FRIGHTFUL PLAGUE.—The Meuse, speaking of the cattle disease which has broken out in Hasselt, (Belgian Limburg,) says:

"This is a public calamity for the town. Forty distilleries of the first class are at a stand still and the men out of employment. The churches are constantly filled with people imploring divine help; strangers are afraid to enter the town; all trade is at an end. On Monday last 30 animals were slaughtered, on Tuesday 120, and on Wednesday 700. It is hardly necessary to say that they were not all attacked by the disease, but, having been exposed to contagion, it was considered necessary to kill them."

CAMPOBELLO.—The report of the sale of this island is renewed. The Boston Herald says:

"Campobello, the scene of the first Fenian raid, has been sold to a Mr. Seymour, of New York, for $8,000. Mr. Seymour has been engaged mining or rather investigating the mineral resources of the island for several years. The deposits of peat existing there are immense, and many times the value paid by the purchaser for the entire property."

To the Editor of the Patriot.

SIR:—Yesterday's issue of the Semi-Weekly Patriot was handed to me this morning, and my attention drawn to certain editorial remarks made by you in reference to the "Anniversary of Ireland's patron Saint;" and as these remarks contain charges of a very serious nature, I trust your own sense of honor will dictate to you the justice and propriety of allowing me to say a few words in reply through the same medium by which these grave charges have been given to the public.

In reference to the opening paragraph of your editorial, I will only say that those gentlemen who manifested such strange symptoms of uneasiness, (but of the Titus Oates stamp) and who gave evident proof of bad feelings twelve months ago, only brought upon themselves the ridicule and contempt of all right-thinking men in the community. You say that, "with a change of Government, we thought that nothing unpleasant or disagreeable would have occurred this year to call for censure or mar the harmony of St. Patrick's Day's celebration." In this we are of accord, nor am I aware that anything unpleasant or disagreeable has occurred, as far as the Catholics of this community are concerned. But you go on to say that, "in this, however, we were, it appears, mistaken;" and then go on to give your reasons, from which it appears that you are still laboring under a slight mistake.

In the early part of this month, the Rev. Ronald B. McDonald was invited by me to preach in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on the Feast of St. Patrick. I did not invite him because he was Scotch, English, Irish, or French; but knowing his generous and obliging disposition, well known piety, and highly cultivated talents, I thought he would not refuse my request, and that his discourse would be worthy of the occasion. In this I was not disappointed. Mr. McDonald kindly accepted my invitation, and accordingly came to town a day or two previous to the 17th. He submitted to me the manuscript of his discourse, and after a careful perusal I found it to be what any man, acquainted with Mr. McDonald, would expect—a very able production, and which would stand the test of the severest criticism, either in point of style, Theology, sound Christian morality, or loyalty to the British Throne. The young orator took for his text the prophecy of Baruch, v. chapter, and 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6th verses. In the course of his sermon he dwelt principally on the glorious mission destined by Almighty God for the Irish people, in diffusing, at an early period, learning and piety through Continental Europe. He referred to the labor and zeal of Columba of Iona, of Columbanus, and other names illustrious for learning, piety, and apostolic zeal. He shewed why it was that Continental Europe, from a sense of gratitude, bestowed on Ireland the glorious title of Island of Saints. He spoke of the undying fidelity with which the sons of St. Patrick, under the most trying circumstances, ever clung to the ancient faith. He said that as gold was tried by fire, so it is only under trials and afflictions that the noble traits of individuals or nations are brought out in bold relief. He spoke in well merited terms of the learning, piety, and Christian zeal of Irishmen, lay and clerical, of the present day, in diffusing religion and piety all over the world. He did not forget to point out how guarded the sons of Ireland ought to be at the present time against the machinations of irreligious and designing men, who would attempt, by wicked counsel, to lead them from the paths of duty and religion. He said that there is many a broad acre, many a beautiful slope lying waste, and many a roofless cottage untenanted in Ireland, while those who might have tilled and occupied them are employed in hewing down the forests of America, digging in the mines of California or Australia; or, perhaps their bones lie mouldering in the soil of some foreign battle field, or scattered over the bottom of the broad Atlantic. I have not the manuscript in my possession, but this is the sum and substance of the whole discourse, and if there be anything unBritish in all this, I cannot, for the life of me, see it.

The comments and opinions with which you have favored the public in reference to this sermon, but always with the saving clause, "it is reported," are to contemptible and beneath notice. Words are double-edged, and will cut both ways. This being the case, I will merely use your own words and make them cut in a direction quite different from what you intended. I merely change the subject of one or two of your own sentences, leaving the object and predicate in peaceable possession, and then your language will read thus: Had the gentleman connected with Her Majesty's army been an Englishman of the honest "John Bull" stamp, we could make some allowance for his conduct; but coming from an Irishman, or at least, the son of an honest Irishman, we must consider the conduct referred to as an attempt to pander to Protestant prejudices, and tickle the palate of a few would-be aristocrats, who very likely laugh at him for his trouble.

The only excuse that can be pleaded in palliation of such thoughtless conduct, is that the gentleman in question is a young man. Let us hope that the offence may never be repeated. This is what is called, in military tactics, storming your No. 1. or A. Battery, turning the guns and making them play, with deadly effect, upon yourself and the gallant young Knight who had the misfortune of being placed under cover of your Artillery.

Had the young gentleman to whom you allude as your authority, or whom you would represent as the public censor of clergy and laity, been for a few times present on similar occasions in Quebec, Montreal, or any of the other unquestionably loyal cities of British America, perhaps he would have reconciled his ideas of loyalty with those of good manners and ordinary common sense.

I am sorry to be placed under the disagreeable necessity of appearing in the columns of a newspaper, but your remarks of yesterday have left me no alternative. I can assure you—and I must also for my Rev. friend in his absence—that you could not have touched either of us on a more sensitive point than by calling in question our loyalty to our gracious and virtuous Queen and to the British Throne. I trust, however, that we have too much regard for the teachings and practices of the Christian religion, and too lively a sense of honor and loyalty to make us ever feel ashamed to appear in the company of the most loyal of Her Majesty's subjects. I can also assure you that we have too much respect for the name we inherit to crouch down like mere criminals, and listen in silence to a lecture on loyalty, chivalry, honor, or valor from you, Sir, or from any gentleman whose names have yet to find a place in connection with anything glorious or heroic in the annals of the British Empire.

Gentlemanly and Christian treatment is only what I reasonably expect to receive at your hands; for any person acquainted with my disposition will bear me out in saying that it is not a desire to provoke idle, useless or angry controversy, but a stern sense of duty and honor, that has driven me, I may say for the first time in my life, into the columns of a public newspaper; and let me hope that, under such peculiarly disagreeable circumstances, it may also be the last.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. MCDONALD.
St. Dunstan's Cathedral,
Charlottetown, March 29, 1867.

We acknowledge by the last mail, the receipt of a Business Circular and Price Current, from the establishment of Messrs. E. R. Taylor & Co, Shipping and Commission Merchants, 20 Great St. James Street, Montreal. Mr. Taylor, of the above firm, conducted a large business in this city for some time.

A carpenter in New York placed a loaded pistol in his tool chest, so arranged that it would explode on opening the lid. He meant to shoot a thief; but he was the first to go to the box himself and was shot dead.

NOTICE.

At a Public Meeting of the householders resident in this District, held on Wednesday, March 27, 1867, Mr. Michael Brenan in the chair, the following Resolutions were carried unanimously:

"Resolved, That the name of this settlement, hitherto known as 'South West Bedeque,' viz: from John Wright's Bridge to the County Line, be changed, and that it be called and known henceforth as 'SOMERSET.'"

"Resolved, That these proceedings be published in all the newspapers for general information."

MELANCHOLY DISASTER.—On the night of the 17th of January last, the Brig John J. Fraser, (Geo. Clark, master, and one of the principal owners,) struck on a reef, off little Canso, during a thick snowstorm and a violent gale, and sank in eight fathoms of water; and, sad to relate, all on board were lost, excepting one man, named James Sherman. Captain Clark and his two brothers, James and John Geddie, and his three brothers-in-law, Allan, Duncan, and Laurence Anderson, of Canso, all met a watery grave. The Messrs. Clark were sons of the late Mr. James Clark, of Campbelltown, New London, and of Mrs. Wm. McKay, now of Tignish. Capt. Clark has left a wife and five children in Canso. He was an able and experienced seaman, and was highly esteemed wherever known. He resided for some time past in Canso, and his brothers, James and John Geddie, went on, last Fall, from the Island, to join him. They had just started on their first voyage in the ill-fated brig, for New York, with a cargo of coal, taken in at Glace Bay, when the disaster occurred. Only two of the bodies were found at the latest accounts, those of Allen and Lawrence Anderson. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved relatives and friends. May they all experience the comforting influences of the Divine comforter, and sorrow not as those who have no hope.—Pat.

THE NEW HOTEL.—There is good reason to believe that we shall shortly have an Hotel. A subscription list has opened since our last issue, and at the present time the amount of stock subscribed for exceeds three thousand pounds. We have no reason to apprehend the slightest difficulty in finding persons prepared to contribute the requisite funds, and therefore conclude that, in a short time, we shall see the Hotel in course of construction. A first class Hotel, pleasantly situated, good Steamers, and a good Market House, (the Steamers and Market House we have), will go a long way to render Charlottetown a desirable place to visit. We hope soon to see our side-walks adorned with trees, and some means employed to keep down the dust, which is often an intolerable nuisance. Persons desirous of taking Stock in the contemplated Hotel will find the subscription list at the office of Mr. Ings.—Isl.

We are pleased to learn that the Summerside section of the Rev. Mr. Frame's congregation, which has half his services, at a meeting held on Monday evening last, after subscribing a large amount to assist in clearing the debt off their commodious and elegant Church, unanimously agreed to pay their Pastor one hundred pounds per annum.—S. J.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—All persons afflicted with bad legs, sores, ulcers, and skin diseases, who, from want of means or other reasons, cannot avail themselves of surgical treatment, may be relieved from their complaint by using Holloway's purifying, soothing, and healing remedies. In every outward ailment this wonderful Ointment brings about the most beneficial results, by checking inflammations, cleansing ulcerations, and restoring soundness. Internal pains, rheumatic and gouty tortures, enlarged joints, scrofulous swellings, and contracted sinews may be overcome by diligently rubbing this cooling unguent into the skin. In all maladies of unusual severity or excessive duration the Pills should be taken, to root out the last seeds of the disorder and to hasten the desired cure.

A UNIVERSAL REMEDY.—Brown's Bronchial Troches, for Coughs, Colds, and Bronchial Affections, now stands the first in public favor and confidence; this result has been acquired by a test of many years. Its merits and extensive use have caused the Troches to be counterfeited, and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against worthless imitations.

Married,

By the Rev. J. Davis, on Jan. 29, Mr. Matthew Calbeck, of Crapaud, to Miss Charlotte Newson, of Cape Traverse.

At Sturgeon Village, Lot 59, on the 14th February, 1867, Elizabeth Connors, aged 63 years, the beloved wife of Andrew Connors, senr, leaving a family of nine sons and two daughters to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate parent. May she rest in peace.

He left behind him a numerous family, settled for the most part on and around his own homestead, whose offspring he beheld to the fourth generation. And best of all he was an eminent example of the power of the grace of God, which cheered him amid much personal affliction, and ministered its ample support in his latter end.

At Lot 49, on the 4th inst, Mr. Donald McRae, in the 83d year of his age.

At Toronto, Murray Harbour South, on the 30th ult, after a short illness, borne with Christian resignation to the Divine Will, Mr. Richard Moore, a native of Bradworthy, Devon, England, but emigrated to this Island in the year 1832, aged 76 years. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

THE Public are hereby notified that the Office of Assayer of Weights and Measures is now kept at the City Tin Store, Grafton street, near the City Hall.

WILLIAM B. ALLIN, Assayer.
Grafton street, April 1, 1867.

☞ On the 25th inst. WM. R. WATSON will remove from his present Stand (Hutchinson's corner) to his Old Stand, VICTORIA BUILDING, Queen Street.

To the Free and Independent Electors of the Third District of Queen's County.

GENTLEMEN—

A new Government, based upon liberal principles, having been formed, and I having been honoured by being placed in my former position as President of the Executive Council and Colonial Secretary, my seat in the House of Assembly becomes vacant according to law. In returning to you for re-election, I have the fullest confidence that you will give the new Government a fair trial, and when its policy is fully developed—for which, of course, a little time should be allowed—I trust you will find it such as to be worthy of your warmest approval.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,
GEORGE COLES.
Charlottetown, March 18. h w

To the Electors of the First Electoral District of King's County.

GENTLEMEN—

I PARTED from you three weeks ago happy in the knowledge that I enjoyed the confidence of a very large majority of your number. I have since accepted the office of Attorney General, and now again solicit a continuance and renewal of your support.

The Government, of which I have the honor to be a Member, has not been formed without full discussion and careful deliberation upon the principles which are to guide its future action. This was necessary in order to prevent misconception, and to ensure, as much as possible, that cordiality between the Executive and the majority of the Legislature, which is essential to good Government. I believe that that object has been attained, and trust that honest and useful legislation will be the result. It will, of course, be an object with those who are politically opposed to the Liberal party (and who are now also the political opponents of those independent Members who, for the public good, have concluded to give it their generous support) to sow dissensions in its ranks, on account of appointments to office made, or which are assumed as likely to be made; but I feel sure that no such paltry matters will distract your attention. Your support of the party to which I belong proceeds from higher and more enlightened views and objects. It is based upon your experience in the past of its general public policy, and the conviction that in the future it is likely to produce general public good. You will, therefore, give to us a patient and fair trial. We do not ask for or expect more than this.

An earnest effort will, as soon as possible, be made by the Government to effect a Loan, in order to meet demands for the purchase of Lands. The amendment of the Education Act will be attempted in the next Session, so far as the improvement in the Teachers' salaries is concerned; and, I trust, that this desirable object may, by the exercise of due economy in other respects, be effected without any additional taxation being required.

I renew my engagement to do all I can to advance your local interests, and to improve and increase your means of communication both by sea and land; and if any circumstance shall prevent my accomplishing all I can wish or you may desire, it shall not be for want of effort or good will upon my part. The generous confidence which for several years past you have reposed in me as your representative, and so recently renewed, binds me to exert myself in the future to promote your interests not only collectively but individually.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your ob't Servant,
JOSEPH HENSLEY.
Charlottetown, 20th March, 1867.

To the Electors of the Second District of King's County.

GENTLEMEN—

I AM again sent upon my travels. The new Liberal Government having appointed me to the office of Queen's Printer, my seat in the House is once more at your disposal; and it is my intention to ask you to confirm the appointment, and to restore me to my position as one of your Representatives. I held the office of Queen's Printer, in former years, during the existence of two Parliaments; and it is gratifying to know that I filled it with your entire concurrence and confidence, while my connection with the Government enabled me to be of more service to the District generally than if I were in opposition.

I need not assure you that my appointment to office now will not, in the slightest degree, lessen my independence, or weaken my attachment to you. Through good and bad report I have served you faithfully, to the best of my ability, for many years; and if again returned, I pledge you that my future conduct will be in accordance with your wishes, and in harmony with my past career as a Liberal Representative.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedt. Servant,
EDWARD WHELAN.
Charlottetown, March 18, 1867.

To the Electors of the Second District of King's County.

GENTLEMEN—

AT the request of many friends, I beg to offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages to fill the vacant seat left by Mr. Clark's retirement from the House of Assembly. My political principles are thoroughly Liberal, and I will support the present Liberal Government if I should be honoured in being made one of your Representatives, as a colleague to our esteemed Representative, Hon. Mr. Whelan.

I reside in the District—all my interests are centred in it—I am known to you all, and I have always endeavoured to make my intercourse with you mutually agreeable. I believe I understand the local wants and requirements of the District, and I shall at all times give them my best attention if placed in a position to do so.

With respect to the question of Confederation, I have no hesitation in saying that I am decidedly opposed to that measure. As, under present circumstances, Confederation is not desirable by the people of this Island, you may rely upon it that I will concur with the public opinion on that important question.

Trusting that you will honor me with your confidence in constituting me a local, resident member, which the District much requires, to which it is entitled, and which is a privilege it has always enjoyed,

I remain,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,
ANTHONY McCORMACK.
Head of St. Peter's Bay, March 16, 1867.

CARD.

To the Electors of the second District of King's County.

GENTLEMEN:

HAVING been numerously solicited to allow myself to be put in nomination to represent you at the next General Assembly, I cheerfully yield myself to your service.

My political principles are truly liberal—my views of Confederation truly anti-Confederate; and the local wants of the District, seen and felt by me, which, if I have the honour of being returned, I shall endeavour to relieve as far as my humble ability will allow. I have resided over 30 years in the district, and believe myself to be a competent judge of the wants and means of the country.

The time must necessarily be short for canvassing your votes, but I shall endeavour to visit the different parts of the district previous to the Election, when I shall shew my views more fully. Believing that you will place your confidence in me as your representative, I pledge myself to attend strictly to the wants and wishes of the people.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
ROBERT HOWLETT.
