5th Annual Dance Festival Begins Four-Day Activities

The 5th annual Prince Edward Island Dance Festival, being held at the West Kent School auditorium, was officially opened last night by Lieutenant-Governor W.J. MacDonald, David Boswell, director of physical education, gave remarks. Adjudicator for the four-day festival, May 16-19, is Irene Waldie of Rawdon, Quebec.

test sponsored by the Charlottetown Junior Chamber of Commerce for grade two are Geraldine Fitzgerald, Rochford Square School; Mary Wonnacott, Prince Street School; Becky Jenkins, West Kent. The coloring contest is part of the city Jaycees' traffic safety program for school children. The Jaycees visit city and area schools each fall with police officers to give safety lectures.

TELEPHONE PROBLEM
As a further step in the division of the National Employment Service from the Unemployment Insurance—Commission the two offices have been given separate telephone trunk lines. However, many of the public have not yet taken heed of this change and both departments are constantly receiving telephone calls on matters which concern the other department. There is no way of switching those calls over, with the result that callers have to be requested to call the other listed number.

CARD RESULTS
The following are the results of the card play held at the St. Pius X hall last night: ladies' first, Mae Bernard; second, Norma Morrissette; consolation, Margaret Walker; mens' first, Dominic Doyle; second, Preston MacDonald; consolation, Joe Shelton; freeze-out, Mrs. Alfred Blaythard, Mrs. Nelson Whitlock; special prize, Mrs. Clarence Reeves; door prize, K. MacDonald.

The opening activities began yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and sessions were held at 2 in the afternoon. The dancers from all over Prince Edward Island, ranging in ages from under-six to over 17, are participating in the various national dances, step dancing and all the various other dances. One of the most popular categories is the Scottish dances.

This is the first year that trophies in different categories will be given and medals to individuals on a point basis are also being introduced. The festival continues today at 9 o'clock with sessions at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.
