cases in need a turner monthly payment from our provincial revenues. Realizing the fear of many of the cost of hospital and medical care we intend to make efforts to help in cases of dire need and at all events we intend to make hospital and medical care free to all mothers receiving Mothers' Allowances and their dependants.

We intend also to dispense with the judgment lien that the Liberal Government insists on placing against any property of a totally disabled person. We voted against this in the Legislature but all Liberal members supported it without giving any reason. They did not say it was a federal provision as a reason for being so miserly, and we intend to speed up the granting of these pensions which have been unduly and carelessly delayed since January last.

A complete re-organization of the Department of Highways will be undertaken immediately. We find that this is necessary for efficiency so lacking now for years, and on re-organization a sensible system of road making, road grading and road maintenance will be inaugurated to give the public and our tourists some convenience and some sense of security while travelling.

Motor vehicles' license fees will be overhauled and especially attention given to unfair licenses and taxes now being paid by truck owners.

Together with good roads and good accommodations assistance, we will have progressive policy for the attraction of tourists.

Industrial development will be encouraged with loans available under a non-political board with best attention being given to find and develop markets for quality products. Special attention will be given to Maritime centres and to recover and increase our Newfoundland trade, injured and kicked about by the detriment of our producer by the folly of our Liberal Government going into the shipping business.

Water supply, sewage facilities and fire protection will be assisted by us in reference to our smaller towns and incorporated villages. Certain towns and villages are in considerable need of sewage systems and water systems on account of threat of the outbreak of disease, epidemics. We will financially assist them in the move. With fine weather another week will see many finished plantings.

Your Conservative Government will present an adamant front to any curtailment of present railway services or any curtailment of operations. As a Province of Canada we will demand our present service be maintained as we have enjoyed for years.

I did hear Premier Matheson state in our Legislature two years ago that there would not be a rate in Prince Edward Island in a few years. That may be his and his party's opinion but it is not ours and we will see that that situation never arises.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE Now, my friends, there is yet another matter before the leader of the Liberal Party and myself which is soon to be resolved. I have said, and many of my colleagues have said, that your present government was caught napping when it came time to attend the recent Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa just last month. We say that the Premier went up empty-headed and came back empty-handed.

His Government made no preparations for the conference. They had no policy, no suggestions and no idea of the importance of that meeting. Surely it is not good enough for your government to count on hand-outs from Ottawa. Surely it is not good enough to assume that because the Premier is a Liberal and the Prime Minister is a Liberal that this Province will get special consideration. You and I know this is nonsense.

I refuse to believe that the Federal Government is playing party politics with the Constitution and the future of Canada. There is no proof of it other than the words of some of our Provincial Liberal ministers — and that is no proof at all.

Who got extra tax concessions only a year ago? The Liberal government of Quebec. Who was the first to bring in the disability pensions in co-operation with the Ottawa Government — and who has started a forty million dollar hydro project based on further tax benefits from Ottawa? Why, the new Conservative Government in New Brunswick. Who was giving the last Federal-provincial tax agreement? The CCF Government of Saskatchewan. And ladies and gentlemen, who has done the most complaining about being badly treated by Ottawa in their tax-rental agreements? Why, the biggest complaints were made by the Liberal Government of Nova Scotia, under the late premiership of Angus L. Macdonald, and just a month ago by Premier Campbell, of the Liberal Government of Manitoba.

Any man in public life who knows the facts will tell you that the smoothest and happiest arrangements of all were those between the Federal Government and the Conservative Government of Ontario. There is no more bare-faced and untrue nonsense spread in this Province than that circulated by our Liberal friends that Mr. Matheson the Liberal is the only man who can deal with Ottawa because he is a Liberal.

It would be enough to bring a blush of shame to the face of any federal cabinet minister.

FRAIL GROUNDS

It may be that the Premier himself believes this. I don't see how he could be quite so badly informed, but he may well be. If so, then I must say that your hopes of further federal assistance and for a fair deal for this Province in the tax and federal conference which is coming up are based on pretty flimsy and frail grounds. If your Premier goes up the next time as badly prepared and as badly equipped as he did the last time we'll be fortunate indeed to get anything like our just due.

The Premier says he was well received in Ottawa. I do not doubt it. I had the impression that all the Premiers and their ministers were. But let us look at what the Premier had to say.

I have before me a verbatim report on the Federal-Provincial Conference held on Tuesday, April 26th, 1955, with respect to municipal finance and other matters of concern to municipal governments.

Premier Frost of Ontario has his words to say—they cover two and one-half pages and I understand they were not all recorded.

Premier Hicks of Nova Scotia has an address that takes up two pages. He quotes the Rowell-Sirois Commission twice and makes other observations pertinent to his provincial problems.

Premier Flemming of New Brunswick discusses municipal problems in relation to education and he quotes from a Royal Commission report recently completed in that Province. And he submits two proposals to be placed on the agenda.

Premier Campbell and Premier Bennett each fill a page with their observations, putting the case of their Provinces clearly and concisely.

Premier Manning and Premier Douglas also read into the record some extended observations. Each of them discussed the attitude of their own government toward the federal government's policy with regard to unemployment. Each of them has something constructive to put forward on behalf of their Province.

Ladies and gentlemen, the Premier of Prince Edward Island read into the record a statement that is exactly the opposite of what I have just said. And he has not made any specific recommendations for items to be placed on the agenda but those that have been made by others here today are of interest to me.

Well, that is what your Government's contribution to the conference on municipal and taxation matters which was in advance of perhaps the most important meeting in Canada's young history, which will commence in the Fall. You know as well as I that this present government made no plans for this conference. It had nothing to contribute. It has no policy—it will merely wait and see what turns up and hope it is good. The Premier is not entirely to blame. His cabinet is incapable of working together. Can you imagine the present Minister of Health advising the Premier preparatory to his visit to Ottawa? Can you imagine any ministers advising the Premier before his trip? How could they? They were all home or behind their counters. No cabinet meetings were held, nothing was planned and nothing will be planned unless the people of this Province look to the future and see the need for new government energetic government and government that will do a day's work.

five days a week and throughout the year.

LABOUR PLATFORM

Our Labour platform reads as follows: "Your Conservative Party deplores the lack of government concern for organized labor in this Province. On election, we will forthwith appoint a Minister of Labour, with an assistant from organized labour and will modernize the Trade Union Act in keeping with the Acts of other Provinces.

What more could labour ask? Has the Liberal Party ever favoured labour in Prince Edward Island? Not that I know of and I have been interested in labour for many long years. The Liberals promised a Department and a Minister in 1947. What was done? Nothing. At the same time they promised a minimum wage law. Did you ever hear of it again? No, not until I brought the matter up in the House this year. I am surprised to see the Prince Edward Island Labour and Charlotetown Labour Councils endorsing one Liberal candidate today. It is not inserted by the Labor Councils but by the 5th District of Queen's Liberals Association. I wonder if it was authorized as alleged but I say to Labour, you have no Liberal party pledge but you have ours, myself and my candidates. I feel know what to do on May 25th.

Of utmost importance to our Province is Plank 15 dealing with Federal Claims. From what I have just said you will note what action our present Government will take or what activity they will show if they get a chance to represent us. There are millions of dollars due from Ottawa for just and recognized claims and for claims for monies in lieu of Crown lands given to the other Provinces. These Crown lands were once thought to be worthless but today are turning into millions and even billions to the other Provinces. These Provinces are going ahead. Canada has advanced but Prince Edward Island is going back steadily. What is the reason? We are just as smart and clever—we are just as hard working and perhaps harder working than any other Province. What is wrong? It is I wonder, because a Liberal Government here has made no headway with Ottawa. Something is wrong and is due for rectification.

I now leave you, ladies and gentlemen. Please consider my platform seriously and then—Go Ahead...Vote Conservative.

SEQUEL TO "THE ROBE" NOW AT CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

—Beginning where "The Robe" left off Twentieth Century-Fox has carried on the magnificence of the Lloyd C. Douglas story in "Demetrius and the Gladiators," a spectacular CinemaScope production in color by Technicolor, which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Philip Dunne has fashioned an absorbing and often a thrilling screen play built around the life of Demetrius, the Greek slave, who found the Christian faith in "The Robe." In this new story, which expands the theme of Douglas' novel, the faith acquired in on trail and how Demetrius rejects and then reaffirms it makes compelling entertainment.

Although "Demetrius and the Gladiators" follows the mood of "The Robe" it is a completely different story and shows the length to which the Romans went in the first century to break the faith of the Christians. Demetrius succumbs to the wiles of Messalina, wife of Claudius and called the "wickedest woman in Rome," and through her malvolence is forced to fight as a gladiator before being tured to a life of licentious indulgence. Victor Mature is again seen as Demetrius and Susan Hayward is Messalina, who is credited with having more lovers than Solomon had wives.
