

IN MEMORIAM
MRS. FLORA TRAINOR

On the morning of February 18, 1957, the Angel of Death hovered over the home of Joseph Holland, Tarantum and claimed for its own the christian soul of his mother, Mrs. Flora Trainor, thus bringing peacefully to a close a year of failing health.

The late Mrs. Trainor, born Flora Currie in the year of 1870, was a daughter of the union of the late Angus Currie and Margaret Praught of Bethel and it was there that she spent many of her childhood years, up until the year of 1887, when she became the bride of John Holland of Tarantum. This union lasted for a period of eight years, when God called her devoted husband to his eternal reward and by so doing left her alone to tenderly care for and instruct their four young children. A task that only God knows was so faithfully carried through.

After a brief passing of years, tragedy again became her lot, and this time two of her sons were suddenly taken from this life under sad and breath taking circumstances.

The deceased, being a woman of high christian principals accepted these crosses humbly, with trust in her Divine Redeemer and complete resignation to His will.

In 1914, she married the late James Trainor of Donagh, and once again she was left a widow in 1927.

The latter years of her life she spent in Charlottetown, and although never exceptionally robust in health, she remained quite active up until a year previous her death. At this time, the heavy burdens which she so courageously bore — through her long life, began to take their toll and she returned to her old homestead in Tarantum, to be cared for by her only surviving son Joseph, his wife Larus and her grandson Daniel.

During this period, she was frequently visited by her pastor, Rev. T. O. Butler, who administered to her the last Sacred Rites.

There are left to mourn the loss of a beloved mother, one daughter, Louise, Mrs. Francis Quinn, Waterford and one son Joseph, one daughter, Gertrude, predeceased her in infancy.

The funeral which was largely attended and under the direction of the Charlottetown Funeral Home was held from her late residence on February 21st to St. Patrick's Church, Fort Augustus, where a Requiem Mass was chanted by Rev. T. P. Butler, Rev. Wm. Simpson and Rev. Vincent Murnaghan were present in the sanctuary.

Interment took place in the adjoining cemetery with services at the grave being performed by Rev. Butler assisted by Rev. Murnaghan.

The pall bearers were Ivan Quinn, William Quinn, Daniel Holland, Daniel Currie, Ernest Currie and Victor Keoughan.

May her soul rest in peace.

IN MEMORIAM
MRS. R. C. AULD
There passed away at the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, on February 21, 1957, Margaret Louise Auld, aged 67 years, wife of Robert C. Auld, Freetown. She was a daughter of the late Duncan Cameron and his wife, Margaret Cairns Cameron, and was born in Charlottetown where most of her youth was spent.

She attended Prince of Wales College and taught school in different communities where she will be kindly remembered. She was a charter member of the Freetown W.M.S., a leader of the Mission Band at different times, and her rich alto voice in the church choir will long be remembered.

In her home, to which she was very much devoted, she experienced the happiness and joy of family life, and there friends and neighbours were always welcomed. She died as she had lived trusting in the merits of a crucified Redeemer.

She leaves to mourn, her husband Robert C. Auld, merchant at Freetown; a daughter, Dorothy Mrs. Ernest Heighton, of Halifax; formerly on the teaching staff of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, a son, Dr. R. Waldron Auld of Kensington, P.E.I., two grandchildren Barbara Anne Auld and David Auld of Kensington, also a sister, Belle, Mrs. Roy Burns, of Freetown, as well as a host of friends who will miss her kind companionship. Two sisters predeceased her many years ago.

The funeral, which was a very largely attended, was held from her late residence on Saturday, February 23. It was conducted by her pastor, Rev. S. Grant Walls, assisted by Rev. Alexander MacKay, a former pastor, and Rev. L.M. Murray of Kensington.

The hymns sung were Unto the Hills and The Lord's My Shepherd, with Mrs. R. A. Profit as organist. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Pall bearers were Austin A. Scales, Ralph E. Burns, Everett Schurman and R. Louis Cairns. Interment was in the family plot, Freetown.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of J. L. Davison, Kensington.

NO YESTERDAYS
There are no yesterdays in that fair land,
To reach the heart in well-remembered pain,
No morrows with their paths

where rough-hewn steps
Lead to the crosses she must bear again.
Because she knew so many yesterdays,
And fashioned them in beauty's own array.
And kept them in the trust in which they come,
She won the festal glories of today.

There are no yesterdays to brush the scars
Upon today and dull its noble glow;
No morrows with their tasks to take again.
There is no just today, Her esche shall know
Through all eternity, a ceaseless joy
In God's beloved and unmortal rest.

On this her morning of today,
Shines brighter on the saints whom God has blest.
Hazel and S. Barlow Bird.
'The above lines written in fond memory of the late Mrs. Robert C. Auld.'

IN MEMORIAM
MRS. HARRY COULSON
The death occurred at South Pinette on Monday Feb. 25, 1957, of Mrs. Harry Coulson at the early age of fifty years. She was born at South Pinette, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cantello.

Although in failing health for the past few years, hope was held that she might be restored to her health, but her strength gradually weakened, and on the above mentioned date God called her home.

In her passing the community has lost a good neighbour, but it is in the home her loss will be felt most keenly as a devoted wife

IN MEMORIAM
MRS. F. ROBERTSON
The death occurred in Charlottetown on February 1, 1957, of Mrs. Florence Robertson, widow of the late Arthur Robertson, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart, Kingsboro. She was in her 73rd year. She is survived by her brother Wellington, who resides in Kingsboro. Her only sister predeceased her a number of years ago.

She spent several years in the United States after the passing of her husband. Later she again resided in Kingsboro, where there are very few, indeed, who cannot recall a helping hand on her part. "Flossie," as she was familiarly known by her many friends, became seriously ill a few weeks ago, and was admitted to the P. E.I. Hospital for observation, but it was immediately made known that her condition was beyond skill and aid.

Her remains were forwarded to the home of her brother from where the funeral was held on Feb. 20, and which, despite poor travelling conditions was well attended. Services at the home and grave were conducted by Rev. Donald I. McClare. Hymns sung were: "Sweet Bye and Bye," and "Shall We Gather At the River." Pall bearers were Messrs Percy MacDonald, George MacDonald, Clinton Stewart, Clarence Robertson, Bernard Mossey and Carl MacVane.

Interment was in the Kingsboro Cemetery. Dingwall Brothers were in charge of funeral arrangements.

FORM RESCUE PARTY
CHAMONIX, France (Reuters) Mountain guides decided Friday to form a party of 25 men to bring down the bodies of two Paris students which have lain in a snowy tomb 12,000 feet up Mont Blanc since rescue attempts were abandoned on Jan. 3.

LONDON (AP)—Prague Radio claimed Friday night that a woman engaged in espionage in Czechoslovakia for the United States has been arrested. Her name was given as Mrs. Karolina Kooptman of Hamburg but her nationality was not stated.
