lection of school rates. School corporations and in fact all local organizations were new and untried in this Province; and it was not to be wondered at, that trustees and secretaries found great difficulties in collecting the assessments levied. In other Provinces of the Dominion, municipal authorities, which are in this part of the Dominion entirely unknown, except in Summerside or Charlottetown, are made available for collecting school rates. The mode of collecting local rates for school purposes is one that demands the serious consideration of the Government and Legislature. If the law were changed to give the Provincial Collectors authority to collect the school rates for their respective sections, and pay over to the several school corporations the amounts thus collected, it would lighten the burdens of Trustees and make the duties of Secretary less disagreeable.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—It appears from your valuable daily of yesterday that the private "meeting of leading citizens" has ended in the adoption of a series of resolutions which are to be considered at a public meeting of the rate payers to-morrow at the Market Hall. It therefore devolves upon all tax payers who value their privileges as citizens to attend the Mayor's meeting to-morrow. The "valuable suggestions" proposed by these "leading citizens" for the "consideration of the Legislature" are very indefinite. A tax on property and on incomes is to be imposed, but the classes of property as well as of incomes are not described. All citizens who do not contribute under the two preceding heads, are to pay a tax of $2.00 each. Surely it is intended to have regard to the circumstances of those coming under this head, some of whom may be in the annual receipt of $1,000 and upwards, and others in those days of extreme economy, with salaries which afford a bare subsistence. The receipt of $1500.00 a year should surely pay a larger than $2.00 a year if poor officials at salaries from $500 to $800 a year have to pay that amount. This proposition will doubtless be explained by its promoters at the meeting. It is also condescendingly announced "that all who pay taxes shall have the right to vote." Who, in the name of freedom, ever intimated anything to the contrary? The qualification for City Councillor is to be raised to $1,000.00, that is, he must own property of that value. Whether "clear of incumbrances" or not remains to be explained. Or the aspirant for civic honors must be a tenant paying an annual rent of $500.00. This arbitrary barrier, in the way of talent and enterprise, emanating from a meeting of leading citizens should receive, as doubtless it will, severe criticism. There are many of our most talented, best educated, and enterprising of our citizens, that would be debarred from a seat in the City Council, under a clause of this arbitrary and tyrannical nature, enacted by law. The men in the past history of our City, as well as Province at large, who contributed most the permanent advancement of our institutions and Corporations, have been men not possessing high qualifications in dollars and cents, though in all that tends to build up those institutions, they are the Peers of their richer fellow-citizens. Can it be possible that those gentlemen whose names are attached to the requisition for the public meeting, are advocates of the exclusive and selfish policy portrayed by the absurd proposition in question. We may well exclaim "Omnia mutantur, nos et mutamur in illis." Lastly, though not of the least importance, is the novel mode proposed for the election of Councillors, thereby ignoring the representation of wards and the rights of minorities. In the interest of fair play this absurd "suggestion" should be stamped down by discerning ratepayers. It is gratifying, however, to witness the new born zeal manifested in civic matters since the big storm of the past few days, and it is sincerely to be hoped that good results will follow the movement. Yours truly,
Fair Play.

Chtown, April 2nd, 1880.

A Borrowing Man.

"There goes my best coat," soliloquized Brown, despondently. "That fellow Smith will be the death of me. He borrows all my clothes, and yet he patronizes me, and tells me I ought to dress better. My 'lollypop' tells me the same thing, and holds up Smith as a sample, as the pink of a well-dressed man, as the button-hole bouquet of elegance. I wonder how long I'll have to stand it. It was just day before yesterday that the fellow invited me around to see his library, and hang me if he didn't have half of my books in it. Smith would borrow anything. If I had everything of mine that he's got I could set up a second-hand store to-day. Now I can't find a decent coat, a clean shirt, a respectable collar, a walking-stick, an umbrella, or my only pair of good shoes. Smith's got 'em all." And he pulled the collar of his old coat over his soiled shirt-front, tucked up his pants over his worn-out shoes, and sallied out into the rain.—
