My Dear Sir:—

I feel that you will be pleased to know that a few days ago I received my wife's portrait ordered through you. The execution of the work in every detail is as creditable to the High Grade Art Studio as it is satisfactory to me.

I am very much pleased indeed. The painting is a perfect picture. Kind regards

For The Women

PREPARING AND COOKING VEGETABLES

Value of Garden Products.

"Although it is well known that the American markets give an abundance of vegetables, it is regretted that there is no country where they are so little appreciated." "To this omission may be traced much discomfort among the poorer classes. The leguminous seeds, peas, beans, and lentils, yield almost double the amount of muscle making food to be found in beef. One pound of beans costing five cents will give a food value equal to two pounds of beef at twenty cents, an item of economy worthy of thought. I am in this considering old peas and beans; those green or unripe contain a larger amount of water and more sugar, and less albuminous matter, but on the other hand they are more easily digested."

"All concentrated vegetable foods require long, slow cooking to render them suitable for use. A little baking soda added to the water in which old peas and beans are cooked removes the strong flavor, making them much more delicate. All vegetables should be washed well in cold water."

Is This True.

The thoughtless mother may make her child as unhappy as the bad mother. The mother who takes no interest not only in the happiness but in the appearance of her children is going to have children who will give her neither love nor consideration. You find it troublesome, so you say, to arrange a luncheon for the boy at school, and you let the cook fix up anything and wrap it up in a piece of newspaper. The agony endured by your sensitive boy cannot be counted nor understood. He sees the other boys take their daintily arranged lunches, either out of tiny baskets or clean pasteboard boxes, or fresh white paper or clean napkins. He sees the sandwich, the piece of cake, the apple or the orange, and possibly in one corner he finds a surprise in the shape of some candies carefully put in the envelope. And your poor boy will walk around the playground that he may not see boys who have mothers to think of them. He is ashamed of his luncheon and so he keeps it in his pocket, and pulls out a piece of dry bread or a bit of biscuit or a piece of thick meat, swallowing each as quickly as possible so that no other boy can guess how miserable he is. You count it a little thing, I count it a great thing. To hurt the pride of a child means to make him lose confidence in himself as certainly as he loses love for you. It is better to die without knowing one particle of Greek, with an utter and intense ignorance of the history of Egypt and without belonging to one club instead of six, than to hurt the heart of your son.—Ladies Home Journal.

What Women Owe to Society.

Woman stands as the sacred guardian of future homes and our nation's prosperity, and to her must we look for true reforms. To her standard must society come. Let her be sure to place it high and keep it pure, and make it apply impartially to all people. Let her keep out those whom she knows fall short of her standard, and never condone in the stronger sex what she condemns in the weaker. Let her think not to elevate society by hiding or condoning the evils which surround her on every side, but only by shutting out those whom she has found it impossible to raise to her standard. Then future generations will arise who will bless her for their heritage, instead of cursing her for their misery.—Dwight L. Moody in Ladies Home Journal.
