safe in that bramble-tangle. You see, Peter long ago had found out that on Farmer Brown's land no terrible guns were allowed, and the Old Pasture was part of Farmer Brown's land.

For a long time the young Grouse lay there hopelessly and Peter sat near by. Once Reddy Fox poked his sharp nose into the entrance to that bramble-tangle and yelped as a big thorn scratched him. That entrance wasn't big enough for him to get through without getting badly scratched by the brambles, and he soon gave trying. Of course, the young Grouse was more frightened than ever, if that were possible. Reddy was still hanging around outside when he should come up in the Old Pasture but Farmer Brown's boy, Reddy Fox slipped away. Farmer Brown's boy saw him go. He had caught a glimpse of Reddy peeping into that bramble-tangle and guessed that there was something in there that interested Reddy.

"That red-coated rascal wouldn't be hanging around there if there wasn't something or someone he hoped to get," thought Farmer Brown's boy and started toward the bramble-tangle.

Peter Rabbit saw him coming and hopped out and away a short distance. There he sat up to watch what Farmer Brown's boy might do.

"So it was you, Peter, that Reddy was watching. I might have known it," said Farmer Brown's boy. However he went over for a closer look in the bramble-tangle and almost at once saw the young Grouse and knew something was wrong. A few minutes later he had the young Grouse in his hands and was gently stroking it all the time talking softly. Strangely mixed were the feeling of that young Grouse. He was terribly, terribly frightened. At the same time he had a strange feeling of new hope.

Annual Meeting Of St. Marks Credit Union

—St. Mark's Credit Union held its annual meeting in the Parish Hall, Lot 7, on Tuesday evening, October 23. The president, Mr. Raeford Locke conducted the meeting. For twelve consecutive years Mr. Locke held the office of president of this credit union, and during all that time there was no one worked with more diligence for the promotion of St. Mark's Credit Union. It was with regret the meeting heard him say that he wished to have his place on the board of directors filled by someone else.

The treasurer, Mr. Leo Dalton, in his financial report cited an increase in share capital of approximately $1100.00. This showed a progress, but the number of inactive members in the credit union tended to show this advance as being very slight.

The meeting sanctioned the recommendation of the Board of Directors that dividends of 2% be paid on shares, and 1-1/2% be paid on deposits for the year just ended.

Other new business of the meeting included the election of officers for the coming year. Following are the retiring board and committee members: Directors Raeford Locke, Raymond Stewart, Joseph Griffin; Credit Committee: Bennett Howard; Supervisory Committee: Rev. Joseph Trainor. The retiring officers are: Directors Lawrence Shaw, Charles Rogers, Mark Murphy; Credit Committee: Bennett Howard (re-elected); Supervisory Committee: Mrs. Raymond Stewart.

Mr. J. J. MacIsaac, fieldman for P. E. I. Credit Union League spoke to the members and urged the reorganization of study clubs throughout the settlement, beginning immediately. He also referred to the new Self-endorsement plan through Cuna Insurance now available to members of credit unions carrying Share and Loan protection.

The meeting was privileged in having Mr. Gordon Smith, Canadian Manager of Credit Union National Association, Hamilton, Ontario, to address it. In his remarks he said that he would like to see more guidance to directors and committee men coming from the membership in general. He urged that a more active part be taken by everyone, for the benefits to be had were not just to be taken for granted. With regard to the credit union and its benefits he said "if you don't use it you lose it."

Visitors from other credit unions included Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bridges of St. Anthony's Credit Union, Bloomfield, and Mr. Lloyd MacWilliams and Mr. Albert Lecky of United Credit Union, Milo. Mr. Bridges and Mr. MacWilliams added their sentiments of the meeting which were well received and appreciated. The presence of those visitors at the meeting gave further proof of the keen interest they have shown in credit union activity.

Following a discussion by credit union members the meeting adjourned and a tasty lunch was then served by the ladies of St. Mark's Credit Union.

Let's Talk It Over

A Prince County Viewpoint by "G"

It seems that the Duke of Edinburgh and his Princess have avowed that they derive considerable pleasure from listening to popular songs. At least, this was reported in a prominent magazine article immediately preceding the royal couple's visit to Canada. This will come as somewhat of a shock to those who think that any music below the symphonic opera is just so much raucous noise disturbing to the delicately attuned ears of the real music lovers. People in high positions can afford to be quite candid about their views and preferences. Everyone knows that they have great qualities of mind and spirit, and they can scarcely damage their reputations by honest admissions of delight in the common things of life. But the climber, hanging precariously on the ladder of social success, must keep tramping on the fingers of those beneath to assure himself of his present hard-won position.

In dress it is the same. Bing Crosby can travel the country looking like a tramp because everyone knows that Bing has the wherewithal to don the "Beau Brummel" attire should he choose to do so. (He did almost get ejected from a hotel by a hotel clerk who failed to recognize the crooner, and decided he was out of his element in a swank hotel). The climbers must always be immaculate because onlookers could so easily make a mistake about them. Some writer has said, in effect, that only in the very highest and lowest ranks of the social order will you find utter candor, fearless honesty and "doing what comes naturally". "Mr. In-Between" takes a lot of the joy out of his own and other people's lives by his frantic efforts to "keep up appearance."

We have open seasons for shooting, open season for fishing, and open seasons for trapping. Why can't we have open seasons, or rather closed seasons for road repairs? When roads are torn up after the month of September, the results are sometimes pretty discouraging. Old Sol isn't strong enough to dry up the mess, and mess it generally remains for the rest of the year. We hereby move that the months from October to May be declared "closed seasons" for building roads. While we're about it, we may as well add, for different reasons, "immediately before elections" to that motion. Any seconders?
