THEN AND NOW.

PREVIOUS to the introduction of the National Policy in 1873, labor ran begging for employment and the cry was heard far and near "Give me work, only give me work! Make your own terms; myself and family have nothing to eat." The Liberals, by their great Finance Minister, declared they were "flies upon the wheel" and that the government could do nothing but levy taxes and draw their own salaries. The Conservatives, true to their pre-election promises, carried out the National Policy. The Liberals opposed it and declared it would ruin the country. All their pre-election fads are now buried. Friday night's meeting not one was found to say anything about former fads, and declarations. The burden of their song now is "Remember not our opposition speeches." These are now unpardonable history. No matter what was said in our opposition days when we wanted to obtain power now that "we are here and you are there" we claim all the credit for the policy that fosters the trade of Canada. Henry Clay used to tell a story of a Free Trade orator haranguing from the stump a crowd of Kentuckians: "Do you know, sir, said he to an attentive hearer that the coat on your back cost you half a dollar a yard more than it need, because of this accursed tariff?" "Wal stranger," was the reply drawn out slowly "I reckon it must be so since you say it, but this coat cost me by the yard just three bits" (three-eighths of a dollar.) The Protective policy or National Policy is a wise economy of the labor of the people, and its object is to find remunerative employment for as much of it as possible. If labor be the source of wealth, and this is one of the few points on which all are agreed, then that country must advance to wealth which has work for all who are willing and able to do it. To find work for all is one of the greatest problems that Canada has to solve. No one has yet attained to a complete solution of it; but gone is so far from its solution, as the country in which agriculture is the only employment open to the great mass of the people, for farming, as a rule, furnishes employment only to robust men! All others are left in idleness and dependent upon the farming class. The greater the variety of industry the more the demand for labor and the better the laborer is paid. The question is not between free trade and protection, but between the varied industry which a country like England acquired by long persistence in protection and which she will retain under any system, and the want of it, from which we can only be saved by following England's example rather than her precepts. A home market takes the place of the distant one, and crops are grown which require more care and attention, but repay with larger profits. Who does not remember the days when Sir Louis Davies used to dilate upon the bloated manufacturers and the great monopolists created by this National or Protective Policy. Not one word is now said about the old song or the old story. Now the burden of their song is leave us in power, "no matter what policy we advocated in opposition, no matter what promises we made." What now is the price of oats? What is the price of kerosene oil? The old Liberals of those days were led to believe that if the grites were returned to power the then existing order of things would be changed. But, today, the cry is "remember not these declarations and inconsistencies of Fielding, Davies, Tarte and Laurier; let us enjoy the nice soft red benches and cushioned seats of palace cars at the country's expense." But the electors of Canada may say, depart ye wicked deceivers and traitors who have blurred and defaced the escutcheon of Canada with the machine, stolen electoral seats and buried investment, and are now depending upon means that are "better than prayers" in the hope to regain the confidence of Miss Canada for another term of five years. No! we judge the future by the past. The former declarations of the grit politicians are not forgotten. Speak the truth—speak it ever. The electors of Canada will insist that her public men should not lie with impunity.

The residence of Lord Salisbury is London is watched by Scotland yard detectives, owing to threats which are now said to be the work of a practical joker.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

—Mr. Tarte agrees with Sir Louis, Davies in praising Mr. Sifton and his work. Of course the Ministers must, at least, seem to stand together.

—The Mail and Empire remarks that it is quite a jump from "Ring the Knell of Booding" to the new Tarte plank, "Five years more of a full pocket."

—Mr. Foster can speak as well in French as in English. His address in French at Montreal, a few nights ago, is reported to have been marvellously well delivered, to have given great satisfaction to his audience.

—Bear in mind that the total expenditure for the fiscal year ended June 30 1896, the last year of Conservative rule, $41,762,383; and that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, the total expenditure was $52,713,810; and that the estimated expenditure for the current fiscal year $56,312,527; and that the Liberal leaders promised, in distinct terms to reduce expenditures.

The Boers Denounced.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The British War Office has issued a long report from Lord Roberts on the treatment of British prisoners of war at Pretoria, founded on the report of the court of enquiry. Briefly, Lord Roberts declares that the treatment of the officers was fair, but the food of the men was quite inadequate and of an inferior quality. He denounced the treatment of Colonial prisoners as criminal, and says the inhuman treatment of sick prisoners throws the greatest discredit on the authorities then at Pretoria. The prevalence of sickness and many deaths of prisoners, Lord Roberts adds, are attributable to the lack of proper food, medicines and accommodations and the neglect of ordinary sanitary precautions.

Still Buying War Horses.

LISTOWEL, Ont. September 15.—Major Dent, inspector-general of remounts has just made his third inspection in this town of army horses for South Africa, and has selected about 150 horses for the cavalry and artillery service. In all nearly six hundred horses have been bought this summer in this neighborhood. The amount expended was $60,000. The horses will be shipped from Montreal next week in the Cervona and Canning. Altogether, Major Dent has purchased about 4,000 horses in Canada for which the War Office has paid about $500,000. In the States nearly 50,000 cavalry horses and mules have been purchased.

A NEW ANTIDOTE FOR ALCOHOL

(From the Times and Opium, London England.)

A recent remarkable discovery in medicine, which has been found to annihilate all appetite for alcoholic drink in a few hours, even in the most hopeless cases, is attracting a good deal of attention among those interested in temperance work. The medicine is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless and absolutely free from narcotics. Many well-known physicians who carefully watched several patients while being treated during a demonstration given by the discoverer, Mr. A. Hutton Dixon, of Toronto, Canada, under the auspices of a number of clergymen, philanthropists and others, are endorsing this new product as being the only physical cure for alcoholism yet discovered which leaves no evil after-effects. The morphine and similar drug craves also viorp to this new medicine, and the beneficial results from its use in aggravated cases are extremely satisfactory. A strong argument in favor of this welcome help to unfortunate victims of these troubles can be carried in the pocket and taken in absolute privacy thus dispensing with the publicity, loss of time and expense of an institute treatment. A report of the results of above mentioned demonstration and full particulars regarding this medicine can be obtained by addressing Mr. Dixon, 81 Willocks Street, Toronto, Ontario.

CANADA GETS $830,000

For Produce Sent to South Africa on War Office Order.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Mr. W. W. Moore, of the Department of Agriculture, sails tomorrow on the steamship Nyassa from St. John for Capetown. The Nyassa is taking 2,500 additional tons of Canadian hay for the Imperial Government, which makes 19,200 tons, valued at over $300,000, sent from Canada since the outbreak of the war. In addition there has been shipped from Canada to South Africa for the use of the Imperial troops, 8,207 bags of oats, 7,547 cases of jams, 12,687 cases of beef, and 38,285 sacks of flour. The total amount thus expended in Canada by the Home Government within a short period for these articles of produce, transportation charges on land and sea, amounts to the splendid total of $830,000.

When Mr. Moore has transferred the Nyassa's cargo of hay to the Imperial authorities at the Cape he will visit different points in the South African colonies, looking for openings for Canadian food products.
