archie Hilchey, the blessing was sung and the members and friends were seated at beautifully decorated tables which were laden with excellently prepared food. Following the sumptuous supper, Mr. Hilchey proposed a toast to the King, in response to which "God Save the King" was sung. A toast to our country was proposed by Mr. Fred N. MacKenzie, and "O Canada" was sung in response. The master of ceremonies then called on Mr. Archie Hume who rendered two violin solos, "The Road to the Isles" and "Brahm's Lullaby" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hume. A toast to our town was proposed by Mr. Spencer Llewellyn and responded to by Mr. Harry Higginbotham. Mr. Ernest Carver then proposed a toast to the order of Oddfellowship to which Miss Thelma Larter responded. The toast to the ladies was proposed by Mr. Sheldon Jay, and Mrs. J.D. MacLeod responded. The remainder of the evening was spent in singing with Mrs. D.M. MacDonald as piano accompanist. Mr. William MacLean was the lucky winner of a beautifully decorated cake.

RAFT THRILLER FILMED IN FRENCH MOROCCO

With George Raft in the starring role and a strong supporting cast headed by Marie Windsor, Akim Tamiroff, John Litel, Eduard Franz and Damien O'Flynn, a thrilling new drama of the French Foreign Legion will unfold on the screen of the Capitol Theatre today when Samuel Bischoff's "Outpost in Morocco" opens for a run through United Artists release.

"Outpost" was authored by Joseph Ermoloff, who was also in charge of production. In order to insure utmost authenticity the major portion of the company, including the producers, star George Raft, cameraman Lucien Andriot and director Robert Florey journeyed to the interior of Morocco where a great many of the important outdoor scenes were photographed in their natural background setting. Also, by an arrangement made between Ermoloff and Etoile Cinema of France, the French Government gave permission for the French Foreign Legion to participate in many of the exciting scenes.
