Provincial Legislature.

House of Assembly.

SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS.

FRIDAY, April 14.

At the evening session Mr. Robertson denied that the motives of the Government in passing the bill before the House were of the selfish character indicated by the Opposition, and said that under the change every one of his opponents had as good a chance of re-election as any member on his side of the House. In all the important matters that had come before the House he had voted and acted in the best interests of the people.

Mr. McLeod referred to the closed doors legislation on the amalgamation bill last year, and the changing of the bill into three parts this year after their failure to pass it last session. Georgetown is a small constituency; but the Government try to make it smaller than it really is. The hon. member for Bedeque claimed that there were only 181 voters there, when in reality there were nearly 400. Under the re-arrangement the first district of King's County would have a great many more voters than any other district in the County. They have taken a large poll off his district, which consisted mostly of Conservatives, and had made other changes that he did not consider sensible. They tell us that if we do not like the bill we should offer suggestions or amendments. But we know how they have treated our amendments and suggestions in the past, and how they would treat any we might offer now. He believed that in their eagerness to keep themselves in power the Government might go so far as to cut a slice off the first district of Prince County and annex it to Georgetown. Then he referred to the vote given on the amalgamation bill, and to the parading in the Patriot newspaper in capital letters of the names of the members of the Opposition who had voted against that measure because of the objectionable clauses therein. But they were not ashamed of their names; they were just as good-looking as the editor of the Patriot. He thought it unfair that the Government should take one poll off his district with a view to turning his majority into a minority. Where, he asked, would the hon. member for Bedeque be if a poll, or half a poll, were taken off his district? He would certainly not be here.

Mr. H. C. Macdonald did not consider that the opponents of the bill had brought forward any arguments that were of much consequence. He failed to see why a small constituency like Georgetown should have two representatives, while a large district such as he represented only had the same number. He thought there was some excuse for what the hon. member for Georgetown was pleased to term "the political crimes" of the present Government. The present Dominion Government were guilty of many such "political crimes" as the one under consideration—for they had gerrymandered many of the constituencies throughout the Dominion. There was every excuse for the changes in King's County. It was high time some sort of a redistribution were made there. If the Opposition were not favorable to the measure, why did they not submit such amendments as in their opinion would improve the bill. He felt sure that the Government would not be slow to take advantage of any good suggestion they might offer.

Mr. Sullivan thought that as his constituency was one of those to be gerrymandered it would be well for him to say a few words on the measure before the House. Georgetown appeared to be a great mote in the eyes of the Government. But if that constituency returned two supporters of the Government would it cause them so much anxiety; would they cut it up as they were about doing? He thought not. Why didn't they cut up the Souris District? That would not suit them, however, and they did not touch it. The Government tell us that the gerrymander was suggested by the Legislative Council; but he had it from a reliable source that the scheme was hatched about the time the Government came into power, and that the Commissioner of Public Works was at the bottom of it. The evident object of the measure was to "hive" the Catholics and Conservatives in order that their own ends might be furthered and that the Government might be sustained. However, he was not afraid to face his constituents, and felt sure that when the battle was over he would not be among the missing.

Mr. Cummiskey denied that the Government were "hiving" the Catholics in the Georgetown district. In his place in the House last year he challenged the Opposition to prove that any class was to be deprived of any representation they then enjoyed, and they had never made the slightest attempt to back up their assertions with proof. He thought the proposed redistribution was equitable. He had made enquiries and found that with the exception of a few Tories the bill would be acceptable to the people of King's County. He claimed that the Government had a majority of two to one at the Donagh meeting, and thought that the people generally would approve the conduct of the Peters' Government at the polls.

Mr. A. J. Macdonald thought that the attempt being made to gerrymander King's County would result disastrously to the present administration. He thought it was the right of the Government, when they were making the changes, to have re adjusted all the districts in the Province and give all an equal representation. He quoted from the secretary's report of the meeting at Donagh to prove that the resolution censuring the Peters Administration was passed at that meeting by a majority instead of the Government having a majority of two to one as stated by the previous speaker. He pointed out that instead of arranging the constituency of Georgetown upon geographical lines the Government had gone about the work in another way. They have so cut up the country that they have "hived" the Catholic and Conservative electors of three districts in the district of Georgetown. This was decidedly unfair and unjust. Georgetown may be a small constituency but it has had its effect upon the Legislation of the Province. He did not believe the Government would accept any suggestions the Opposition might make to the Gerrymander bill. He hoped they would see fit to accept the suggestion contained in the motion of the Leader of the Opposition, viz., that the bill do not be adopted until six months hence. He did not consider that the small number of inhabitants was a bar to a constituency having good representatives in parliament. If it had been shown that persons in Georgetown had been elected by means of undue influence, or if the people had petitioned for the change, there might be some excuse for the passage of the bill. If such was the case we would have nothing to complain of. But we know that such is not the case; that there is no such reason for the change. Reference has been made to the redistribution of seats throughout the Province by the Dominion Government. But there was no comparison between the two—the Dominion re-distribution had been made with the greatest degree of fairness and not because of the political complexions of the districts concerned. The Government making the change, said he, have never appealed to the people, and they should not make this change until they had received the sanction of the people. We are told that the change only effects the districts near Georgetown. This is not so. It effects a district near Souris as well as it affects the districts contiguous to Georgetown. He felt sure that the people would show the Peters Government what they thought of their iniquitous legislation at the very first opportunity.

Hon. Mr. Sinclair thought that the readjustment was equitable and could not see why the Opposition should cry out against it as they were doing. There was no advantage taken of the county or of any district in it.

Hon. Mr. Farquharson questioned the accuracy of the statement made by the senior member for Georgetown that there were 400 voters in Georgetown, and read figures stating that there were only about 177 electors in that constituency. He said that the Government were not endeavoring to take away any of the representatives from Georgetown; the only object was to enlarge the constituency in order to give more equal representation.

Mr. McKay spoke of the fate that would likely befall any amendment to the bill that might be made by the Opposition, and condemned the manner in which King's County was being cut and carved. He maintained that the readjustment was not made in an equitable way, and claimed that the whole object of the bill was that the Government should gain a certain support from Kings County that they could not obtain in any other way.

Mr. Matheson defended the action of the Government in the matter of the readjustment of Georgetown, and thought it was time a change of this kind were made in that constituency.

Hon. Mr. Richards thought the measure was a just and fair one, and that under the redistribution neither party was given an unfair advantage.

The House then divided on the amendment moved by the Leader of the Opposition as follows:

Ayes—Bentley, Shaw, Arsenault, A. J. Macdonald, Clow, Sullivan, Gordon, Underhay, McLeod, McKay, Rogers, Jenkins—12

Nays—Peters, McLean, McMillan, Farquharson, Richards, Sinclair, Forbes, H. C. Macdonald, Bell, Warburton, Matheson, Montgomery, McWilliams, Robertson, Cummiskey—15

The motion that the report of the committee be adopted was then put and carried, and the bill was ordered to be read a third time tomorrow.

Mr. Bell submitted a bill incorporating the St. Eleanor's Hall Company which was read a first time and referred to the private bills committee.

Hon. Mr. Sinclair presented the report of the Stock Farm Commissioners, also the report of the seed experiments conducted there last year.

Hon. Mr. Peters presented the annual report of the Hospital for the Insane.

Mr. Shaw reminded the Commissioner of Public Works that the statement he had asked for concerning the discounts at the Land Office had not been tabled.

Hon. Mr. McMillan said it was being prepared.

House adjourned.

James Blair's Case.

NAPANEE, April 10.—A highly interesting case has happened in this town, which is creating a good deal of comment. Mr. James Blair, a well known merchant tailor here, has for fourteen years been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as Bright's disease of the kidneys. He suffered so terribly that one hour's work at the cutting table would completely exhaust him, and he had to almost give up work altogether. He tried almost every known remedy for his complaint, but without any good results. Medical men and patent medicines failed him, and he was gradually getting worse every day. Finally he read a despatch in one of the local papers, stating that a man named Murray, living in Gravenhurst, had been cured of kidney trouble by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. As a last resort Mr. Blair began taking these pills, and three boxes made a new man of him, and seven boxes completely cured him. Mr. Blair is back at work again, and says that he feels twenty years younger, and that these pills completely cured him. His recovery has created quite a sensation.

Syrup of Figs,

produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.
