CHARLOTTETOWN Business College Writing Academy

Let the searchlight of practice illuminate the dark places of theory.

A THOROUGHLY Progressive Practical Institution, in which young men and women are not only taught Book-keeping (in all its applications to commerce) both by single and double entry, but are trained how to do business, by actual business transactions. The students act as buyers, sellers, traders, bankers, book-keepers and accountants, in actual business operations, and the currency issued by the College Bank and the notes issued from the Emorium, are used in bona fide business transactions, just the same as in mercantile and banking houses. Book-keeping in itself may be learned at home, but a knowledge of how to transact business, cannot be thus acquired. That our course system of training is eminently practical, is proven by testimonials from business men, and from students who are now holding lucrative and responsible positions.

SUBJECTS:
Book-keeping by single and double entry (theoretical and practical.) Actual Business Practice, Business Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Railroad, Steamboat, Banking, (actual practice in the College Bank.) Typewriting, shorthand and Navigation.

FACULTY:
L. B. Miller, Principal, Teacher of Book-keeping, Arithmetic, Business Practice, Business Correspondence, Typewriting and Navigation.
J. W. Coulson, (Vice Principal) Teacher of Railroad, Steamboat, Banking, Accounting and Actual Business Practice.
J. Harry Williams, Teacher of Business Penmanship.
Wm. Moran (licensed), Teacher of Short-hand.

EATING BEFORE GOING TO BED.

A writer in Italia Termale, quoted by The National Druggist, December, is not much in favor of the theory that late suppers are injurious. "He declares, in fact," says the latter paper, "that many persons who remain thin and weakly, in spite of all precautions in regard to diet, etc., owe the fact largely to habitual abstemiousness at night. He says very truly, that physiology teaches us that, in sleeping as in waking there is a perpetual waste going on in the tissues of the body, and it seems but logical that nourishment should be continuous as well. The digestion of the food taken on at dinner time, or in the early evening, is finished, as a usual thing, before or by bedtime, yet the activity of the processes of assimilation, etc., continues for hours afterward; and when one retires with an empty stomach, the result of this activity is sleeplessness and an undue wasting of the system. 'All other creatures,' says the writer, 'are governed by a natural instinct which leads those having a stomach to eat before lying down for the night.' The infant, guided by the same instinct, 'takes the breast' frequently, in the night as well as day, and its stomach is allowed to remain empty too long it shows its discomfort by noisy crying. The digestive organs have no need for repose, provided, always, that the quantity of nourishment taken within the twenty-four hours does not go beyond the normal limit. The fact that the intervals between meals is short works no inconvenience, but, on the contrary, tends to the avoidance of feebleness, which is the natural result of an interval extended to too great a length. Feeble persons, lean and emaciated people, and, above all, those suffering from insomnia, owe it to themselves not to retire without taking some nourishment into the stomach—bread and butter, a glass of rich milk, a few biscuits ('crackers'), or even a bit of juicy cold meat, for instance. We quite agree with the writer in all that he says in regard to the folly of the idea of the harmfulness of a light lunch before retiring."

Finish the Hogs Properly.

Complaint is made at the cattle yard that a large share of the pigs that are offering are too fat. They weigh enough, but they have not been well grown, being over-fat from heavy feeding and lack of sufficient exercise.

The high price of pork last fall and the abundance of feed no doubt led a great many farmers to put up a lot of pigs to feed for the spring market. Many of these pigs have evidently been forced along with strong rich feed with the object of getting them up to the proper weight for marketing while prices were good.

The mistake was made of fattening them rather than growing them, i. e., the bacon market was the market for which they were being fed. More growing food is wanted, more roots, more exercise and less meal. Of course that means a little longer time, but it means also more profit. Prepare a clover patch for the pigs for the summer, so that they may have sufficient run and also make cheap pork.

LETTER FROM GEORGE CARTER & CO.

Sir,—A writer in this morning's Guardian hints at a "combine" in the seed business. The idea is ridiculous. Competition is as keen in the seed business as any other, and the profits are really smaller than in any other leading line of business, not even excepting the grocery line. We have to compete with the whole Dominion, and a comparison of our prices in this city on leading lines of seeds, will prove that P. E. Island is the cheapest place in Canada today to buy seeds at retail, when quality is considered.

Farmers and fellow citizens! There is no combine in seeds, or so far as we know, in any other line of business in Charlottetown. Instead of that there is competition and rivalry. But beneath it all there is an honest effort to serve you well, and this is the only passport to your favor, and your future dealings. For ourselves, we will say, that we are selling the best seeds as low as possible, we are selling them for what they are, and so long as we are in the seed business, we will continue to do it honestly and squarely, as we have always done. We are satisfied that the general feeling among our people is one of satisfaction with the manner in which we have conducted the seed business for nearly 20 years, and we look forward with confidence to the present spring's seed trade, believing it will be satisfactory to us and to all the customers who use Carter's Seeds.

I KISSED THE COOK.

I kissed the cook—ah, me, she was divine! Cheeks peachy, dark brown eyes, lips red as wine;

Long apron with a bow, A cap as white as snow— By far too tempting; so I kissed the cook.

I kissed the cook, this angel from the skies,

And yet, I did not take her by surprise. 'Twas mean, I will allow. But if you'll take the vow To keep it I'll tell you how I kissed the cook.

I kissed the cook—poor, helpless little lass,

The chance so good I could not let it pass. Her hands were in the dough; She dare not spoil you know;

My Sunday suit, and so I kissed the cook.

I kissed the cook. I might have been more strong.

But then I guess it wasn't very wrong. For, just 'twixt you and me. The cook my wife, is she.

So I'd a right, you see, to kiss the cook. —James Courtney Challiss in What to Eat.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—In breaking the Yukon Tramway contract the Senate has performed a real service to the country. It was for services such as that the Senate was established; and it is by performing services such as this that it will be maintained. The Yukon deal is condemned by all but blind Liberals.

—The Halifax Herald remarks that "Prince Edward Island would seem to have a minister at Ottawa; the total vote for harbors and rivers in the little island province amounts to $40,650, while the total vote for the like service in Nova Scotia is only $38,900." The Herald seems to forget that P. E. Island has buy-elections on the tapis while Nova Scotia has not.

—The Ottawa Journal, an independent journal friendly to the government, says of the recent grit caucus in that city: "A caucus of that kind held by either party in Great Britain at which several score members of the Imperial parliament would rise to complain that cabinet ministers employed private secretaries not sufficiently partizan, or that deputy ministers in the civil service could not be satisfactory unless brand new partizans, or that appointments and promotions were not being made sufficiently fast of recognized partizans, would create a cry of protest from Land's End to the Hebrides, irrespective of party. We fancy that such a demonstration at a caucus of members of the imperial parliament would not be possible. That it is possible here is a fact which may well cause moderate citizens considerable uneasiness."

The St John Sun remarks that "The electors of West Prince should do justice to Mr. Hackett. Any insinuating threats that if he is not defeated the government will not be bound to keep its pledges to the recent Island delegation should be repelled by an indignant and independent electorate. This government is sadly in need of a lesson. The voters of West Prince have an excellent opportunity to do the country good service by returning Mr. Hackett to Parliament."

Montreal Gazette: The party revolt threatened is against the law as much as against the ministers. A permanent civil service develops its own peculiar faults, but with due care therefore it is better than the spoils system which involves a great cleaning out of officials with each change in the political complexion of the administration. Good proof of this is the fact that in England where the permanent system is in force it is not sought to change it, while in the United States where the ideas of Canadian Liberalism have had sway, public sentiment is forcing action towards the adoption of permanent appointments. The Liberal revolt is, therefore, not only against the law, but the lessons of general experience. It is quite possible that, in face of the demand of practically the whole Liberal party representation in Parliament, a number of the deputy ministers may have to go. The country will understand that the moving influence is not the public good but partizan need."

ALMONT WILKES,

2.31 1/2

The well known stallion, "Almont Wilkes" by "Hernando," 2.37 1/2, dam "Oliver Wilkes," 2.39 1/4, dam of "Gracie Wilkes," 2.35 and "Almont Wilkes," 2.31 1/2, by Geo. Wilkes, jr., will stand the season of 1898 at Nicholson's Training Stables, Grafton St., opp. Court House, Ch'town.

Almont Wilkes is a big, stylish, carriage horse; he stands over 16 hands high and weighs 1200 lbs. He is the sire of Montrose, 2.29 3/4, and Westie Wilkes, 2.39 1/4. Montrose was the horse that put up such a gallant fight in the tree for all at Ch'town track last fall, and there is no doubt that only for the concerted action of the other drivers, he would have won with ease. He trotted 13 heats, winning 4 first places and 5 seconds.

Westie Wilkes started in the 2.40 class at Summerside last fall, a green horse right off the pasture, getting a mark of 2.39 1/4 in a field of seasoned campaigners, and his owner expects him to get a mark of 2.23 this year. This proves that Almont Wilkes sires speed of a high order, and being a remarkable good looker, has always been a prize-winner in the show ring even when up against the best in the land.

Wholesale Tailoring

This is Sleepless Hall! It has 210 windows, yet its electric light bill is $300.00 per month.

It contains 48,000 square feet of floor space, employs 600 tailors and tailoresses, cuts up 20,000 yards of cloth weekly, and makes 5000 gentlemen's garments every six days.

It has 120 electric sewing machines, and 28 electric pressers, as well as electric cutting knives, and button hole machines, which each do the work of 28 people daily.

Its tweeds and linings are bought direct from the mills in thousand yard lots, instead of in 2 1/2 yard lengths as the tailor buys them from wholesalers.

It costs "Sleepless Hall" $2.50 for the making of a dress suit which would cost a tailor $9.00 for making the coat alone.

This is why no tailor can sell a suit equal to a $15.00 "Fit-Reform" for less than $25.00 to $35.00
