Of Special Interest to our Farmers

Farmers and Tariff.

When Sir Richard Cartwright was in Opposition he contended that the only way in which the Government could benefit the farmer was to lower the tariff. His belief was founded upon the fact that the price of farm products in Britain's markets was made by world wide competition, and consequently, was beyond the control of the Government. Therefore, the Government could not do anything which would enhance their price, but it could lower the tariff and, by doing so, cheapen the price of such commodities as the farmer needed for his comfort and convenience. The tariff was raised to cheapen the price of materials to the farmer with the following results;

During 1899 the price of materials which the farmer buys have risen 7½ per cent., and the price of food products one-tenth of one per cent. These figures are taken from an estimate of Sauerbeck's which I enclose you, and by publishing it you can show the farmers how much they have been benefited by the Liberal tariff.

Sauerbeck's tables of English prices, which compute a general average or "index number," from the prices of forty-five seperate articles, show for the end of August the highest average since 1893. The "index number" is 68.3, against 67.6 at the close of July, 63.8 at the end of December, 1898, and 66.4 in May of last year, which was the high level of 1898.

The average for the eight months of 1899, and for the twelve months of 1898, and for the twelve months of preceeding years, is as follows;

1899	66½
1898	64
1897	62
1896	61
1895	62
1894	63
1893	68
1889	72

A further classification of the Sauerbeck tables shows that while food prices have advanced only one-tenth of one per cent. during 1899, materials of other sorts have risen 7½ per cent. Comparison with last December and, with May, 1898, when food prices touched high level, are as follows:

	August 1899	December. 1898	May. 1898
Food	65.7	65.5	71.5
Materials	70.2	62.4	62.7

Experiment with Wheat.

Among the grain which has been safely gathered in the district south of Edinburgh is the produce of one field of more than average interest. At the base of Ternhouse Hill in the Pentlands is a field upon which was fought the battle of Rullion Green, and where if the Edinburgh burgh records are rightly interpreted, a great sheep market was held three centuries ago, and which was annually continued until 1872. The field is close upon 1,000 feet above sea-level, and has always been regarded as being outside the zone of profitable wheat-growing. In November last Mr. Foulis, the tenant of the farm at House o' Muir, resolved to try the experiment of sowing the field with winter wheat, and the experiment has suceeded beyond expectation, the quantity and quality of the grain leaving nothing to be desired.

Canadian Cheese in France.

The attention of French consumers is drawn—rather late in the day—by the Paris Gazette Commerciale, to the great improvements which have been made in recent years in the production of Canadian dairy products. It is pointed out that Canada, having a climate rather cold than moderate, and possessing a soil abundantly watered by the rivers and lakes, is especially suited for the feeding of cattle and the supply of milk. Not long ago Canadian butter and cheese were inferior to those of other countries holding the foremost places in the export of these commodities. Thanks however to the co-operative efforts of the farmers, and to the encouragement afforded by the Government, the quality of Canadian dairy products has been very greatly improved, and the exports are increasing at a rapid rate. The Gazette Commerciale notes particularly the growing reputation of Canadian Cheddar cheese, and states that its introduction into France would probably lead to an extensive demand, and that it would prove a worthy rival of the English Cheshire cheese, which is already much appreciated by French consumers. It is stated, indeed, that already the Canadian commodity is even now sold in considerable quantity as the product of Cheshire. The Gazette Commerciale further affirms that Canadian cheese, which is retailed in English establishments at from 7d to 8½d per lb., may be supplied in France at from 1.75 to 1.80 francs per kilo (say 8c per lb.,) including the important duty.

Hog Products Active.

The hog packing season of 1899-1900 will be openod next week, and the commencement is made under most favorable auspices. A number of prominent houses in Toronto report that when the new pack is ready for the market they will not have a pound of last year's products on hand. Several causes have contributed to this end The general demand from the country has shown a betterment, while a revival of the lumber industry and the commencement of a fresh period of activity in railway construction have led to liberal orders being placed for pork products. Quotations of stock are, however practically where they were some weeks ago, and shippers of dressed hogs cannot look for the season to open with high prices. The situation in the United States has been very quiet for some time past, while the Liverpool market has shown only very moderate strength.

IT'S TOO RISKY

To undergo an operation for itching Piles when Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a surer, cheaper, easier way to cure.

Cruel, barbarous methods belong to the dark ages of the past. There was a time when a surgical operation was considered the only possible cure for piles. Not so now. Occasionally there is still found a physician who adheres to this dangerous and expensive method, but to every one who still believes in using the knife, ninety and nine recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in The American Journal of Health, said:

"We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requisitions of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we endorse it to every reader."

By force of merit alone Dr. Chase's Ointment has won its way into this wide, wide world, until it has made the name of Dr. Chase familiar in almost every home, and won for the venerable discoverer the title of "America's Greatest Physician."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has never been known to fail as a cure for piles. It matters not whether blind, itching, bleeding or protruding, Dr. Chase's Ointment is an absolute and perfect cure,

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is the discovery of the author of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, whose portrait and signature is on every box of the genuine. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Painting and prosperity go together naturally.
Paint is the outward sign of prosperity. Paint saves property. Increases its value. Twenty dollars worth of paint often adds two hundred dollars to the market value of a property.
